THE HOSTS GAVE their receiving rooms spring air with white lattice work entwined with flowers; and their club room kept to its nautical decor, all of which formed the perfect setting for:

Jean Davis, who wore a magnificently full skirted frock of yellow nylon with balson sleeves; Gloria Hall, who's emerald green chiffon frock carried through the new mono-theme with green accessories; Helen Clash, who chose a swing skirted frock of gold colored nylon.

Dorothy Wood chose a raw silk and lace, in black, with a shawl collar, and wore it with black gloves and silk shoes. That white sequin sheath worn by Ginnie Harris was something to see. . . and especially as it was, accessorized with black. Louise Tildon was stunning in white brocade skirt, jeweled bodice with green velvet bows marking the Empire line, and white embroidered shoes.

Yvonne Moon, formerly of Miami, Fla., and now a schoolmarm at Woodlawn Junior High School, was lovely in lavender print cotton and matching shoes; and Ruby Smith was striking in black eyelet embroidered sheath, satin trimmed and accessorized in white.

And scores of others: Adele Foreman in black chiffon and lace, Jimmy Thorsen in white sheath with colorful embroidery, Margaret Diggs in blue silk, print with petit tamie; Olivia Dixon in beige chiffon; Dot Koger in rose lace, Gwen Sea-borne in pale blue silk with sequinquely scalloped skirt.

Alice Pinderhughes chose the ultra new color combination of blue and green. . . in chiffon with flatteringly draped scarf and Grace Scott selected a demure white frock with dainty pastel flowers.

'Don't settle for liquidation,' Dr. Fleming warns Beta Sigs

Beware less in accepting integration you settle for liquidation, Dr. G. James Fleming warned the Baltimore Alumni chapter of Beta Sigma Tau Fraternity, Saturday.

Dr. Fleming, director of the Political Science Institute of Morgan State College, was speaker for the Founders' Day banquet of the fraternity.

* * *

DR. FLEMING warned against allowing outside . . . close up because they do not follow the current "integration" pattern. "We should have something so good that we can tell others that we want them to share in what we have," he told the group.

Pointing out that "in generations ahead, politicians will be playing tricks," he reminded the group that we once had a lieutenant governor in South Carolina. School teachers, he said, are losing out in the South, thus 50 years hence our children may look up and see no one in authority who looks like themselves, he said.

Along with winning integration, we must continue to get all the skills and training as other Americans, and build as they do, so that in the future we will have something to barter with, the speaker declared.

"WE DO NOT AIM to be a social fraternity, but a service one" William Parrott, Jr., president of the chapter told the assemblage.

"We believe that the ideal of a fraternity should be to level, not to set barriers. We are trying to live up to these goals," he said.

Mr. Parrott pointed to the chapter's program which has included, this year, aid to four needy families, sponsorship of a cottage of Boys Village and contribution to the Anna Rose Hunter Foundation for the Blind.

$100 TOWARD a life membership in the NAACP was presented to Dr. Hilliard Wilson at the banquet. A gift of $36 was made to the AFRO Clean Blood movement, and accepted by Mrs. Lula Patterson of the AFRO - AMERICAN Newspapers staff. Mr. Charles M. Hunt of Boys Village received a set of encyclopedias for the cottage.

The presentations were made by Mr. Parrott.

* * *

OTHER PROGRAM participants included the Rev. Albert H. Hammond, Jr., who gave the invocation and benediction; Arthur G. Murray, attorney, who introduced Dr. Fleming; Charles Griffin, who gave a tribute to the brothers' wives, who were special guests; and Ralph Williams, who served as toastmaster. All are brothers of the fraternity except Dr. Fleming.

* * *

THE BANQUET held in the dining rooms of the Madison Avenue Branch YWCA, marked the 12th anniversary of the integrated fraternity.

This will be followed by their "Rainbow Ball" tonight (Friday) in the Catonsville Armory.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOÏSE RICHARDSON

History was made at the First Baptist Church during its annual Woman's Day observance on May 15. Although the women set their goal at $5,000, the report on that day was recorded as $5,619.02.

The largest amount presented by any individual was $1,204 reported by the president of the Women's Day organization, Mrs. Adele Walker. Mrs. Walker, a beautician, is one of the leading businesswomen in the city.

Runner - up was Mrs. Ethel Thompson, vice - president, with $702.60. Mrs. Thompson is a member of the Parole School faculty.

Speaker was the Rev. Mrs. Annie Clarke, an associate minister of the Gillis Memorial Church at Baltimore.

As she spoke to the women of the church, she advocated unity with our fellowmen for a successful life, and designated the place of work in the church, home and community. She also pointed out that women should, at all times, hold up that banner of finer womanhood by living above reproach from every angle of this life.

The Rev. Mrs. Clarke, a native of Virginia, and the wife of Bernard Clarke, a member of the Metropolitan Methodist Church at Baltimore, is the mother of one daughter and a civic and religious leader.

She is the treasurer of the Banking Committee No. 6 of the Mt. Olive Beneficial Association and speaker in the Mutual Baptist Convention.

She is also a student at the Maryland Baptist Association and active in the Baltimore Branch NAACP.

SOLOIST WAS Mrs. Lucille Mosley, and music was given by the Women's Chorus under the direction of Mrs. M. Williams Tate, who presided at the organ, with Miss Gloria Dean Crutchfield at the piano.

Others who participated were: Mesdames Thelma Persons, Juanita Walker, Zenobia Fenrick, Bertina Smith, Ruby Simms, Mary C. Brown, Julia Knight, and Sarah Perkins; Misses Esther Hamilton, Mrs. Ethel Thompson presided.

The offering was taken by Mesdames Margaret Watts, Ollie Thornton, and Doris Elston and Miss Mary Hall.

The afternoon participants were Mrs. Sylvia R. Jones, who delivered the welcome address; Miss Carolyn Crutchfield, Miss Wanda Johnson, Miss Mary Scott, Miss Barbara Thomas, Misses Donzleigh Ricks and and Eleanor Diggs, who played piano solos;

Also Mrs. Lovell Parker, a reading; Miss Myra Byran, Miss Odessa Brown, a solo, and the Johnson Sisters and the Choraleers, who rendered group music. Miss Margaret Forrester presided.

Misses Barbara Thomas, Joyce Spears, Debra Williams, Carolyn Holland and Elizabeth Aytch were in charge of the offering.

Those who appeared on the evening worship program were Mesdames Evelyn Morris, Mildred Brown and Dora Bundy and Misses Myra Bryan and Eleanor Murlen; Mrs. Sophia Miller was soloist.

Mesdames Martha Prann, Christie Thompson, Rebecca Thomas, Blanche McGowan and Edna Edwards served at the offering tables. Mrs. Mildred Brown presided.

* * *

A SILVER cream pitcher and sugar bowl service was presented to Mrs. Walker by her first vice - president, Mrs. Thompson. Flowers were also presented to her and the minister's wife, Mrs. Leroy Bowman by Mrs. Mildred Brown.

Other officers for the day were Miss Margaret Forrester, second vice - president; Mrs. Maude V. Campbell, secretary; Mrs. Zenobia Fenrick, assistant secretary; Mrs. Dora Bundy, treasurer and Mrs. Mary Gillis, chaplain.

The committees were set up as follows:

Program, Mrs. Mary Herbin, chairman; Mrs. Maude V. Campbell, Mrs. M. Williams Tate and Miss Nan Adams; Decorations, Mrs. Corina Knight, chairman; Mrs. Julia Bowman and Miss Alethia Perry; Courtesy; Mrs. Odelia Ford, chairman; Mesdames Louise Ford, Juanita Walker and Rosie Taylor and Misses Esther E. Hamilton and Roberta Wilson.

The president's helpers were Mesdames Ethel Thompson, Corina Knight, Zenobia Fenrick, Edna Weems, Mary Johnson, Nola McGowan and Rosa Simms.
