Chi Delta Mu marks 49th anniversary

with Lula Jones Garrett

A most enjoyable evening was spent by members of Chi Delta Mu, their wives and sweethearts, Sunday, when the Iota chapter celebrated the 49th anniversary of the fraternity.

The chapter had cocktails and a dinner dance in the Sheraton Baltimore Inn.

Dr. Walter Shervington, national president, spoke, expressing the wish that brotherhood and fellowship among members of this medical group will continue. Dr. Eugene Byrd, chapter president, presided. Tribute was paid to members who have been active over a number of years.

A special prayer was offered by Dr. Walter Davidson for members who are ill, including Drs. A. A. Smith, James Hawkins and Richard Hunt.

New members, Drs. Archie Robinson, William Davis and William Greaves, recently initiated into the fraternity, were presented.

Mrs. Bernice McDaniels, president of Chi Delta Mu Wives, auxiliary to the fraternity, brought greetings.

Dr. Byrd noted that the ladies added quite a flair to the occasion and they did! The fashions were terrific. That balmy touch of spring brought out the urge in the girls!

Jeannette Christmas chose brown and beige imported lace, topped it with a beige flowered chapeau. Thelma Bando was stunning in pale blue chiffon and lace. Olga Rodney added an Oriental air in a sheath featuring a Chinese motif.

Minnie Lee was exquisite in black tulle and lace over pale pink and Dottie Hughes was striking in a champagne brocaded dinner suit. A green brocade sheath, with side drape and matching jewelry, was worn most beeeemingly by Doris Reynolds. Maude Lee and Addie Young both chose deep violet lace and crepe.

The delightful music of Rivers Chambers Combo enhanced the entire evening.

Dr. Edward McDaniels planned and arranged the affair with the assistance of Dr. R. A. Montgomery.

Attending were:

Drs. and Mesdames Bruce Alleyne, McDonald Bando, Gilbert Banfield, George P. Brown, Eugene Byrd, B. H. Christmas, B. N. Christmas, Walter Davidson;

Drs. and Mesdames Bernard Harris, Jr., Thomas Harvey, Charles Hill, John Holmes, Sr., H. P. Hughes, Carroll Lee, George Lee, Warren Lee;

Drs. and Mesdames Jerry C. Luck, Edward McDaniels, R. A. Montgomery, Clarence E. Reynolds Jr., Martin Rodney, William Ross, Wesley Shelton;

Drs. and Mesdames Walter Shervington, Dennis H. Trible, Charles Watts, William Watts, Bernard White, Nelson Williams, Ralph Young, Ar-chie Robinson, and William Davis.

Drs. Richard Butler, L. A. Desbordes, George Adams; Mesdames James B. Hawkins and Maude Woodland, and Miss Jean Lewis.

BALTIMORE'S SMART SET turned out in full regalia Friday evening, as Kappa Silhouettes held forth at a gala cocktail - fashion show cabaret party at the Alcazar. An ebony silhouette head bearing the names of the hostesses in glittering letters was on each table. This added a note of warmth to the decor of the main ballroom with its beautiful ruby chandeliers and lovely diffused lighting. The Silhouettes' manhattan cocktails flowed from a silver electric fountain, from 8 until 9.

Victorine Q. Adams, who heads Charm Centre, began a fashion show promptly at the stroke of 9:30. There were murmurs of delight and the applause rang throughout the audience as the lovely spring fashions were presented. The lovely models were assisted by Walter Carr Jr., and George Taliaferro.

Must say here that the audience was in rear competition with Mrs. Adams' fashions. The ladies set the theme for spring parties in their lovely creations and the men seem to be outdone these days! were elegant and suave.

Lola Mathews was an eye-catcher in blue silk frock, the bodice cut to a new round low at back and the skirt ultra bouffant. Carolyn Stubbs was lovely in a sleeveless white chiffon, street length; Jean Tucker's ensemble was in pink and orchid and included a coat and dress; and Marguerite Bush was chic in a black strapless brocade sheath.

After the fashion show Gil Monroe and his orchestra gave the down beat and the Cabaret Party began in full swing. Co-chairmen for this party were Bernice Brown and Rosita Uncles.

The following Silhouettes were hostesses for the evening:

Helen Thornton, president; Gwen Brooks, Bernice Brown, Carolyn Boston, Gloria Carpenter, Joan Carr, Vera Carrington, Sara Gray, Carol Flanagan, Mae Hawkins; Marian Haynes, Catherine Johnson, Patricia McQueen, Lola Matthews, Bernice Nickens, Cleava Poag, Idel Pugh, Lelia Ray, Vivian Rigby, Bernice Robinson, Emily Robinson, Marian Russell, Viola Talmferro; Mildred Taylor, Eleanor Tildon, Louise Tildon, Beatrice Tucker, Rosita Uncles, Hilda Wallace, Bernice Watson and Sadie Woolford.

MOST CHARMING exchange on the party front, the past week, was that between Beta chapter (this city) and Alpha chapter (Washington) of Psi Gamma Mu Sorority.

The Baltimoreans entertained their Capital sisters, along with the husbands, at a Washington Birthday Party at the Garrison Lounge on Wednesday.

Julia Richardson, anti-basileus of the Baltimore chapter was toast mistress.

Chuck Richards showed films and there were scores of door prizes distributed:

Guests from the District were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Herman D. Whaley, James Lomack, Thomas Bowden, Albert Sterling, Robert Parham, Williams Clark;

Messrs. and Mesdames William Welch, Avon Wright, Ralph Williams, Lawrence Day, Stanley Gould;

Mesdames Thelma Wheeler, Christina Jones, Sadie Hamilton, Leola Lomax, Vivian Pergall, Jennie Fletcher, Addie Pinkstaffs, Catherine Chavis;

Mesdames Fairfax Lomack, Nettie Premmor, Dela Cook, Josephine Samuels, Zelma Smith, Lillian Smith and Lillian Coleman; and Alfred Jackson and Glennie Murray.

The Baltimore members and their husbands are: Messrs. and Mesdames Hartshern Murphy and Bill Richardson; and Mesdames Rosa Wallace, Helen Harden and Jeannetta Wilson. Mrs. Murphy is basileus of the chapter.

On Friday night the town folks were special guests of Alpha chapter at the 26th anniversary dance of the sorority, held in the Washington Hotel Ballroom in D.C.

THE BON BONS feted each other with a unique party on Washington's birthday. They staged a "Round Robin."

Meeting at Miriam and Eugenia Harris' home, appetizers, they went from there to Ann Davis', where she and Henrietta Edmonds provided salads . . . two of em, so that each girl could take her choice.

They were then off again to Cornelia Martin's, where she and Sara Gray served the main course of dinner. Lois Young and Norma Walker provided the dessert course at the latter's home, and at the end of the afternoon they ended up at Joan Powell's. She and Carolyn Cussell had snacks and drinks to offer, and cards in the offing.

But by this time no one felt like playing cards, or doing anything but talking.

Besides the members mentioned, three guests were present: Marion Russell, Shirley Jones and Alfreda Hughes.

WHEN THE A.G.N.N.'s met with Maxine Higginbotham and Ruth Robinson, Saturday night, members came laden with gifts for the Wendell Robinsons' expected baby as a surprise to Mrs. Robinson (Ruth).

The meeting and party were in the home of Mrs. Higginbotham.

Participating were Hermione Weaver, Pauline Blackwell, Ruth Carter, Thelma Moore, Alice Pinderhughes, Bertha Forte, Bernadine Harrison, Alease Clarke, Mary Smalley, Gwendolyn Seaborne, Annie Johnson, Theresa Brown and Helena Edmonds.

MRS. GWENDOLYN C. LEE, chief of social service at Crownsville State Hospital, entertained at the Garrison Lounge, Monday.

The occasion was her annual cocktail and dinner party for members of her staff, and to say farewell to the social work students who are returning to their schools following completion of field work placement at Crownsville Hospital.

The students are Sylvia Davis and Jerona Jamison of Atlanta University, Katrena Baldwin and Ernestine Weaver of the University of North Carolina.

Staff members included:

DeSales Dyson, Harriett Trader, Harriett Hoover, Vera Oden, N. Eulalina Ferguson, Pearl Moulton, Everett Wilson, Marie Handy; Jacqueline Fassett, Lettie Stanley, John Carroll, Frances Jones, Dora Scott, Twila Sledge, Effie Leftwich and Samuel Cooper.

WHEN THE ORGANIZATION was entertained by Mrs. Delong Harris, the Hon. K. A. Gbedefiah, finance minister of Ghana, Mr. Howard Jenkins, and the Hon. W. M. Q. Halm, ambassador to the U.S. from Ghana. The dance was for the benefit of the sit-ins.

LEADERS AND workers

FOREIGN POLICY may have well been the topic of discussion for this happy quintet, but more than likely the discourse centered on what a good time everybody was having at the Barristers Wives' dance this past week. Pausing briefly between dances are, left to right, Howard Jenkins, attorney,

Mae Cornish, Wednesday, they were ushered into her artistically decorated clubroom, where she had cleverly adorned the walls with Washingtons, not to mention axes and cherry trees.

There were also bright streamers in red, white and blue decorating the ceiling, and a table where each guest found her place with a figure of Washington bearing her name.

Adding to dinner and talk, between sips the group played bonanza.

Mesdames Ernestine Lewis and Jeanette Johnson were guests. Members present included Mary Bacote, Veronica Greene, Aurelia Lonesome,

'Triumvirate' to be cited by Md. League

Drs. Lillie Jackson, Carl Murphy and Furman Templeton will be cited by the Maryland League of Women's Clubs during the 18th annual conference, here, March 25.

The three, termed a "triumvirate of togetherness in a new era" will be guests of honor at the luncheon session, a special feature of the one-day meeting.

Speaker will be Mrs. Marjorie M. Lawson, Washington attorney, and ranking Democrat.

THE LUNCHEON which will follow a coffee hour and business session at 8 a.m. and workshops in the forenoon, will be held in the Carver Vocational - Technical High School.

Featured in the workshops will be such prominent discussion leaders as Dr. Julius Taylor, Dr. Ruth Brett and Dr. Irene Diggs of Morgan State College; and Dr. Dolores Hunt, city school principal.

Coming from the Liberian Embassy will be Mrs. Laura W. Tucker, who will give first hand information on Africa's new awakening.

Reservations for the luncheon are now being made through Mrs. Mary B. Adams, luncheon chairman, and Miss Fannie Glascoe.

Young aides at Garrison

By JEFFREY MILLER

Every day at 8 a.m. at Garrison Junior High School a group of ten girls walk through the center door and go to their lockers.

After their books and coats have been put away, they proceed to the office where these girls are known as office aides.

This group consists of Nadine Goldblatt, Bette Green, Linda Fine, Carol Sussman, Patricia Nichols, Cynthia Davenport, Ronnie Zaba, Elaine Turlington, Carole Sue Lessons, and Ina Seidenberg.

These girls run errands for teachers, file roll books, distribute notices, and do other various jobs. Also Nadine, Bette and Ina work in the school book store.

These girls put in about four hours of work before school each week, and an additional two and one half hours during lunch periods. This job is one of the many services rendered by Garrison students to help make our school run more efficiently.

Just this past week a new hall plan was put into effect. One student government representative from each class was given hall duty for a week at a time. The representatives, wearing orange identification badges, were stationed in front of the room to which their class was going.

The student helpers in the halls are not to replace the teachers, but to supplement where help is much needed.

If proven successful, hall aides will become a permanent policy at Garrison, but this plan will take the full cooperation of each student to make it run smoothly.

"She's Engaged"

By Ida Murphy Smith

√ Decide what time of day will be best for the ceremony.

Religion, climate and local custom may be important factors as well as plans for the wedding trip. In Baltimore, the afternoon wedding is popular in the spring and summer. In hot weather, many brides choose after - dark to escape the heat.

√ Set the wedding date.

Call on your clergyman with your fiance. Before marrying couples, many clergymen insist on talking with them about their plans for their life together, their aims etc. Usually, the church secretary will reserve the church, organist, and sexton for the day of your wedding and for your rehearsal. She will also advise you as to the seating capacity of the church and any other special rules.

√ Draw up your invitation list.

Invitations to a large church wedding are never issued, no matter how large the number may be or whether the guests will be present or not. But if the reception and the church list must be limited, the bride and her mother must tell the groom and his family how many guests they must invite.

The bride's family bears the financial responsibility for both the wedding and the reception and are entitled to a larger proportion of the guest list. The list your groom and his family give you should indicate which persons are to be invited to the ceremony and reception, and which are to receive announcements only.

If you plan to invite everyone to both wedding and reception, only one master list is necessary. You will need a second list if some people are invited to the ceremony only. Indicate the people who are to receive reserved pews and notify the church secretary how many pews you will need. If you plan to send announcements, you will need a third list.

Don't invite people that you don't really know; nor pay off social obligations at your reception.

Enter the names on your various lists in a card file, designating each guest as to reception, wedding only, or announcement. This makes checking acceptances easy and will be a useful reference list.

NEXT WEEK: Continued "Three Months Before The Wedding."

MISS EARLENE SINKLER

wedding this spring, now is the time to start using this check list. We offer this service to help remind you of all details in plenty of time so that you can keep a record of what you've already done and what still lies ahead.

Remember if you are planning an Easter wedding, do send me your engagement notice today. There is no charge for running your picture and we have FREE gifts for you offered by the bridal advertisers on this page.

√ Decide whether your wedding will be formal or informal and where the wedding will take place.

Your family should help you decide where your wedding is to be and just how much money you will spend since all your wedding expenses must be paid for by your parents. The gown you wear, the number of attendants, and the time of day determine the degree of formality for the wedding party.

REASON-SMITH

Miss Shirley Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, is engaged to Howard Reason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reason.

The wedding is planned for 5 p.m. April 2, at the Pulaski Avenue home of her parents.

Miss Smith is a June 1959 graduate of Morgan State College where she was a member of Phi Beta Sigma Sorority. She is a member of Perkins Square Baptist Church and an employee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Reason, a postal employee, is also a graduate of Morgan.
