MUSICAL MOMENTS

Community Orchestra makes interesting, promising debut

By ADAH K. JENKINS

The Baltimore Community Orchestra, conducted by promising debut at Calverton Junior High School, under the auspices of The Pyramids Inc.

The intercultural ensemble of 50 players gave a varied program with precision and zest, opening with a Bach Chorale and Fugue.

Including as it does many experienced players from the Baltimore Symphony, Peabody Orchestra and the Municipal Band, it would be most advantageous if these forces are kept together.

With a continuing program of rehearsals a first-rate repetoire of orchestral music from all periods could be built. There are hundreds of such groups in the United States, many of which have developed to professional standards.

There is, however, a desperate need of support from community organizations for defraying expenses, such as purchase and rental of scores and fees for rehearsal halls.

• • •

A PERMANENT orchestra of this type can supply a much needed "study" orchestra such as has been established in Chicago, Philadelphia and New York.

These groups afford musicians an opportunity to practice the standard repetoire works that every symphony player should know.

The orchestra would be available for benefit performances, such as the one given at Calverton High, which was for the Provident Hospital Building Fund.

Dunbar High School Choir, under the capable direction of Norman Ross, also shared in the enthusiastic applause accorded the program. The young choristers displayed top flight training, especially in the dramatic demands of Hanson's "Song of Democracy," accompanied by the orchestra.

The sponsoring organization is headed by Kanzen Randall and James H. McClean Jr.

AN IMPRESSIVE number of organists from eastern communities met at the Sheraton-Belvedere for a four-day Regional Convention of the American Guild of Organists.

In addition to business sessions and lectures, 13 concerts were given at churches and institutions in Baltimore and vicinity.

James Spencer Hammond represented the local Potapsco Chapter of the Guild in a scholarly organ recital on the handsome Fontz instrument at Douglas Memorial Community Church, where he is minister of music.

Mr. Hammond selected an entire program of classic and neo-classic music. J. S. Bach, the greatest composer of counterpoint and Buxtehude, also a renouned organist of the same period, were represented by Preludes and Fuges, E flat and F sharp minor.

The 20th century musical scene was depicted by the Paul Creston Suite Op. 70- and Hindemith's Sonata I.

• • •

THE FORMER, an American composer, showed evidence of the new romantic tendencies. Intellectual clarity and design were outstanding characteristics of Hindemith, who is a distinguished German modernist.

Among the audience of officials and members of the Guild was Mrs. Celia McCleod, dean of the Potapsco Chapter.

On the opening day of the convention the Handel Choir of Baltimore, under the direction of James Winship Lewis and Alan Stout, presented its annual spring concert at First Presbyterian Church.

The choir, which is an integrated group, sang in masterly fashion, a program of difficult works by Buxtehude, Gabrielli and Schutz of the classic school, Satie, French modernist and Hovhaness, contemporary writers.

AT THE HARLEM—The players are Dana Wynter, Jacques Roux and George C. Scott. The tense moment involves first clue to the murder of ten victims on "The List of Adrian Messenger," now playing at the Harlem. This unusual film presents five top Hollywood "Surprise Stars" in disguised character delineations. Audiences are challenged to guess the identity of each.

Counterparts coached 'Longest Day' stars

Many of the 42 stars in Darryl F. Zanuck's $10,000,000 production, "The Longest Day," which opens at the Regent Theatre on Thurs., June 13, not only met their real-life counterparts, but also were coached by them right on the set.

In this respect this dramatization of Cornelius Ryan's account of the D-Day invasion was unique in the annals of motion picture making.

South Baltimore Notes

By WALTER W. E. HILL

The South Baltimore Community Club met last week at the home of Mrs. Marguaret Goldie, where discussions and plans were being made for a Benefit Supper.

Baptismal services were held recently for Sephon Alberto Jenkins of Tobyhanna, Pa. at the Star Of Bethlehem AME Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jenkins and the grandson of Norman Matthews.

A birthday party was given Miss Deloris Rogers by close friends and choir members of Ebenezer AME Church.

Boy Scout 531 will observe their closing day at Friendship Baptist Church on Tuesday, June 25. Awards and presentation being given outgoing officers.

Get that X-ray

The Pennsylvania Ave. neighborhood will be the scene of an intensive survey, sponsored by the Baltimore City Health Department and the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

For the next two weeks, the market area and several blocks to the north will be visited by the mobile X-Ray cruiser, as the city and the TB Association seek to get chest Xrays of all persons in the community over 15 years of age.

The survey is being supported by members of the Mt. Royal-Fremont Neighborhood Council, whose members are out canvassing homes in the area, urging all adults to be X-rayed. Other members of the council are manning the mobile unit as registrars and aides.

The chest X-rays are free, according to Frank T. Jones, executive director of the TB Association.

Stars at Harlem appear disguised

For the first time in Hollywood annals no still photos of a group of top stars appearing in make - up will be released for publicity purposes or for theatre dislays.

The stars are Tony Curtis, Kirk Douglas, Burt Lancaster, Robert Mitchum and Frank Sinatra, all of whom appear in fantastic disguises for their character delineations in "the mystery, melodrama, "The List of Adrian Messenger," a Joel Production directed by John Huston for Universal, now playing at the Harlem Theatre.

ONE OF THE big scenes from Darryl F. Zanuck's epic production, "The Longest Day," showing some of the thousands of soldiers who invaded the Normandy beaches on D-Day, June 6, 1944. The picture will open at the Regent Theatre on Thurs., June 13.

'Dr. No.' at Met flirts with danger

In the past decade the name of James Bond has assumed increasingly worldwide literary prominence through the novels of Ian Fleming. Now it will be courting the favor of movie audiences through the screen in the person of British star Sean Connery in "Dr. No." United Artists Technicolor release held over for 3rd big week at the Met.
