UNNECESSARY CALLS

DOESN'T it seem strange that the telephone company should ask you not to make unnecessary calls?

THERE was a time when the telephone company openly and consistently advocated free use of the wires, even for social conversations. But times have changed. Let's get the big job cleaned up first and do our social and non-essential talking later.

WE must still save telephone calls in order to conserve labor and materials. As to what is an unnecessary call, it should not be hard for each to decide that for himself.
