LOCAL MATTERS

Runaway Saturday Night.—While Mr. W. O. Anderson was returning to his home on the Jefferson farm, about five miles from Chestertown, on Saturday night, he collided with an automobile. Mr. Anderson's horse was cut from the carriage by the automobile, the horse making a dash for home, where he arrived safely. Mr. Anderson escaped unhurt and was taken home by the automobilist with whom he collided. Some damage was done to the carriage and harness.

Mr. Brice's Pack of Hounds.—Mr. George Brice, manager of the Essex Hunt Club, New Jersey, and who resides at Far Hills, New Jersey, has the finest pack of fox hounds in the United States, it is said by authorities, and perhaps the finest pack in the world. The American fox hound is said to be the best hound on earth—far superior to the English hound. Mr. Brice got the most of his hounds right here in Kent county, and some of them from Queen Annes county. Mr. Brice is a former Kent county gentleman, and he has many friends here.

Queen Annes Man Commits Suicide.—Placing the muzzle of a 12-guage single-barreled shot gun to his left breast, and using a yard stick to press the trigger, William H. Cole, an aged and highly respected citizen of the Second District of Queen Annes County, ended his life Friday morning at 9.30 o'clock, at his home near Starkey's Corner. The charge of shot entered his body about two inches below the heart. Dr, Norman Dudley, of Church Hill, was summoned and stated that death ensued within a few minutes. Mr. Cole was 72 years old and had been in poor health for some time.

Lururies Taxed After May 1.—Users of tobacco this week have noticed the effects of the new revenue law, which placed an additional tax on tobacco of all kinds. On May 1 new taxes also will be added to various items classed as "luxuries." Among the luxuries are drinks of all kinds served by soda fountains, expensive articles of dress and numerous other commodities. It has been estimated that after May 1 each and every individual will pay an average of $15 per anuum in war taxes in one way or another. Government figures also show that the war debt will not be paid in less than 25 years.

Engagement Announced.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clifford Pinney announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Irene Cecile, to William Lester Baldwin, of Baltimore, formerly of Chestertown, to take place after Easter. The bride-elect since her graduation from Notre Dame in Baltimore has been much admired both in society here and in Mibile for her beauty, poise and charm. Mr. Baldwin is a young Baltimore attorney and will take his bride there to make her home. He was commissioned an ensign in the U. S. naval reserve corps shortly after America entered the war and for several months was on duty at the Pensacola Naval Air Station.—Journal, Pensacola, Florida.

Teachers' Association.—An association of Kent County Teachers will be held at the High School Building on Friday, March 21, 1919, the program being continued until Saturday, the 22nd, at 12 m. On Friday at 11 a. m. Rev. Edmund Coe, principal of the school at Millington, will speak on School Consolidation. This is a question which should interest the county generally. Therefore, the citizens of Kent are cordially invited to be present to hear the discussion. At night W. J. Holloway, State Supervisor of Rural Schools, is expected to make an address on "What constitute a standard rural school." This is also a subject of general interest, and the public is urged to be on hand to hear Mr. Holloway. The public school question is one that is prominently before the county at this time, and, it is safe to say, drastic action is necessary to raise our schools to the required efficiency.

Chestertown will not have a fair this year for the first time in 6 years.

CHURCH NOTES

It is reported that Rev. T. F. Beauchamp, pastor of Chestertown M. E. Church, will leave us after Conference. Rev. Mr. Beauchamp has made many friends here, where he has done good work. During his pastorate here many have been added to the church roster, while the whole religious life of the community has been quickened by his efforts for the right.

Under the direction of Mrs. Merrick Clements, the choir of the M. E. church is making prepartions to render some good music during the M. E. Conference, which meets here the last of this month.

We hear that Rev. J. L. Ward will return as pastor of the Chestertown M. P. Church for another year. The town and congregation will both be glad for the pastor's return.

President Luther F. Warner, of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, has announced that the week of March 9 to 16 has been designated by the Peninsular Church Extension Society for securing 3000 members.

Probably the most important matter before the Conference, which meets here this month, will be the consideration of the Centenary Movement by which the Methodist Church of America is endeavoring to raise the immense sum of eighty million dollars. It is thought that there will not be so many ministers changed this year as usual.

The members and friends of St. James and Lynch M. P. Churches gave their pastor, Rev. Avery Donovan, and his wife a large donation last week.

At a meeting of the members of Christ M. P. Church Thursday night, J. Waters Russell was elected delegate and Charles S. Smith, alternate, to represent the church at the annual session of the Maryland Conference, which meets in Lowe Memorial Church Baltimore the first Wednesday in April.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Foster Cannon will leave today for Baltimore, where he secured a lucrative position.

Mr. James Coleman, who left here about ten years ago and went to Florida, is back in Chestertown.

Rev. Robert Erdman, of Buffalo, accompanied by a Mr. Carson, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. W. B. Coleman.

Mrs. Shore, of Washington, mother of Road Engineer Shore, has been the guest of her son and his wife on Water street.

Mrs. Mollie Whaland and daughter, Dr. Berta Whaland, and Mrs. Hoston and son spent several days with Misses Anna and Helen Welch.

Mrs. Muriel Hildebrandt is the guest of her paernts, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. M. Brooks. Capt. Hildebrandt has been released from the army and has accepted a position at Pittsburg with the institute.

Mrs. B. U. Q. Wilkins, of Baltimore, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Meadows.

Mrs. Battis has returned after spending several weeks in Baltimore.

Mrs. William B. Usilton, who has been spending several weeks in Baltimore, has returned.

Mrs. Annie P. Skipper has returned from a pleasant visit to Mrs. Rodney Wilson, of near Wilmington, Del.

Truck Running Regularly

For over a month the Postoffice Department has been operating its daily motor truck route between here and Wilmington and Peninsula points. Every day, with the exception of Sunday, two 2-ton motors lorries have been making 144-mile trips—one truck down and another up.

The service places the farmers in direct touch with the city markets and will be more beneficial as the season advances.

Here is a portion of a load seen on the truck at the postoffice one day recently:

Five and one-half crates of 30 dozen eggs each.

Four large parcels of perishable products for Wilmington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Four crates of dressed turkeys for delivery in Baltimore, Conshohocken, Philadelphia and Wilmington.

One large package of turkeys for Douglasstown, Long Island.

Two crates of two dozen eggs each, for miscellaneous addresses of homes in Philadelphia.

One basket of apples for Oxford, Pa.

One parcel of foodstuffs for Cleveland, Ohio.

Three parcels for delivery in Washington, D. C.

Income Tax Returns

Chestertown has had many visitors from the outlying districts the past week. They have been here to make their income tax returns to Mr. B. J. Brooks, one of the deputy internal revenue collectors from the office of Hon. Joshua W. Miles. Mr. Brooks is one of the most affable and patient gentlemen we have ever had the pleasure to meet. Mr. Brooks was secured for the county through the efforts of Mr. W. B. Copper, cashier of the Third National Bank.

Compiling Record Of Marylanders

The following article is from the Baltimore Sun of last Sunday:

The Historical Division of the Maryland Council of Defense is compiling the record of Marylanders who gave their lives for their country in the war. The list will be used for a memorial, and it is earnestly desired that it shall be complete and correct.

The list published is only a preliminary list, subject to corrections and additions. It is not possible at present to get from Washington a complete list for the State. For this reason the present list is published, with the request that the Historical Division be informed of errors and omissions. It is hoped that the families and friends of those who died in the service will appreciate the spirit of this undertaking—the great desire of the state to perpetuate the memory of its noble sons and daughters who made the supreme sacrifice—and will recognize it as a duty to assist in compiling the record.

The Historical Division wants the name of every person once a Marylander, even though later removed from the State, who died in the war, in whatever branch of service in or with the military or naval forces of the United States or of the Allies, whether death was in battle or of disease or by accident or other cause; whether overseas or in this country; whether before or after the entry of the United States into the war.

The information required at once includes Name, Rank, Branch of Service, Name and Address of Next of Kin. Wherever the list is incomplete or incorrect in any of these particulars it is requested that the correct information be sent promptly to the HISTORICAL DIVISION, MARYLAND COUNCIL OF DEFENSE, 725 FIDELITY BLDG., BALTIMORE, MD.

The names presented in the Sunday Sun from this county were as follows:

Private Walter Luik, Betterton.
Wayman Parker, colored.
John Scott, Millington.
Alwyn Hanson Stavely.
Thomas Kemp Bordley.
Maxwell Ryan.
Edward White, Worton.
Henry Dahlfield, Chestertown.
Henry Doshfield, Chesterville.
James Dukey, Chesterville.
