To Observe Great Britain Day Today

In furtherance of a plea originated by Governor Harrington, Dr. Edward J. Clarke, Supt. of Public Education in Kent county, has been requested by the State's Chief Executive to accept the chairmanship of a committee to arrange for appropriate celebration of Britain's Day, on Saturday next, Dec. 7.

Dr. Clarke has appointed the following committee to cooperate with him in making the day a successful one: Judge Jas. A. Pearce, F. G. Usilton, Allan A. Harris, L. Bates Russell, Wm. G. Smyth, W. B. Copper, Senator W. W. Beck, A. Parks Rasin, W. I. Jarvis, Howard Turner, E. Thomas Massey, E. R. Pennington, Dr. E. A. Scott, J. P. Ahern, H. S. Jewell, Merrick Clements, G. Elsworth Leary, H. C. Willis, B. F. Rash, R. Harrison Collins, A. H. Covey, S. Scott Beck, Mesdames, W. W. Hubbard, Jane Robinson, W. O. Selby, Harry Williams, G. G. Roseberry, Bayard Crew, Eva B. Sykes, Harry C. Willis, and Misses Adelaide Kratzer, May Griffith, and Emma Shafer.

The meeting will take place, as stated above in the Lyceum Theatre on Saturday next, at 3.30 p. m.

The chairman earnestly requests the committee to do everything in its power to advertise the occasion, as the time is very short to get word to the people.

Effort is now being made to secure a prominent speaker for the day—some one closely connected with a branch of the service and the public may look to be well entertained. A feature of the celebration will be a grand chorus of school children who under the direction of Miss Fannie Stuart Principal of the Elementary Public School at Chestertown, will sing the national airs. Those who have not heard these children will do well to embrace this opportunity.

Let every body come out and do honor to our brave ally, England, who on land and sea, stood between us and our autocratic enemy, until democracy's forces in the New World could be marshalled to save the day for freedom and justice.

EDWARD J. CLARKE, Chairman.
