Fellowship House seeks 800 members

Fellowship House set its goal at 800 new members in its kick-off drive held at 1 West, Saturday.

Dr. Jessie Colson, who presided at the luncheon session told 75 campaign workers that the plan is for a hard but short drive which will bring in the needed members by April 29.

• • •

SAMUEL DANIELS, Grand Master of Masons, who spoke to the luncheon guests pointed to the many seeds which Fellowship House meets, one of the greatest being the opportunity to know and understand people of all groups.

Mr. Daniels pointed out that while there are believers and non-believers in total democracy, there's a large area which can be swayed either way. Only organizations like Fellowship House can be effective in convincing them to the right way of thinking, he said.

MISS RUTH FEGLEY, director of Fellowship House, told the group that the only need to put a solid base under Fellowship House is to want to. "Fellowship House is here to stay...but would like a little more security and a little less day-to-day worry".

Fellowship members attending and who will work included:

Mesdames Adah Veney, Loretta Watty, Margaret Buddin, Catherine Gross, Edward Holmfren, Cecelia Bass, Ruth Butcher, Lillian Watty, Judith Berowitz, Dorothy Brooks, Gertrude Nitzberg.

Mesdames Adah Jenkins, Goldie Henderson, Simon H. Carter, Alexander Stark, Shirley Polikoff, Genevieve Field, Louise Lassiter, Ruth Redwine,

Mesdames Gene Noble, Yvonne Payne, Eva Creigler, Hazel Elberg, Sara Rackmales, Mildred Jons, Genevieve Wisner, Cyrus Marshall, Sr., Phoebe Goff;

Misses Martha Campbell, Ora Williams, Kate Layton, Beverly Givens, Elizabeth Pickens, Alice Sundberg, Mary Jane Simpson, Katherine Gorsuch, Dorothy Grager, Juanita Young;

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Henson, Dr. Robert J. Hill, Clarence Roberts, Silven Nitzberg, Don Blomquist, Chuck Mossburg, Leonard Crosby and R. Lawrence Waters.

CD expansion plan to be protested

Interested citizens are set appear before the Board of Estimates at 9:30 a.m. today (Friday), to protest some expansion plans of the new civil defense organization now headed by Robert O. Bonnell.

Mr. Bonnell is expected to ask for a deputy director and three aids is other categories. This was to have been place before the board Wednesday...but Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin was absent due to illness.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Caroline Ramsey and Howard H. Murphy, Interracial Commission and State Welfare Board members, respectively, appeared as private citizens to protest particularly a deputy director of civil defense.

Mr. Murphy reminded that civil defense had been transferred to jurisdiction of the Fire Department, and to start adding civilian employees would merely bring a repetition of the previous undesirable status.

MRS. FLORENCE RINGGOLD and Mrs. Mabel Driver, right, were among hostesses when the Gardenia Club held its annual dance at the Alcazar, Friday evening.

Mrs. Woolridge's parties honor daughter, Pearlena

Immediately following the Me-De-So Ball on Friday evening, Mrs. Pearlena Lewis Woolridge of this city and New York, entertained at a formal breakfast party in honor of her daughter, Miss Pearlena Woolridge.

Miss Woolridge made her debut at the ball, held earlier in the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

While guests were seated at group tables, the tables for debutantes were especially lovely, decorated with cut flowers and souvenirs.

• • •

MISS WOOLRIDGE presented gifts of a chafing dish to the Me-De-So Club, and tall ebony and silver salt and pepper set to Dr. and Mrs. Albert Laforest.

For the cotillion and her breakfast party, Miss Woolridge wore a lovely gown of silk organza, embroidered with flowers at the side, over taffeta. The high neckline gown was enhanced with a huge stole. Her mother wore deep gold satin with matching accessories, and her sister, Mrs. Charles G. Mixon, an A-line gown.

• • •

GUESTS AT THE breakfast were:

Drs. and Mrs. Percival Smith, Richard Hunt, C. Dudley Lee, Bernard H. Harris, Louis Johnson, I. B. Higgins, Bruce H. Alleyne;

John McCargo, Dr. Lawrence Sykes, Milton Love, Robert Hinton Jr., Lloyd Grey, Jack H. Mathis, William Garner, Vincent Rogers, Edgar Parrish, Walter Jones, Carl Williamson.

• • •

ON SATURDAY evening Mrs. Woolridge entertained in her Alto Road home in honor of her weekend guests from New York, Dr. Hilda O. Fortune, Carl Williamson and Edgar Parrish.

Dr. Fortune is professor of sociology and head of the personnel service department of Brooklyn College. Mr. Williamson, an author, is supervisor in the Department of Public Welfare; and Mr. Parrish, an instructor of mentally retarded children in a NYC High School.

Dinner guests included:

Messrs. and Mesdames John Jackson, Edgar Murphy, Henry Evans, Wellington Ross, Frank Boston, A. Paul Moss of this city; Miss Gwendolyn Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurt, Mrs. Charles Mixon, Miss Woolridge, also of this city; and John Walker of Philadelphia.

MISS PEARLENA WOOLRIDGE, daughter of Mrs. Pearlena Lewis Woodridge of this city and New York, and Dr. T. J. Woolridge of this city, is shown at the cotillion at which she was presented. Later she was honoree at a breakfast party given by her mother.

MRS. FLORENCE RINGGOLD and Mrs. Mabel Driver, right, were among hostesses when the Gardenia Club held its annual dance at the Alcazar, Friday evening.

Silhouettes dance has Parisienne air

"Strictly top drawer" is the phrase that best describes that evening of Gaiete a la Parisienne given by the Kappa Silhouettes at Cherry Hill Union Hall, Friday.

The affair was a small intimate one to which guests came on time, danced every dance, and stayed until the very last note had been played.

• • •

IN KEEPING with their theme, the ladies decorated the bandstand with paintings of French poodles, pompon girls, and sidewalk cafes and his Pyramids to play a few French melodies along with other favorites from their repertoire.

Two teen-age hostesses, Misses Sheila Durant and Joan Patterson, further carried out the continental theme by dressing in typical Parisian attire and showing guests to their tables.

Hostesses were Mesdames Anita Watson, Mary Ammons, Ruth Wilson, Juanita Harris, Marian Haynes, Dorothy Johnson, Ruth Ross, Evelyn Hightower, Viola Tallaferro, Bernice Nickens;

Mesdames Doris Tarter, Bernice Brown, Marian Russell, Betty Mello, Jean Adams, Clever Pog, Mgdlene Rice, Hilda Wallace, Roberta Briscoe, Eleanor Tildon, Leila Ray, Barbara Sullivan, Tamara Clapp, Ann Davis, Sylvia Webster, and Shirley Colvin.
