A-T poses homecoming problem for the Bears

Morgan State College, looking for her first homecoming win since 1957, tangles with A. and T. College tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at Hughes Stadium.

Kickoff time, set at 1:30 o'clock, will pit the Golden Bears of sophomore coach Earl Banks against an unbeaten Aggie eleven which is rated one of the most rugged to be fielded by the Greensboro (N.C.) school in recent years.

That this is a considerable endorsement is attested to by the fact that A. and T. has won two of the last three Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association football championships.

LAST SATURDAY, coach Bert Piggott's youngsters knocked over a tough Winston-Salem Teachers College eleven for their third win in as many conference starts. Behind with only two minutes to play, the Aggies tallied twice to take a 27-20 decision from Bighouse Gaines' Rams.

Morgan, meanwhile, was being victimized by a bad break which cost her a 6-3 verdict at Dover, Del. Delaware State pleased a homecoming crowd by turning a deflected pass into a 43-yard touchdown.

WHEN A. AND T. was on hand for the Golden Bear homecoming in 1959, she humiliated the locals before their old grads to the tune of 42-8. Last year, at Greensboro, the Aggies were 33-6 victors.

Not since 1957, when Morgan eked out a 13 - 13 win over her traditional rivals from the Tarheel country, . . . LACY.

tance champion, are among the field of 21 entries for the 3-mile cross - country run at Clifton Park tomorrow (Saturday) morning.

The affair is calendared as a handicap event. Entered are representatives of Morgan State College, the Baltimore Olympic Club and several out - of - town organizations. Gun time is set for 11 a.m.

4 hold 'longest' marks in pro gridiron charts

NEW YORK — Four top-line players this week hold the distinction that goes with seasonal records in professional football.

Each is credited with a "longest" performance in a separate category in the National Football League statistics made public on Wednesday.

AMOS MARSH, rookie fullback of the Dallas Cowboys, is credited with the longest run from scrimmage a 71-yard jaunt against the New York Giants on October 15. John Farrington, a 2-year veteran end of the Chicago Bears, was on the receiving end of the longest pass — a 98-yard scoring play—against the Detroit Lions on October 8.

JOHN SAMPLE

Erich Barnes, in his first year with the New York Giants after three with the Bears, tied the all-time record for an interception runback with a 102-yard jaunt—the season's longest—against Dallas on October 22.

And Tim Brown of the Philadelphia Eagles, completes the quarter. He holds the year's mark for the longest kickoff return, a trip of 105 yards against the Cleveland Browns on September 17.

AMONG THE individual leaders in the statistics are Willie Wood, sophomore defensive halfback from Washington, D.C., who has contributed the best yardage in punt returns for the league - leading Green Bay Packers, and Johnny Sample, the Pittsburgh Steelers' top pass stealer.

Wood's 176 yards and 25.1 average is well ahead of the 132 and 13.2 average credited to Bobby Mitchell of Cleveland.

Sample has snatched off eight enemy passes since his trade to the Steelers by the Baltimore Colts. His total lops by two Don Bishop's effort for Dallas. John has returned 141 yards and converted one interception into a touchdown.

Jim Brown of Cleveland, is second in the individual standings in rushing (behind Green Bay's Jim Taylor), and Lenny Moore of Baltimore, is runner-up to Paul Hornung (of Green Bay) in scoring.

JOE BROWN

Joe Brown to defend

MANILA, P.I. — Lightweight champion Joe Brown who already has defended his title more times than any other 135-pound king, makes his eleventh defense here tomorrow (Saturday) night.

Sixth-ranked Bert Somodio, Filipino contender, will be the challenger in the 15-round battle scheduled at the Areneta Coliseum on the outskirts of this city.

BROWN, at thirty - five still the busiest champion around, has averaged more than two defenses a year since he knocked the crown off Bud Smith's head five years ago.

The champion won six of his 10 title defenses by knockouts.

In his most recent title fight, Brown outpointed Britain's Dave Charnley at London last April 15.

SOMODIO, twenty-seven, fights under the name of "Nursery Kid." He has been fighting pro since 1953 and has an 18-2 record.

He was stopped in seven rounds by Solomon Boysan, of Cleveland, last November but came back to outpoint Californian Cisco Andrade last April.

Andrade dropped a 15 - round decision to Brown in a title fight a year ago.

Carver risks clean record

Coach Charley Robinson and his Carver High School eleven risk their unbeaten record against a formidable Forest Park High team at Kirk Field tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon.

The Trainers, eyeing their first football championship since they joined the Maryland Scholastic Association, will be taking on their main contention in the persons of the Foresters.

CARVER is 3-0 for the season, Forest Park is 3-1, with the lone defeat an upset by Southern two weeks ago.

Robinson's charges will have their hands full, if the form sheets are lived up to, in this contest. Aside from whipping the defending Division B champions, Edmondson, Forest Park boasts victories over Severn and McDonogh.

MOREOVER, the Foresters have going for them the fleet Norm Burkett, the MSA's leading scorer and one of the most dangerous ball carriers in city schoolboy circles.

Carver's three conference triumphs were over Edmondson, Severan and Merva.

THE BEARS ARE COMING — Two of the Chicago Bears whom the Baltimore Colts will have to cage Sunday are of the galloping variety. Halfback Willie Galimore (left) is called one of the most exciting runners in the pro game, and Charlie Bivins ranks as a constant breakaway threat. They supplied much of the running power that helped the Bruins whip the previously undefeated San Francisco 49ers last Sunday.

But Moore's well, darnit!

The Chicago Bears are in town, fresh off a surprising win over the sparkling San Francisco 49ers only five days ago.

The meet the Baltimore Colts at Memorial Stadium Sunday and advance man Dan Desmond says things are looking up considerably.

"WE'RE IN much better shape than I expected to be after losing the opener to Minnesota, Desmond told the AFRO Thursday.

"When the Vikings, a brand new team which we figured to beat, handed us that opening licking, I was envisioning a frightening season. We went into five straight games as the underdogs — Los Angeles, then Green Bay, then Detroit, then Baltimore and then San Francisco.

"That's enough to give you worries. But we got through them pretty good.

"IN TAKING the Rams, it was a case of our rebounding from the embarrassment of the week before (Minnesota). And against the Colts in Chicago two weeks ago, we got some breaks that helped a lot.

"In addition, Lenny Moore was hurt the last time we played Baltimore. But Moore's well now, darnit."
—SAM LACY.

THOMAS WATTERS HARRY L. MACER DR. FRANK SAUNDERS

WATERLOO, Md. — Four members of the National Skeet and Trapshooting Association will participate in the International Shooting Championships this weekend at Fort Benning, Ga., it was announced here Sunday by Lester Weston of St. Louis, president of the group.

Mr. Weston was guest of the Falcon Rod and Gun Club during its observance of Saunders Day, the annual tribute paid Dr. Frank Saunders, the club's founder.

Entered in the meet which opens Saturday are Thomas Watters of Bel Air, Md., who will represent the Falcon club; Roy McCoy and John J. Mosby of Washington, and Dr. A. J. Edwards of Cincinnati.

WALTER EATON was declared "high gun" for the Falcon club during the 1961 season during the brief program which followed dinner in the clubhouse Sunday.

He received the Class A trophy for a 46 score out of a possible 50 in Sunday's shoot and a second in recognition of his achievement as the club's top shooter this season.

The Class B trophy went to John Watters, who scored 44; Class C, Dr. F. Sykes, 43; Class D, H. Rollins, 41; Class E. J. Parker, 42; and the visitor' trophy was awarded Lester Weston of St. Louis, who scored 44.

AN ORCHID was presented Mrs. Saunders, while Dr. Saunders was given a desk model transister radio.

Harry Macer, the Falcon's president, was surprised with a pocket secretary and a large brief case. Dr. Lucius W. Leeper acted as master of ceremonies.

Pro 5 gets ban on star

CLEVELAND, Ohio— The Syracuse Nats of the National Basketball Association won the first round in their battle with the Cleveland Pipers over the right to play Dick Barnett during the coming pro cage season.

The Nats were granted a temporary restraining order Wednesday to prevent Barnett, a former Tennessee State University star and a member of the NBA club last year, from playing in the new American Basketball League.

COMMON PLEAS Court Judge Charles W. White issued the order on the condition the Nats post $13,000 bond.

Syracuse filed suit last month seeking the restraining order on the grounds Barnett's contract last season with the Nats gave them the legal option beyond the one-year period.

He jumped to the Nats, signing a one-year pact for $13,000 with the Pipers early in July.
