Miss Barbara Clanton to wed James Watts

With Lula Jones Garrett

The engagement of Barbara Louise Clanton to James Arthur Watts has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis J. Clanton.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Dunbar High School and Morgan State College is a teacher at Southern High School. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mitchell, of Vaughn, N.C., and the late Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel O. Clanton of the same city.

Mr. Watts, also a graduate of Dunbar and Morgan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Watts of this city, and grandson of Mrs. Daisy Watts and the late James D. Watts of Lancaster, S.C., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Garrett of Blacksburg, S.C.

He was basileus of Pi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity while at Morgan, and is now on tour of service with the Armed Forces.

A May wedding is planned.

Sunday afternoon, the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Burnett, Jr., was a beehive of activity.

The general planning committee of the Maryland Dental Society and the Ladies Auxiliary were finalizing plans for their gala charity ball "Paris in the Springtime" which will be held May 1 in the Blue Crest North.

The affair will be a benefit for the Provident Hospital Building Fund, and the committee members are really beaming over that reports.

Mrs. Edward McDaniels and Dr. Burnett are general chairmen for the ball, and on the committee are Drs. and Mesdames Billy Davis, Dennis Tribble, Bernard H. Christmas, Robert Phillips, Bernard H. Christmas, George Woodland and Bruce Alleyne.

Dr. Charles Johnson and Mrs. Billy Davis are presidents of the Society and Auxiliary, respectively.

MEMBERS OF the Couples Club heard detailed plans for their annual outing to be held at Braxton Hall on the Eastern Shore, Sunday. The date is June 20th.

The report was given by the chairman, Seretha Greene, during the club's April meeting in the beautiful new home of Hiram and Bea Butler on Mohawk Avenue.

Joseph Thomas, the club's investment counselor, brought broad smiles to the faces of the members with his optimistic report of a booming stock market. He gave an item-by-item report on the club's stock portfolio and mutual fund shares.

Among guests at cocktails and dinner which followed the business session was Juette (Mrs. Ernest) Neal, cousin of Delaphine Warrington, and house guest of the Warrington. Incidentally she is a native of Richmond, Va.

The Neals are back in the states after 10 years of living abroad, where Mr. Neal, who is with USAID, has been serving in India, the Philippines, Liberia, and recently in Sierra Leone.

Other guests were Letilia and Calvin Ashe, neighbors of the Butlers, and Lula Patterson.

Members present were Adele and Ben Foreman, Seretha and Lonnie Greene, Delaphine and Tom Warrington, Vernice and Medford Reynolds, Ethel and John Rich, Yvette and Jim Murphy, Cliff Mackay and William Stanford.

Mrs. Stanford had entrained for Miami Beach, Fla., where she was joined next day by Mr. Stanford, who flew down. He is attending a conference of mathematics teachers, there. While they are ensoned in a Miami hotel they will also be guests of Eliabeth Telley of this City and Miami, and take a look at Nassau ere returning.

TAKE AN attractive setting pleasant people, music, laughter and the added frill of delicious food, and you have all the makings for a marvelous evening.

These were what Josephine Brown and Agnes Reeves provided for that special party for We Wives, husbands and guests, Saturday evening.

Members and husbands who shared this evening were Adelle and Ben Foreman, Ruby and Leonard Reid, Margery and Vernon Prout, Ada and Warrell Weaver, Bettye and Paul Moss, Iris and Lawrence Mapp, Owen and Glenn Tarter, Ivy and Sherlock Grinage, Mae and Walter Dyson, Ivy and Sherlock Grinage, Verniece and Medford Reynolds, Margaret and Theodore Hythe, Roberta and Iglehart Keels, Priscilla and Gaines Lansey, Walter Brown and J. C. Reaves. The session was in the Reaves' home.

IF YOU passed the Elegante Room on a pleasant Sunday afternoon (April 15th) and thought that a family affair was the order of the day, then you had the right idea. The Mondawmin Child Study Group had a delightful family dinner.

There were games for the children, talk for the adults, and dinner for everyone. Besides, the juvenile hobbyists (and a few adults, too) put their creative products on display.

The interesting hobby exhibition included:

Sharon Bouldin's sewing

MISS CAROLYN MONTAGUE

Hamm - Montague

Mrs. Elsie Montague Spivery, annoncces the engagement of her daughter Carolyn Montague to Frank Hamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Hamm, Jr.

Miss Montague is a graduate of Dunbar High School and Cortez Peters Business School. She is also a member of Alpha Delta Chapter, Chi Rho International Sorority. Mr. Hamm is a graduate of Douglass High.

The wedding is planned for April 20, 1964, Simmons Memorial Baptist Church, Penna. and Cumberland.

QUEEN AND HER COMPANY—Kappa Chapter, Iota Phi Lambda closed its Business Week with a career clinic last Friday at the Cortez W. Peters Business School. One of the features was crowning of "Miss Iota Phi Lambda," the best fund-raiser. The "Queen" and her runners-up are Pamela Widgeon, 2nd place; Queen Rachel Ballard, Paula Gardner, 3rd place, and Althea Lee, 4th place. The affair was held to benefit the Sorority's Scholarship Fund. The chapter gives scholarships to young women who wish to further their training in business.

Neal Brockington's photography work (neal practiced his skill at the affair), Flan and Eric Couch's trophies for baseball - playing, Cheryl Gregory's stamp - collecting, Bobby Lockley's drawing group), Harry Carpenter's mosaic work, George Miles' photographs of his pals, Keith Neal's Army collection.

Denise and Lisa Rogers' paintings, Carlton Rice's model illustrating the production of a television program, Rodney Alston's model airplane and boat display, Cindy Green's doll collection, Caroie Boston's poems and pictures.

A special feature of the program was the Travel Hour, moderated by Knud Diidriksen of Cook's Travel Agency. During the delightful viewing of "Carribbean Cruise" and "The New York World's Fair," everyone dared to take flight on his magic carpet.

Toastmaster Harry Bruce, President Leona Carpenter, Vice - president Joyce Neal, and Family Day Chairman Madge Rice — and everyone present — declared the evening a success and expressed their excited anticipation for a similar activity in 1965.

The following families participated: Wilbur Alston, Joseph Boston, Leroy Bouldin, McNeal Brockington, Harry Bruce, Harry Carpenter, Flan Couch, David Glenn, Sampson Green, Clarence Gregory, Robert Lockley, George Miles, Wendell Neal, Charles Rice, and Earl Rogers.

Delightful is the word for the luncheon - fashion showcard party, given by the Baltimore Junior Club of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Saturday.

The affair was held in the Elegante Room, and even the weatherman cooperated with a beautiful day for the gathering at which the group entertained their national advisor, Mrs. Ethel M. Moore of Newark, N. J.

Some 200 parents and friends of the young women, along with special guests, the juniors from New Jersey and Washington clubs, Miss Inez V. Redmond, one of the founders, Miss E. Frances Johnson, third president, and Mesdames Zerita Skates and LaNita Blake, charter members, attended.

When it became apparent that the securing of fashions from one of the stores would not be possible, the girls and their guests raided their own wardrobes to stage the presentation. In fact, many of the clothes shown had been made by members themselves.

Guest models were Mesdames Celeste Myers and Esther Brooks, and Miss Gwendolyn Biddle. Mildred Dorsey, a member, and a professional model, coordinated the show and served as commentator. Presiding was the radiant former Phyllis Smith, who has just been Mrs. Paul R. Hathaway for a week. Mrs. Edna D. Johnson is Club sponsor, and Mesdames Roslyn Catin and Hilda P. Smith are advisors.

Members of the club are: Jewell Augustin, Clara Booker, Peggy Brooks, Veronica Case, Sybil Cooke, Rita Cooper, Beth Cryor, Kathryn Davenport, Savannah De Rivera, Mildred Dorsey,

Dannette Gray, Cynthia Grooms, Shirley Harper, Jewel Hart, Phyllis Hathaway, Brenda Haywood, Carolyn James, Stephanie Johnson,

Jacqueline Murphy, Joyce Patterson, Gloria Ragsdale, Rebecca Rawlings, Barbara Robertson, Mattie Sanders, Harriett Thomas, Janice Tillman, Deborah Wainwright, and Bernice Williams.

Out-of-town guests were:

Misses Frances Olds, East Orange, N.J.; Janet Jones and Lillie Brooks, Newark, N. C.; Vera Clay, Jean Lewis, Joan Franklin, Doris Jackson and Geneva Holley Washington; Janet Johnson Pittsburgh, Pa. and Saundra George of New York City.

THE RESIDENT coeds of Morgan State College extended their hospitality by inviting off campus coeds, who otherwise would not have the privilege of living in a dormitory, to be their weekend guests over the past weekend.

They shared their facilities throughout the four women's residence halls and in the refectory, and added to the delight of their guests a pajajma party in each dormitory, midnight snacks, gab sessions, sessions on girl talk, weenie roasts, coke sips, and television and potato chips.

To add to the enjoyment, a talent show was given in the Student Union to which young men, as well as young women, were invited. The talent was provided by the visiting coeds and was enjoyed by faculty, staff, and student body.

When the visitors arrived on Friday afternoon, there was a brief registration period before dinner. Greetings were extended to the visitors by Dr. Thelma P. Bando, Dean of Women, and Miss Evelyn McLeod, president of the Women's Dormitory Council, the organization that sponsored the weekend activity.

On Saturday afternoon, Dr. Bands entertained all visiting guests, faculty, and friends at a reception in Tubman House. On Sunday morning, the visitors attended chapel services at the Morgan Christian Center.

After chapel services, covers were laid in the Memorial Refectory for the campus girls and the off campus guests.

Following dinner, informal socializing with campus residents completed the weekend for off campus students who returned to their homes after having spent a relaxing weekend on campus.

The officers of the dormitory council are: Evelyn McLeod, president; Angella Current, vice president; Diane Thomas, secretary; Valentina Ball, assistant secretary; Jacqueline Morris, treasurer.
