Speed chief asset of '62 Bear 11

The absence of a power back may force Morgan State College coach Earl Banks to rely on speed this season.

That is the conclusion one reaches after surveying the 60-man squad presently working out under Banks on the Hillen Rd. campus.

Blessed with tremendous backfield speed and fine passing potential the Golden Bears are understandably looking for a hard-running inside man who can bruise the defense while keeping it honest.

With Ollie Dobbins, Leroy Kelly, Carmie Pompey, Russ Binion and Bill Tinkler listed among 20 returning veterans Banks figures to concentrate on opening up his attack to take advantage of the many talents at hand.

* * *

DOBBINS AND Kelly manned the halfback slots last season and the fleet-footed pair helped considerably in acquiring the 5-4 record of the Bears last year.

Pompey and Binion, who shared the quarterbacking duties in 1961, may expect an improved season, what with their year of experience.

Each is a capable passer and each gained valuable knowledge by shedding the shadow of Jack Dennis who was all-CIAA the last few years.

Tinkler was Banks' top pass catcher last year. He is back healthy and enthusiastic.

Joining the ex-Dunbar High luminary as potential air target are freshmen Gerald Boyd and sophomores Al Bates and Roger Hobbs.

Boyd was one of the few bright spots of Douglass High School's grid campaign a year ago.

IN HIS SEARCH for full-back help, Banks is working overtime with George Johnson, a 205-pound freshman from Richmond, and a pair of sophomores, Kennth Dukes and Donald Twine.

Also under the watchful eye of Morgan coaches are freshmen Roland Savage and Collin Blow. Both are former scholastic stars — Savage from Poly and Blow from Edmondson.

STUBBORN TO THE LAST — The Minnesota Vikings will open the 1962 National Football League season without their leading pass catcher of 1961. He's A. D. Williams, former star at College of Pacific. Williams is unusual case. He held out on the Vikings because they refused to pay him what he thinks he is worth. When they delivered ultimatum with what they described as "the final offer," talented offensive end replied: "Well, I'll just do something else." He's first athlete of modern day to refuse to capitulate after a holdout.

Lenny Moore Day donations being sought

Contributions to the Lenny Moore Day promotion are presently being received by the planning committee, and and chairman Solomon Liss is confident the stellar halfback of the Baltimore Colts will have an unforgettable afternoon on October 28.

Moore will be honored prior to the Colts' football game with the world champion Green Bay Packers at Memorial Stadium. According to plans, Lenny and his wife and three children will be showered with gifts.

Liss and co - chairman John Hauswald stated that, in addition to the merchandise that will accrue to Moore, a cash donation will be made to a charity of Lenny's choice at the same time.

* * *

IN A STATEMENT released early this week, the Citizens for Lenny Moore Day Committee said:

"Contributions of cash or merchandise will be gratefully accepted and will be acknowledged by Lenny himself.

"Monetary contributions should be sent to the Lenny Moore Day Committee, P.O. Box 324, Baltimore 3, Md.

"Letters offering merchandise gifts should be sent to the Post Office Box 324 also, and members of the committee will arrange to pick them up from the donors and to see that they are presented to Lenny and his family."

Len Matthews signs to fight Kenny Lane

PHILADELPHIA — Len Matthews, one - time red hot lightweight contender, will try to regain some of his lost prestige when he tangles with Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., in a 10 - round bout at the Arena here, Sept. 15.

The signing of Matthews, of Philadelphia, and Lane was announced last week by promoter Herman Taylor.

JFK aide says Jackie should stick to baseball

DETROIT (NNPA)—Jackie Robinson was the "greatest second baseman in the last decade," but he was way off base in his recent criticism of President Kennedy, Andrew T. Hatcher, House associate press secretary, said here Monday.

Robinson wrote in his weekly newspaper column that President Kennedy's failure to meet with a group of colored ministers, who staged a prayer march in front of the White House in sympathy with the Albany Movement, "was an insult to the colored national community."

* * *

INTERVIEWED AT a reception during the ELKS Convention, Hatcher said the newest addition to baseball's "Hall of Fame" was a better man on the diamond than in politics.

"Jackie was the greatest second baseman in the last decade," he asserted, "but I don't think too much of him as a politician."

* * *

HATCHER WENT on to say that Robinson was "known to be unfair to the Kennedys" and evidently had politics in mind when he wrote that particular passage.

About the protest movement, Hatcher said the Administration has been "working continuously on the Albany situation, but we need constructive suggestions, not gimmicks."

Old time boxer who helped start Archie dies at 68

INDIANAPOLIS — (ANP) — "As a fighter, he was 30 years too soon."

With these words, tribute was paid to Lee "One-Round" Bess Sr., old time figure in the boxing world, who died here last week.

The speaker was Hiawatha Gray, trainer of Archie Moore, who left after the funeral for Moore's camp in California to help Archie get ready for Cassius Clay.

* * *

"LEE WAS a top-rated bantamweight who punched as hard as a welterweight," Hiawatha continued. "He would always take a fight. He fought nationally-known boys such as Billy McClure, Kid Nacho and Reuben Rhodes. But the way wasn't open to him as it is to fighters today.

"I got my start in his gym, the Bess A. C. at 318 Indiana Avenue. So did many others, including Archie. The things we learned from him, we are still benefiting from today.

"HE OPERATED the gym for years, not making money, but so the boys would have a place to train."

Ohio 7th-Day Adventist school desegregates

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio — Mount Vernon Academy here, a secondary school run by the Seventh - Day Adventist faith, accepted Erica Scott of Oberlin as one of its first three colored pupils.

Her application to the school was the basis for a heated controversy last month at the world conference of Seventh - Day Adventists which was held in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Scott, her parents, said the school refused to enroll her.

School officials said there had been no refusal but her application was deferred until after the deadline for applications from pupils in the school's immediate constituency.

Rocky gives $5,000 for 'Albany fight'

ALBANY, Ga. — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller gave a $5,000 contribution to aid the freedom fight here, according to the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, assistant to Dr. Martin Luther King.

The Rev. Mr. Walker hinted that unless the Kennedy Administration gave greater support to the civil rights fight, colored voters could shift to the Republican fold. He pointed out that the Kennedy calls on behalf of Dr. King are credited with winning the colored support which won him the Presidency.

So far, the government has taken little action in Albany but does have observers on the scene.

Denominations set unity talk

NEW YORK CITY. —Leaders of the United Church of Christ will attend the meeting of the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A. Inc., in Chicago next week for talks on closer cooperation between the two denominations.

Participants will include The Rev. Dr. David G. Colwell, Washington, chairman of the United Church Commission on Christian Unity, the Rev. Dr. Robert F. R. Peters, New York City, assistant to the president of the Church and the Rev. J. Arch Lee Hargraves, New York City, secretary for the urban church in the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries.

They will speak for the United Church of Christ in a panel discussion Thursday afternoon, September 6, with representatives of the five - million - member organization of colored churches.

The United Church, with members, is a union of the approximately two million members, is a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and Congregational Christian churches. Dr. Colwell stressed the eagerness of the United Church of Christ to hold conversations with other Protestant groups "concerned with the reunion and renewal of the Church."

Bostonian Atty. Gen'l candidate

BOSTON, Mass. (ANP) — In order to devote full-time to his active campaigning for the post of Massachusetts attorney general, Edward W. Brooke, who is amassing tremendous voting potential, has resigned his $5,000 post as chairman of the Boston Finance commission.

In his letter of resignation to Gov. John A. Volpe, Attorney Brooke indicated that his resignation would squash any inference that the Finance Commission was engaged in partisan politics.

* * *

IN HIS KEY role as the first colored person to be chairman of the powerful finance commission, Attorney Brooke vigorously investigated political collusion leading to the resignations of several city officials.

Strangely enough, members of the finance committee of the Mass. Republican headquarters have refused to support Brooke or any of his rivals until after the primaries in September.

NYC hailed for utilizing classrooms

NEW YORK — A joint study released by the City Commission on Human Rights (CCHR) and the East Harlem Project, a community service organization, indicates:

"Youngsters moved from overcrowded to under-utilized schools show (1 marked improvement in attendance, (2) marked improvement in efficiency, and (3) more interest in school work".

These conclusions are drawn from a 1961 survey of colored and Puerto Rican parents of third, fourth and fifth grade pupils transferred from two East Harlem schools to predominantly white P.S. 183 in Yorkville.

Stanley H. Lowell, CCHR chairman, declared, "This study demonstrates that busing children can result in improved educational opportunity and a fair and proper share of the educational facilities."

Fired Shaw U. head in new job

RALEIGH, N. C. — Dr. William R. Strassner will take an "administrative position in an educational institution outside North Carolina, he said last week.

He was fired as president of Shaw University by the trustees of the school. The action came after students protested against his administration and were supported by Shaw alumni.

Dr. Strassner, who had been Shaw president 12 years, reportedly refused to accept an $11,500 job at Shaw as professor. He told trustees he wanted to leave. Acting president of the college is Dr. Nelson Harris, head of the education department.

Over half city's pupils colored, survey reveals

PHILADELPHIA — Over half of Philadelphia's school children are colored, according to a study made by the city board of education. The report said that last June, that 120,782 of the city's 238,744 pupils — or 51 per cent — were colored.

If the pattern of a 2 per cent per year increase continues, colored pupils will comprise 53 per cent this year. In 1960, however, the U.S. census disclosed that only 26.4 per cent of Philadelphia's population was colored.

NAACP unit head loses $11,785 post in housing

PASADENA —(ANP) — An audit of NAACP funds was called for here last week by George A. Jones when he resigned his post as president. Linn Hatterslev, vice president, has been named to succeed him.

Jones, 41, surrendered his NAACP job after the City Housing Authority charged that he had diverted more than $2,000 in rent collections to his personal use.

Jones had been employed at an $11,785 annual salary as manager of the Jordan Downs and Hacienda Village Housing Projects.

* * *

WHEN THE shortage was claimed, Jones resigned from his job and immediately paid $1,322.03 toward the reputed deficiency. He also assigned $874 due him in salaries from the CHA.

Jones and his wife also signed over $2,700 in cash insurance to retirement make up the balance. The CHA said any difference in accounted money would be returned to Jones.

Accused still in school job

GREENVILLE, N.C. — Although accused of embezzling over $13,000 from the church, H. R. Reaves, 53, of Ayden has been retained as principal of Grifton Elementary School here.

The educator, a principal for 30 years, is free on a total of $13,000 bail after being indicted in both Lenior and Pitt Counties where Grifton Free Will Baptist Church of America officials charged him with taking church monies.

* * *

"WE DON'T feel that we should ask him to resign or that we should fire him at this time," said Sam Nelson, chairman of the Grifton School District.

Nelson said that the annual audit had never shown a shortage of funds at the school Reaves heads. In fact, he added, it "is one of the better in the district and it has gotten there under Reaves' leadership."

* * *

THE PRINCIPAL, general moderator of the church until he was dismissed following a church trial at Snow Hill in June, 1961, was indicted on a total of 45 counts in the two counties.

He was charged in both indictments of embezzling the funds between 1953 and 1960. He was made moderator in 1956. Prior, however, he served as financial secretary of the church.

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Paine College recently received a $5,000 grant from the C.I.T. Foundation. The funds will be used in a building program.

Editorial on pupil prayer hit by AJC

NEW YORK —Leo Pfeffer, general counsel, American Jewish Congress, commenting on an editorial in "America" said recently: "It is disquieting that the editors of 'America' should apparently impose as a condition for the avoidance of anti - Semitism that Jews forego their right to seek judicial determination of their constitutional liberties. In the guise of predicting anti-Semitism, they are in fact encouraging it.

"It is also disquieting that in listing those supporting the Supreme Court of the United States and its application of the Bill of Rights, the editors of 'America' should include 'humanists' and 'atheists,' but should omit any mention of President Kennedy.

Also the Joint Baptist Committee on Public Affairs, which represents 21,000,000 Protestants; The Christian Century,' which is the leading Protestant publication in the United States; Dr. Martin Luther King; the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; the publications of the Roman Catholic Dioceses of Kansas City, Mo., and Portland, Me.;

Also Father Hemle, dean at the Jesuit institution, St. Louis University; as well as the leading newspapers in the United States, including the New York 'Herald Tribune,' New York Times, Washington 'Post,' St. Louis 'Post - Dispatch' and the Minneapolis "Tribune," to mention but a few.

"Finally, it is disquieting that the editors of 'America' should apparently forget that of all groups in the United States, none has fought more vigorously and courageously in the courts against religious intrusions in the public schools than the Catholic community, which thus in large measure brought about the secularization of the American public school system."

Sanford to appoint body to study racial problems

RALEIGH, N.C. — Following conferences with colored and white leaders, Gov. Terry Sanford announced he would name a bi - racial committee "to go to work" to solve segregation problems in North Carolina.

James Farmer of NYC, national director of CORE, said his organization "is pleased with the announcement of the special committee which is being formed to negotiate with restaurant and motel owners."

In that light, Farmer added, CORE will hold off demonstrations in North Carolina, in some instances, pending on results of the committee.

Farmer was a member of the seven - man delegation conferring with the governor. The others were North Carolinians.

Science Talent Search seeking 'cream of crop'

WASHINGTON — Science Talent Search invitations are being sent to prospective research scientists now in their senior year at 30,000 public, private, and parochial high schools throughout the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The Search is conducted by Science Service through its Science Clubs of America, and supported by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Scholarships and awards totalling $34,250 will be received by 40 winners named from an Honors Group of about 10 per cent of the entrants. These scholarship and awards help to further training and achievement of professional goals and open the door to many other grants.

REQUIREMENTS FOR qualification include a two-hour science aptitude examination to be given in December at the high school of the participant and a report on a scientific project conducted.

Examination materials will be mailed in November to the school officials requesting them, along with ruler, instructions and suggestions. Entries must reach Science Service, Washington, by midnight, Dec. 27. Both boys and girls are eligible.

U.S. files 6th vote suit in Alabama

MOBILE, Ala. — In a complaint filed in federal court, the U.S. Justice Department charged last week that Perry County, Ala. registration officials discriminated against colored applicants.

The Justice Department said the registrars treated a different and more stringent set of standards in examining colored voter applicants.

District Judge Daniel H. Thomas said he will hear the case Sept. 14.

This is the sixth suit filed by the Justice Department in Alabama.

Department investigators claim there are about 3,441 whites and 3,202 colored persons of voting age in the county. They say that there are 3,100 whites registered and only 250 colored persons.

Baptists hear AME bishop as keynoter

CHICAGO (ANP) — The National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., which opened its 62nd annual meeting here this week took on an unusual interdenominational flavor when a bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church delivered one of the major addresses.

The speaker was the Rt. Rev. Eugene C. Hatcher, presiding bishop of the Third Episcopal district of the AME church, who delivered the annual Booker T. Washington address on Sept. 4 at Chicago Coliseum, headquarters for the six-day convention.

THIS YEAR'S convention is expected to be mild in comparison to last year's Kansas City convention at which Dr. Gardner C. Taylor of Brooklyn, N.Y. challenged the incumbent president, Dr. Joseph H. Jackson of Chicago, for the second straight year.

The bitter fight over the presidency in Kansas City led to the death of a minister from Detroit who was fatally injured when knocked off the platform during a scuffle between Jackson and Taylor supporters.

THE SPLIT between the two groups was widened when some of the Gardner supporters withdrew after the convention and formed a new organization known as the Progressive Baptist Convention. Dr. Taylor, however, does not hold an office in the new group.

Since he faces no strong opposition, Jackson is expected to be re-elected as a matter of routine this year.

Some 25,000 delegates are expected to attend the convention, coming from 49 states, Africa, India, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Liberia and Nigeria.

AFT moves meet to avoid Fla. bias

DETROIT — The American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) — concerning its leadership, refused to go to Miami Beach, Fla., for its scheduled 1963 convention.

After an hour's wrangling, the AFT's 46th annual convention directed its executive council to select another site "in which all our delegates and their families would be welcomed regardless of race."

Some delegates, including Miami school teacher Stanley Simmons, a native of Detroit, spoke in favor of going to Miami Beach. But the vast majority of numerous delegates who took the floor demanded a different site.

SIMMONS, TAKING the floor first to oppose a resolution committee proposal to bypass Miami Beach, said Florida's Dade County has done much to overcome race prejudice and "deserves commendation and not censure."

However, a parade of delegates, including two non-whites, took the opposite view and the anti-Miami Beach resolution won out in a shouted voice vote.

The convention took the stand in face of a warning from AFT President Carl J. Megel that a "dilemma" might result since the executive council already has contracted with the American Hotel in Miami Beach.
