Club women re-elect Mrs. Lena King Lee

Mrs. Lena K. Lee was re-elected to the presidency of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs, at the one - day session, Saturday.

Other officers returned were:

Mesdames Rosalie McGuire, first vice president; Gwendolyn Lee, second vice-president; Serena Forehand, recording secretary; Marion A. Ransom, corresponding secretary; Gladys E. Wallace, financial secretary; Agness Browne, breasurer; Anethia Williams, publicity; Mary A. McKim, sergeant-at-arms; and Beryl W. Williams Parliamentarian.

• • •

ELECTED TO the nominating committee were Mesdames Vernice Reynolds, Isolen Crowner, Ethel J. Day, Theresa Water and Virginia Champ;

Misses Mayme Trighman, Inez Lonesome, Inez Redmond, and Fannie Glascoe.

• • •

PRESIDENT JOHN WHEEDEN and Governor Millard Tawes both drew commendation of the league at the business session.

In a resolution, Mr. Kennedy was commended for forming a committee to guard fair employment practices in government contracts.

The Governor was praised for promoting and enacting into law the scholarship program for elementary teachers at University of Maryland and Morgan State College.

• • •

THE LEAGUE also urged the immediate desegregation of public institutions not already open to all citizens. It was also urged that the city expanded its recreational facilities and program for young people and that the Governor's Commission set up a committee to study and plan for ways and means of combating juvenile delinquency.

• • •

The body also asked that a permanent committee, on illegitimacy be established and that no legislation be enacted depriving children born out of wedlock of any of their rights and privileges.

• • •

TWO WORKSHOPS followed the business session.

The workshop on Education and Public Relations, at which "Working together to meet the challenge of responsibility after opportunity" was discussed.

Dr. Ruth Brett, coordinating counselor of Morgan State College, was discussion leader. Mrs. Lillian Parrot, principal of Douglass High School, was consultant. Mrs. Harold Folkes was chairman.

DR. IRENE DIGGS, professor of sociology at Morgan State College, substituted for Mrs. Laura W. Tucker of the Liberian Embassy, who was the scheduled speaker.

Topic for the session was "Working together in response to the call of Africa's new awakening." Mrs. Phyllis McKinney served as chairman and the recorder was Mrs. Alice Ford.

CARVER VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL was the setting for the business session and workshops, as it was for the luncheon which followed in the cafeteria.

For the first time in its 18 years of existence the organization made awards to three citizens for what it termed "Togetherness in a New Era".

The awards went to Dr. Furan L. Templeton, to whom the group referred as a "Statesman in human relations;" to Dr. Carl J. Murphy, whom they called the "Clarion voice of freedom;" and Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, who said the League, is a "Champion of human rights, aggressive, indomitable leader in the field of civil rights."

• • •

DR. JACKSON, who reorganized the Baltimore branch of the NAACP and has been its president for 26 years, reviewed the struggle which led to integration of Maryland schools, the University of Maryland, public beaches and public housing.

"With God, all things are possible," she told the group, but backed that statement up by saying it is of utmost importance that voters continue to register and that registered voters be continually urged to the polls.

In addition to the engraved silver tray which Mrs. Jackson received from Mrs. Lena K. Lee, president of the League, Miss Fannie Glascoe was presented scroll for services as treasurer since inception of League.

Mrs. Mary Hawkins makes presentation from Baltimore Branch NAACP to Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, who she termed "NAACP's 'Queen' forever".

You'll never realize how much I appreciate your many Easter cards and many phone calls. Thank you my dear dear readers and may you all have a safe and joyous Easter vacation!!

Planed- galore were garnered by the students of Sellers Point High School after they had performed before a large, appreciative audience in their fast moving show, Trans World Tour Through Dancing.

The dancers' artistic talents were revealed in such scenes as "Take Off Flight 61 which featured Catherine Harris, Veronica Waddell, Belinda Jeffreys, Marsha Larkins, Alice DeShazo, Patricia Swindell and Juanita Owens. Unique was vice principal, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams' sister, Cheryl, in a graceful dance accompanied by Weldon J. Irvine, county instrumental music instructor.

Ida Graves and Gatewood McGuire excelled in the Paris Sidewalk Cafe scene as did Linda Tucker, Sandra Prettyman, Ruth Richman and Jane Wyatt in their interpretation of Chop Sticks.

Most impressive was the Canary Dance by Catherine Harris, Paula Smith, Patricia Swindell and Carolyn Covington.

• • •

FROM THERE we went to the millionaire's playground where Diane Perersen, Carol Davis, Deborah Jones, C. Covington, Thelma Lee and Gustavia MacMorris showed how to spend money with her parents. She is a student at Bowie State College.

Home from Morgan State College is Miss Ethel Rich, to annoy the young performer's theatrical spoken. Mrs. Dorothy Waddell assisted Miss Rich.

Always mindful of how important Americans's relations with international relationships, the flight next visited Russia were seen in the Dance Number, Leningrad, featuring Leo Johnson, Leon Wilson, Odell Robinson and Gary Nixon with accordion moon music by Mr. Irvine. Thelma Lee and Gatewood McGuire danced in Paris Street Den.

No town would be complete without a visit to that awakening East Africa where Brenda Whitby, Sonia Paine, Carolyn Covington and Ida Graves were winning rave notices. The finale, Return Flight To The U.S. was most inspirational.

The Seller's chorus, directed by Mrs. Clara Green and Miss Elizabeth Dye, sang "America For Me," while kids Graves reflected the Status Of Liberty.

The supers choreography was by Miss Michelle Sellers and Zelma Cole Brown, Sellers physical education instructor. The colorful costumes which richly enhanced the show were by the handiwork of Mrs. Myrtice Bennett, Sellers home economic teacher.

The committee which worked hard to make the production a success included Howard Flournoy, Thomas Cunningham, Julia Medley, Bernice Hunley, Lucille Venture, Frederick Anderson, Ann Gittings and Elizabeth Williams.

THE ANNUAL Women's Day was held at Grace AME Church, Catonsville, Sunday. Officers were Mrs. Mildred Barkley, president; Alice King, vice president; Minnie Ross, secretary; and Clara King, treasurer.

Guest speakers were the Rev. Laura Edwards and Mrs. Ann Payne, principal of Thomas G. Hayes School.

The captains reported as follows: Miss Catherta Woodland, $158.90; Mrs. Jennette Smith, $42.25; Mrs. Alice King, $169.85; Mrs. Mildred Barkley, $156.35; Miss Mabel Coleman, $154.46, and Mrs. Minnie Ross, $431.06.

The captains' helpers were Mrs. Elsie Williams, Margaret Barber, Ada Webb, Bettie Fields, Evelyn King, Pauline Brown, Lillian Huston, Jane Davis, Thelma Coe, Gwendolyn Coleman, Jean Furguson, Elnora Randall, Jane Johnson, Mae Thomas, Annie Beverly, Mildred Heston, Gloris Terrell, Clara King, Naomi Hopewell, Sophia Gray, Rosa L. Fields, Ida Torsell, and Mary W. Torsell also Emmely Gross and Misses Florence Brown and Sedonia Ray.

The Rev. C. C. Brown is pastor of Grace Church.

DID YOU KNOW that the Westview Community Hall sponsors Karting Teen for teenagers? The winner receives a trophy and is sent to compete in other Karting Races throughout the area. Anthony Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bacon is building a Go-Kart (it has a wooden frame and lawn mower engine which runs on gasoline) and will compete in the Westview Hall at Westview Shopping Center April 2.

Home after a visit with Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur (Elsie) Lambert, 784 Hoch St., New Parks, 801 1 St. Suarrows Point, N.J., is Mrs. Florence Parks, 801 1 St. Suarrows Point, Mrs. Frank Hughes Sleeper, a Sellers High graduate and a graduate of Lincoln University at Kaus College, New Park, N.Y. graduation with a B.S. in a Public Health Nurse in New York.

Supporters and well-wishers Home For The Blind are earnestly waiting to see who will claim the lovely prizes April 7 when the Jas Cervavans club concludes its benefit appeal for the foundation.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

It's "Jabberwock" time again for Delta Sigma Theta Sorority . . . and the Annapolis Alumnae Chapter members are busy making plans for their second annual Jabberwock, to be given on April 21 at Adams Park School.

Soror Marian Canover Hope saw the idea as a novel means of entertaining the public, and so the "Jabberwock" became variety show.

So far the following groups have indicated their intentions of participating in the local project:

National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Alpha Mu Chapter, Miss Madeline Randolph, basilesa; the Y - Teen Club, Mrs. Bettie Lear Covert, leader, and Eta Eta Lambda Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, George Bizes, president.

• • •

A "MISS JABBERWOCK" queen and her court will also be featured again. Girls entering the contest are Estelle Owens of Lothian, Md., Constance White Severna Park, Md., Elaine Randall, Charlotte Sharps, Odessa Eldridge, Evelyn Hall and Frances Taylor, all of Annapolis. These girls are seniors at Bates With good scholastic rating.

As was done last year, each girl will receive - one - third of the amount of money she raises, to be contributed to her college education. There will also be a scholarship award.

Last year Myra Bryan, who was "Miss Jabberwock" queen received the scholarship. She is now attending Morgan State College.

Joyce Neal, another 1960 contestant, lived Bennett College.

Cynthia Brown and Joyce Pergerson, two other contestants are attending Maryland State Teachers College.

On Sunday at the Northwest Street YMCA, Delta Pi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority presented Dr. Marjorie Parker, its supreme basilesa of Washington, in a travelogue on Africa.

Dr. Parker, a charming personality, gave a very informing talk on Africa, Liberia, Ghana and Nigeria. She noted that West Africa was the land of the slave trade of the New World.

• • •

Speaking about Liberia, she told about its gigantic production of rubber and iron ore, making it one of Africa's most valuable countries.

Dr. Parker said Ghana is considered the most aggressive of the three countries and she felt that it may set a pattern or be the instigation of the turning of the tide for other African countries.

• • •

DR. PARKER, who was introduced by Soror Beulah Diggs, said that she felt there is a great challenge and a lesson in the current and contemporary development of Africa.

"The greatest gift Africa will give to the world (although enriched with plenty of raw materials), will be an endowment of a tangible thing, the outcome of its independence, the lesson which proves that determination of spirit and the will to achieve; is the greatest asset any person can have," said Dr. Parker.

Other program participants included:

Sorors Lulu Hardesty, Bernice Gibbs, and Henrietta Thompson, Geraldine T. Scott, Marita Carroll, Clara D. Sargent and Margaret Quillen poured.

Other officers and members of the local chapter are:

Sorors Pynetta S. Jefferson, anti - basilesa; Clara D. Sargent, grammateus; Doris Knight, epistoleus; Faye Allen, tamiukes; Annie Garrett, periliamentarian; Irene Mills, historian; Geraldine T. Scott, dean of pledgees; Lulu Hardesty, chaplain; Ann Thompson, Iva Leaf reporter;

Also Sorors Edwin M. Burke, Louise Burton, Nellie Carter, Hannah Chambers, Helen Chambers, Geneva Diggs, Emily Johnson, Sarah Kane, Amanda Nunley, Elnora Pinkney, Dolores Queen, Margaret Quillen, Carolyn Reed, Lucille Salisbury, Henrietta Thompson and Bernice Gibbs.

Girl's sorority chapter sent Miss Patricia Carroll, a senior of Bates High School, to represent the Annapolis chapter of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs at Carver Vocational High School in Baltimore on Saturday.

Patricia, an outstanding senior, is president of her class, president of the Future Teachers of America, and a member of the Beacon Staff.

Miss Carroll plans to attend the University of Maryland this fall to prepare for a career of teaching, majoring and specializing in work with mentally - handicapped children.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Lois Carroll of Glen Burnie, Md., a teacher in Anne Arundel County.

Thursday evening of last week is one long to be remembered, when the Mesdames Richardsons and Dr. and Mrs. Horace L. Smart of Denton, Md., were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wise r. of Lanham, Md. in their box at the performance of William Warfield, baritone.

Mr. Warfield was presented by Leon Moore, talented young writer - actor - director of New York in a "Profile of a Saint" at Constitution Hall in Washington, sponsored by the Hughes Memorial Methodist Church. Ministers' Wives Association, Washington District of the Methodist Church.

THE 18TH annual luncheon of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs was held on Saturday.

The speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie Lawson, practicing attorney of Washington.

Most significant part of the program was the presentation of three citations by Mrs. Lena Lee, president of the League, to Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, Dr. Carl J. Murphy and Dr. Furman Templeton. Miss Fannie Glascow received the president's citation of the League.

Delegates from the Women's Auxiliary of Crownsville State Hospital were Mrs. Eloise Richardson, president; Mrs. Olivia Spriggs, and Mrs. Sarah Jones, recording secretary of the Annapolis Branch. Mrs. Agnes Brown, fund - raising chairman, was also present. Miss Alice Hopkins, Annapolis delegate for the Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, also represented the Annapolis Branch of the Auxiliary at its president.

• • •

DO SEND cards of cheer to Mrs. Mary Wiseman, principal of Bates Junior High School, who is confined at her home, 509 Oakland Ave., and Mrs. Electa Holland, who was in Anne Arundel General Hospital, now confined at her home, 1801 Cedar Park Rd.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of Crownsville State hospital of the Annapolis branch are now engaged in an occupational therapy course at the hospital on Thursday evenings.

Anyone who desires to work with this group may contact the president of the group, Miss Nan Wright for information and to register. There is no fee attached.

The next session will be on Thursday evening, April 6. Miss Wright may be reached at Colonial 3-4601.

The Dunbar Senior High School Class of 1941 did itself proud last weekend at the 20th fellowship dinner reunion.

The big doings began at 7:30 Saturday with an elaborate dinner party.

Toastmaster and organizer of the reunion was genial Edward Thomas, who did a bang up job. The festivities began with a Sinspiration by Miss Lucite Elizabeth Rowlette Colbert.

The invocation was given by lovely Ellen Fenwick Jeffers, followed by personable James Kane.

Highlight was a complete class history compiled by the personality girl of the class, vivacious Francis Rollins Chatman. Handsome Clarence Gibbs led the guests in Grace. With all singing the chant, "I Must Ask that the flower arrangements were superb with the credit going to member Elizabeth Colbert and her florist.

After dinner all classmates, and their guests were guests of member Agnes Johnson Russell at the beautiful home, 1903 McCulloh St.

Agnes's dream of a club cellar made a perfect setting for the gang to continue socializing and reminiscing about
