MRS. ANETHIA WILLIAMS entertained the group above, and other guests at a lingerie shower for Bride-elect Jacqueline Finney, Saturday afternoon. Shown at gift-filled table are, left to right: Misses Mary Sue Welcome, Beverly Barrett, Gloria Forte, Carole Williams, Mrs. Williams, Miss Finney, Misses Nina Adams, Andrea Brown, Stephanie Laforest and Maria Clark. The honoree's mother, Mrs. Albert Laforest retrieves umbrella that decored table from floor at front.

MISS MARIA ALEXIS CLARK, who was presented at the Me-De-So Club's Cotillion in Baltimore this spring, was feted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alexander Clark, at a reception-dance Sunday. The family group, shown above are Mrs. Marie L. Clark of Pulaski, Va., grandmother of the debutante; the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Clark, and Misses Veronica and Harolyn Clark, sisters of the debutante.

Jacqueline Finney honoree at shower

By Lula Jones Garrett

"Perfectly exquisite" were the words guests used to describe the shower - luncheon that Mrs. Roland Williams gave on Saturday for Jacqueline Finney who will be a this Saturday bride.

'Twas a fine choice of words, for the affair, in the Williamses' lovely Hilton Road home, showed the fine skill of Aaethia's penchant for detail.

From the largest framed bridal nosegay that decored the mantle of the living room to the draped table piled high with gifts in the sunken library; from the honoree's table, done in her sorority (Delta) colors, tall red tapers, greenery in the shape of fern, to the place cards (tiny umbrellas, daisy decored) that, plus flowers, enhanced that table as well as the other tables that seated the more adult friends, the party was eye-filling.

The hostess was charming in pale yellow linen jacket dress with matching yellow shoes . . . . Miss Finney was equally charming in linen, a frock which had a bodice of magic bands of three colors; the bride-elects' mother, Mrs. Albert Laforest, made the charm line in pale beige silk imprinted with the tiniest of pale green posies, and the guests kept flare in as flossy a flare of fashion as has has been glimpsed in many moons.

Jacqueline's contemporaries who attended the party included Marilyn Moore, Nina Adams, Carol Sherrington, Carol Williams, Maria Clark, Andrea Brown, Gloria Forte, Beverly Barrett, Mary See Welcome, and Stephanie Laforest. Tanya Bundara, scheduled, was ill.

Anethia put all of the other guests to work; Her mother, Mrs. M. L. Barksdale and Jacqueline's grandmother, Mrs. Edna Finney Lane, she had toting up the score from a game test. Mrs. Lonnie Greene did the chore of reading the cards that came with gifts. Mrs. H. Garland Chissell awarded the prize gifts; Miss Bettye Bundara awarded the door prizes ; Miss Almira Miller provided a background of perfectly beautiful piano music during the first stages of the party (the hostesses' nephew, the talented Mr. Barksdale, provided the luncheon music). Mesdames Percival Smith and Lloyal Randolph interspersed the lunching with the showing of hair fashions, via perukes. Mesdames Ivan Higgins and Mark Patterson had gotten their stints over early in the afternoon . . . . the former receiving the guests and the latter pinning each arrival with a corsage.

MR. AND MRS. Robert (Mazie) Rae had their doll (Mazie Odelle Barbour Rae) christened, Sunday, at a ritual in the Douglas Memorial Community Church performed by the Rev. Marion C. Bascom.

And that pretty young lady lived up to every inch of her role as star of the performance.

Her godparents were Mrs. Irma K. Roy, Mrs. Melvin Johnson, Mrs. Maceo Howard of Washington, Wellington S. Ross, and T/Sgt. James E. Thompson, cousin of the baby. Mr. Thompson, now in Japan, had as proxy, Maceo Howard. Also in the party were the baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. John O. Barbotr; and her great-grandmother on her paternal side, Mrs. Rebecca Montgomery of Salisbury, N. C.

Other grandparents were the late Mr. Barbour and the late Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rea.

Following the christening, Mr. and Mrs. Rea entertained at their home on Yosemite Avenue where out-of-town guests included:

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris, Mrs. Louise Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Pennington Bridges, all of Salisbury, N. C., Miss Myrtle Branch and Miss Brenda Gardner of Richmond, Va., Miss Iris Husbands of Boston, Mass.,

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Banks, Miss Sharon Banks, Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Young and Roscoe and Peter Young all of Washington.

THE DAY (Saturday) will really be filled with music . . . . wedding music, that is!

In addition to Miss Finney, who will become the bride of Lieutenant William A. Brown in a private ceremony and greet guests later, there will also be the wedding of three other popular young women.

Miss Anastatia Phillips and James L. Benton, Jr. will exchange vows in Sharp Street Memorial Methodist Church at two in the afternoon;

Miss Mary Olga Dorsey and Donald A. Scott will be married in Saint Peter Claver Catholic Church at five-thirty;

And Miss Johnnie Mae Sanders and Robert Alexander of New York City will be wed in the Mount Hebron Baptist Church at three-thirty, Sunday.

Other date data include the closing meeting of the Pierians (dinner at the Belvedere) on the evening before (Friday) and at the same time at the Alcazar, a testimonial banquet honoring Charles Fletcher, who is retiring from the educational field. The Junior Club of Business and Professional Women will hold forth in the Elegante Club at seven in the evening.

And FACTS will have their seminar at Stewarts in the Reisterstown Plaza at one in the afternoon, Saturday.

Woman Power has a luncheon in the Sheraton Baltimore Inn at two on Sunday.

The Creoles Club is dancing at the Steelworkers Hall, at Dundalk Avenue, on Saturday night.

Anniversary dinner for Rev. Newbold

On Friday the members of Grace United Presbyterian Church honored their pastor, the Rev. Robert T. Newbold, Jr. at a tenth anniversary dinner at the church.

The lecture room was completely changed into a dining hall beautifully decorated in green and yellow with a background of garden flowers and green plants. as the more than 200 guests arrived, they were welcomed by the members of the planning Committee who served as hostesses and hosts and directed them to the sanctuary of the church.

BEFORE THEY went down to dine Mrs. Sadie Reynolds presented, for the group assembled, a beautiful orchid to Mrs. Newbold who was stunning in an emerald green chiffon dress which was very effectively draped about her shoulders and arms and caught in a band at the wrist.

As guests entered, the dinning hall they were directed to their seats by the hosts and hostesses while the Haithcock Ensembled furnished dinner music.

Milton A. Dugger was toastmaster. The tone of the program was set by Miss Beatrice A. Mayo who gave the occasion describing the honoree as one of the shadows whose personality is lengthening, not only in the church, but in the community, the state and the nation "the church and the community," said she are the beneficiaries of his dynamics leadership and evangelistic preaching.

A few of the contributions which he has made to the church were pointed out as well as to that of the community and listing among the honors one of the most recent ones which has come to the honoree when he will represent the Board of National Missions on an itineration team when it visits the Presbytery of Glacier in the Synod of the Rockies.

GREETINGS WERE given by Dr. Guthrie Speers, retired minister of Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church and presently serving as Chaplain of Goucher College, and the Rev. Fred Webber, who is the General Presbyter of the Presbytery of Baltimore. Both men pointed out the contributions which the Rev. Mr. Newbold has made both to the church, the community and the Presbytery of Baltimore and the high esteem with which he is held by his associates.

TRIBUTES WERE given by representatives of the various auxiliaries of the church: John L. Berry, the Session; Mrs. Daisy B. Jones, the Deacons; D. Arnett Murphy, the trustees; Miss Stephanie E. Wooldidge, the youth, and Mrs. Ruth B. Quarles, the Congregation.

Each representative reemphasized the effectiveness of worship which has been developed in the church and the enduring patience which the honoree has had in trying to introduce new innovations into the overall program of the church.

Mrs. Nellie Moore told of his service during the past 10 years as she lighted 10 candles to symbolize these particular services.

PRESENTATIONS were made by Mrs. Rebecca Davis to Mrs. Newbold who received a sterling silver pendant with her birthstone and by Mrs. Annette C. Johnson to the Rev. Mr. Newbold of an oyster white lounge chair.

Acknowledgements were made of gifts donated to Mr. Newbold to Mr. Newbold from the Beacons' (Couples) Club, a silver tray from the Deacons, a six-piece desk set from the Senior Choir, Interpreter's Bible, Volume 3, from the Sponsors' Club, a movie screen from the United Presbyterian Women, Cash Donation from the Grace Circle No. 1 Phillip's New Testament from the Sunday Church School and Cufflinks and tie set from the United Presbyterian Youth.

MUSIC ON the program included a solo by Moore L. Carson, Female Ensemble of the Grace Choir and a vocal duet by Gloria Basfield and Richard Baleixwell.

The invocation and bless ing was given by W. Douglas Johnson and the benediction by John T. Ward.

Members of the Planning Committee who made the arrangements and planned this anniversary included Milton A. Dugger, chairman, Miss Beatrice A. Mayo, co-chairman; Mesdames Rachel S. Adams, Emma G. Bright, Edna Canty, Ethel J. Day, Willie Mae Franklin, Kathryn Frisby, Lilian A. Lottier, Eulalia Stevenson, Frances Stith, and Frances White; Messrs. John L. Berry, E. Lloyd Davis, Ernest Johnson, Barnett Moore, D. Arnett Murphy, Arthur J. Ryan and Herbert J. Stith.
