UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES.

We are printing below a picture of Captain G. Allen Jarman, of Chestertown, Maryland. When the war started and President Wilson called for volunteers, one of the first in Chestertown to answer the summons was Captain Jarman. At that time he was busily engaged as a veterinarian in this county. From here he went to the middle west and gave his valuable service to the government in the selection of horses and mules for work on the battlefields of France and Belgium. Capt. Jarman's work soon advanced him from Lieutenant to Captain and had the war continued a few months longer he would, no doubt have been advanced to a much higher rank. Captain Jarman received his honorable discharge from service and has resumed the practice of his profession in Kent county. Captain Jarman has the distinction of not only serving the country himself in the crisis, but also of having three sons who did the same.

DR. G. ALLEN JARMAN, of Chestertown, Maryland.

The following is taken from the Chicago Alumni Monthly concerning Lieut. George M. Morris, who married Miss Miriam Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard, of Chestertown, Md., a few months ago:

"Word comes from Washington, D. C., that George M. Morris is located there in the practice of law. There must have been a rather strong inducement to get Morris to relinquish his connection with the law firm Dent, Dobyns and Freeman in Chicago, because with that firm he was vigorously continuing the record he made at Dartmouth and at the University of Chicago Law School, from both of which institutions he received honors with his degree.

"George's marriage while he was in the army to Miss Miriam W. Hubbard, of Chestertown, Maryland, may have something to do with his decision, but we are informed that he has taken up quite an active practice representing parties and non-resident attorneys having matters to adjust in Washington, particularly before the many governmental departments there. At any rate we will do our old friend the compliment of saying that we not only wish him success, we prophesy it, for if there ever was a "live wire" it is George Morris."

The following is the biography of Lieut. Maurice S. Kerr, youngest son of Captain and Mrs. Charles R. Kerr, of Rock Hall: Born at Rock Hall, Kent county, Md., Dec. 24, 1895; graduated from the Rock Hall High School 1914; went to work for the B. & O. R. R. in the Central Bldg., Baltimore, Md.; joined the Fourth Maryland Regiment at the first call of our President for volunteers in the Mexican trouble in 1916; mobilized at Laurel, Md.; went with his regiment to Eagle Pass, Texas, as supply sergeant at the outbreak of our war with Germany. He was sent to Harper's Ferry as duty sergeant with a detail of the Fourth Regiment to guard the railroads at that place. His regiment again mobilized ta Laurel, Md.; thence to Anniston, Ala.; then he entered the Third Officers Training Camp, graduated and was commissioned second lieutenant and assigned to the 104th Battery Trench Artillery, going to France with his battery July, 1918, where he is now stationed with his command at Gorges, France.

Cashier and Mrs. Wm. F. Russell went to New York on Saturday and saw their son, Mr. Wm. F. Russell, Jr., who arrived from overseas on Thursday. Mr. Russell is enjoying good health and will be in Kent county in a few weeks.

The American Library Association has shipped to soldiers overseas more than 2,000,000 books—650,000 of them since the signing of the armistice—it has been announced. The association announced that it had open libraries, with the latest newspapers and magazines and an average of one book to every soldier abroad.

Mr. Perkins Rolph, who has received his honorable discharge from the navy, has been visiting here this week. He has been stationed at Pensacola.

The report comes to us again that the 29th Division, containing the 115th Infantry, will sail in a few days for the United States. Many Kent county boys are in this division and their friends and relatives will give them a royal welcome.

Lieut. Norman Crouch, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crouch, of Chestertown, arrived home from France Saturday and has been spending the past week with his parents here. Lieut. Crouch has seen considerable active service in France as an aviator.

The following letter is from Private J. B. Parsons to a friend in Kent. Private Parsons is now in France, and has seen some active service. The letter, in part, follows:

Your welcome letter was received quite a long time ago, while we were on the march, and have been rather slow in answering. I have been from one end of France to the other and mostly on foot, with a full pack hanging to me. On August 31 we took over our sector in the Vosges Mountains in Alsace and were there 41 days. Was rather quiet there though things were pretty lively at times. It was the regular old trench warfare—going over the top a few times, raiding parties and patrols.

When we came out of here we were re-equipped, strengthened and went into the Argonne-Muese affair. Things were moving rapidly. We hiked night and day—sleeping in the mud and rain whenever we stopped for a few hours rest. Our kitchen was lost most of the time in the crowded traffic and we went through all the harships that go to make war what General Sherman said and then some more. We did not see a great deal of the Germans, but was under their artillery fire at times and a few air raids. When we were near Sedan we turned back, as the war was over; then to Verdun, after being on the continued march for 19 days. From there we came south on a 16-day hike and then have remained at Benemore, near Dijon.

Just now I am at Mt. Dore, once a famous resort, with hot springs, Roman baths and large hotels. Have been here seven days, enjoying life, sleeping in a real bed and eating at a table for the first time in eight months. Our leave expires tonight and I suppose we go back to our division tomorrow, but I hope our train is late.

Schelberg and Ike Bowen, both from Washington College, are in this division and on leave. Was rather glad to meet them. I did not know they were over here and they have been in the same division with me all along.

Captain Carey Jarman, whose picture is below, is the youngest son of Captain and Mrs. G. Allen Jarman, of Chestertown, Md. He was with the United States forces on the Mexican border, before the European War, and his efficient performance of his duties there earned him his commission as captain. When the great war broke out, he immediately enlisted in the service, where he has been captain of a machine gun company since. His bravery under fire in France, where he took part in some of the hardest fighting of the war, has been the cause of much comment both by his superiors in rank and those who have served under him during all the campaign. He is the idol of his men, as many letters from France that we have received are indisputable evidence. His men say that he exhibited that same coolness under fire, when men lost their heads and lives were snuffed out like candles, as he did when on the athletic field, when the athletes were struggling for supremacy. Brave in action, fair in his dealing with his men, Captain Carey Jarman's name is placed on that imperishable scroll of Kent county boys who helped to make the world free.

CAPT. CAREY JARMAN
of Chestertown

Private Clarence Haughton, colored, son of Jonas Haughton and wife, of Chestertown, has arrived from France and was uninjured during the war. Private Howard Reese is another Chestertown colored boy who has arrived in this country from France. He was in Chestertown this week.

You Want Foot-Comfort Always

When you arise in the morning and slip your feet into your shoes, you expect comfort; but if your shoes pinch your corns, rub your bunions and later on develop a burning or cramping sensation, adding insult to injury, you become peeved and are mad clean through. It makes no difference whether you are a man, woman or child, at your home, on the farm, or at your office, or on a visit, your day is spoiled.

In the evening your first thought and duty is to slide out of those shoes, and then you spend half the night trying to get relief from your day's discomfort.

Avoid this situation, keep sweet and pleasant by having your shoes fitted at our store.

We are graduated foot experts and know how to suggest the proper footwear to suit your feet. We always have on hand large selections of various styles, colors, makes and widths in high and low shoes, at lowest prices.

We take PAINS to prevent your PAINS by fitting you.
