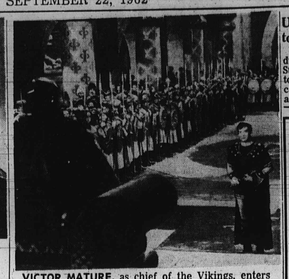
DORA BRYAN, left, and Rita Tushingham will be seen in their award winning portrayals of a mother and daughter at odds with one another in "A Taste of Honey" now at the Met Theatre.

SUSPICION: Although blind, Mrs. Stephens (Maxine Audley) senses the dangerous and hidden emotions of Mark (Carl Boehm) that might make him the psychopathic killer terrorizing the city in "Peeping Tom" now at the Regent Theater.



VICTOR MATURE, as chief of the Vikings, enters the spectacular Tartar stronghold to bid for peace between the two primeval civilizations. The scene is from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sweeping drama, "The Tartars," now playing at the Harlem co-starring Orson Welles.

FIRST RUN FILMS

'The Tartars' open at Harlem Theatre

A new note of importance has been imparted to the much-vaunted Italian super-film spectacle with a historical background in "The Tartars," now playing at the Harlem, a Lux Film Production released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The big picture has an international star cast, headed by Orson Welles and Victor Mature, directed by Richard Thorpe, who has directed many of Hollywood's outstanding hits.

Filmed in Technicolor, "The Tartars" is an imaginative adventure which depicts a sweeping story of dramatic conflict and ancient warfare on the Slavic Steppes when the Tartars were challenged by the Vikings of the north for dominance of the area.

Using the magnificent, highly trained cavalrymen of Yugoslavia, the film presents tremendously exciting battle scenes in the days before modern warfare evolved into its mechanical age.

"The Tartars" was filmed on locations in Italy and Yugoslavia, and blends the skill of American actors and movie-makers with Italian technicians, players and noted movie stuntmen.

'Poor White Trash' in neighborhood runs

Imagine, if you can, a people apart — abnormal beings — who live, love, lust and die in a remote world of their own.

Not a remote unknown part of this globe, but right here in our United States — with the roar of jets overhead and just fifty miles from a great metropolis.

These are no Emily Post rules to raw life, and "Poor White Trash" creates none in this story of a people whose way of life has stood still while time has marched on and left them in a world apart.

"Poor White Trash" is playing at the Apollo, Capitol, Columbia, Hill, Lenox Park, Roosevelt, Walbrook, neighborhood Theatres.

Exciting murder film offered at Regent

Whenever beautiful, red-haired star Moira Shearer and gifted director-producer Michael Powell make a movie together, it's MURDER—literally. This homicidal habit persists in Astor Pictures' new thriller in color, "Peeping Tom," which is now at the Regent Theatre.

Movie fans will recall that in two earlier Powell productions the lovely Moira came to a violent end. In "The Red Shoes," she perished under the wheels of a train. In "The tales of Hoffman," Moira was a dancing doll that disintegrated.

The situation is getting even more grisly for Moira who, in "Peeping Tom," ends up as a corpse in a trunk, victim of a psychopathic killer who gets his kicks photographing with a cinecamera every detail of his pictim's demise.

This role is played by the celebrated Austian star, Carl Boehm.

Royal has double adventure thrill bill

A tremendous star trio — Kim Novak, Academy Award winner Jack Lemmon and Fred Astaire— are teamed in "The Notorious Landlady," now at the Royal.

"The Notorious Landlady" is about a young American career diplomat stationed in London, who rents an apartment in the fashionable private home owned by a beautiful young woman. He learns his lovely landlady is suspected by Scotland Yard of having murdered her husband, but he falls in love with her anyways, to the complete dismay of the State Department.

A wild and woolly adventure story is told in "The Wild Westerners," second feature. The film, is a swift-paced, breathless and exciting story of the Civil War west, when gold shipments from the Montana Territory had to reach Washington despite the considerable hazards involved.

'A Taste of Honey' at the Met Theatre

"A Taste of Honey," British prize-winner which swept England's Academy Awards and captured best-acting honors at the recent Cannes Film Festival, is now playing at the Met Theatre.

Produced and directed by brilliant young film-maker, Tony Richardson, "A Taste of Honey" has catapulted its twenty-year-old star, Rita Tushingham, to worldwide prominence in her first motion picture.

Others in the cast, which includes Dora Bryan, Robert Stephens, Murray Melvin and Paul Danquah, the latter two making their screen debuts, have come in for their share of the hozzanas.

Miss Bryan was awarded the British "Oscar" for best actress and Mr. Melvin shared acting honors at Cannes with Miss Tushingham.

BELLOWS GAZETTE

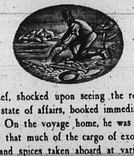
When gold was discovered at Sutter's Mill in 1848, the fastest route to California was by ship around the Horn. Those who struck it rich willingly paid $5 for a peach and even went so far as to import chefs from New York to prepare lavish meals.



One chef, shocked upon seeing the rough-and-tumble state of affairs, booked immediate return passage. On the voyage home, he was interested to note that much of the cargo of exotic foods, spirits and spices taken aboard at various ports was earmarked for Bellows & Company. For our firm's reputation for quality foodstuffs was already well known.

By 1900, we were serving the third generation of the East's most notable families. And shortly thereafter our new Bellows "electrics"— the last word in delivery wagons— were making their rounds on the most fashionable avenues in New York, Boston and Newport.

TODAY, FOR SLIGHTLY LESS than the gold barons paid for a peach, you can enjoy a splendid bottle of our Bellows Club Bourbon.

We'll wager you can place no finer or more satisfying Kentucky bourbon before your guests. It typifies the emphasis we place on quality, yet it is not premium in price.

Try our mellow, exquisitely flavorful bourbon whiskey. You will find it true today as in your great-grandfather's time: Only the best is labelled Bellows.

Pearl Bailey to star in GOP campaign show

Maryland Republicans are trying something new to raise campaign funds, with a show rather than the usual $50 or $100 a plate dinner.

They have scheduled an evening of entertainment at the Lyric in Oct. 6, which has been labeled a "Go-Party."

Pearl Bailey, Ray Bolger and Edgar Bergen head a list of Hollywood stars who will entertain, according to Dave Scull, GOP state chairman.

The Steppe Brothers and Manny Harmon and his orchestra are also scheduled to appear.

GEORGE MURPHY, veteran Hollywood star and creator of the Go-Party type of funds raising, is to serve as producer and master of ceremonies.

"The Go - Party," Mr. Scull said, "will be one big night of wonderful entertainment and fun for the whole family, from grandmother to grandson.

"We especially welcome Democrats to make reservations and have some GOP fun. In fact, that's the purpose of the show, to prove that fund-raising can be fun." Tickets start at $10, Mr. Scull stated.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. —C. B. Keene, dean of admission, announced last week that Gibbs Junior College student body is nearing the 700-mark with the registration of freshmen from 33 Florida counties, seven states and Africa.
