Cephas Is Elected

RICHMOND

Richmond got its first colored councilman in 34 years in the election Tuesday of B. A. (Sonny) Cephas Jr., a real estate dealer and member of the Department the city's most influential election day organization. Each of their nine recommended candidates was elected.

Mr. Cephas remained in the winning group of nine out of 21 candidates from the moment of the first of the city's 68 precinct were reported.

He became Richmond's second colored councilman. Atty. Oliver W. Hill served a two-year term when elected in 1948.

MR. CEPHAS was running on the Richmond Forward ticket which at 11 o'clock had taken six of the nine mainder going to the ICP slate.

About his election, Mr. Cephas said:

"Citizens of Richmond have shown their confidence in me, an honor which I certainly appreciate. I will try to live up to this confidence and serve the office to the best of my ability.

"I was pleased to see the strong citizenry interest in this campaign and hope that this good government awareness will continue."

MAYOR Eleanor Sheppard led the group of winners. She was followed by Wheat, Cephas, Anderson, Miller, Crowe Bagley, Hebenicht and Throckmorton.

Special appeal campaign activity became decidedly more feverish after the weekend announcement of the Crusade recommendations.

The Crusade, taking a surprise position, had divided its support between the strongly contending Richmond Forward and Independent Citizens Ticket (incumbents) camps.

It gave the nod to five RF candidates, B.A. Cephas, Morrill M. Crowe, Henry R. Miller, Mayor Eleanor P. Sheppard, and James C. Wheat; and to four ICT candidates, A. Scott Anderson, Phil J. Bagley Jr., Robert C. Heberle and Robert C. Throckmorton.

C. DUDLEY LEE JR. M.D., son of Dr. and Mrs. C. Dudley Lee Sr., received the doctor of medicine degree from the University of Maryland School of Medicine Saturday. Dr. Lee Jr. and his wife, the former Peggy Wiseman of Washington, and their son, C. Dudley Lee 3rd, will be leaving for Chicago the end of this month, where he will interne at the Passavant Memorial Hospital.

getting out working to win."

IT WAS difficult to deter mine whether the long applause that followed was for Mr. Nixon's encouraging remark or for an appreciation of Mr. Truman's courage.

Mr. Nixon conceded that President Johnson will be a strong man to beat, but charged that in the strength of Lyndon Johnson, is his weekness.

"Martin Luther King can come in to see President one day and Senator Eastland the next, and both would come out saying the President is on his side," he said.

America need es more than a wheeler and dealer in the White House.

Mr. Nixon steered clear of the Goldwater candidacy in his address, but told newsmen before and afterwards he had gotten an agreement George W. Romney that he would bid for the GOP Presidential nomination.

While he was saying this here in Maryland, Gov. Romney was back in his home state saying he would not enter the race.

Mr. Nixon neither put himself in the race here nor took himself out of it.

Police chief calls minister 'a lie;' arrest 2 in Tuscaloosa

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., (UPI) — A threatened demonstration by 300 persons was broken up Thursday by police who barricaded the street, surrounded a church and arrested the leaders including two inside the church.

Police Chief William Marable angrily berated the Rev. T. Y. Rogers, one of the leaders, for telling reporters the church was under "Seige."

Marable, who ordered his men to go inside the church and arrest two other leaders, told another minister, "You are nothing but a professional agitator and you're going to jail."

SEVEN PERSONS were arrested. Five were connected with the planned demonstration and two others said they were Black Muslims reporting for a publication of their organization.

Harold Middlebrook and Otis Flournoy, both companions of Rogers, were arrested inside the church. Marable then ordered those inside to disperse.

He promised them if they left peacefully they would not be "Molested."

They filed out slowly.

A FEW MINUTES earlier, Marable and Rogers had stood outside in the blazing 100 - degree heat under an oak tree and discussed the demonstration that had been scheduled to take place at noon.

"Rogers, are you serious about this thing (demonstration) or are you playing? If you are not going to do what you say, then shut up," Marable said.

"You tell us you are going to march and then change the time when you are supposed to march. You call the press and tell them the church is under siege," Marable said. "That's another lie."

Rogers then sought assurances the marchers would be safe if they left the church and Marable said they would be.

ABOUT 150 officers carrying cattle prods and nightsticks surrounded the church, wheeled up two water hoses and barricaded the street.

Scores of silent white spectators gathered behind the barricades to watch the confrontation, a similar showdown earlier in the week led to mass arrests and the use of tear gas by the police to flush the protestors from another church.

The Rev. James Bevel, wearing his traditional garb of denim and a skull cap, was the first minister arrested when he appeared outside the church.

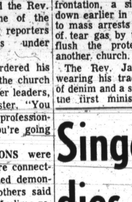
POLICE CHIEF Marable told Bevel, "You are nothing but a professional agitator and you're going to jail."

The Rev. Richard Boone and a man identified as Robert Clark then were jailed when they emerged. They, along with Bevel, were charged with vagrancy.

Two who said they were members of the Black Muslims and identified themselves as James X and Billy X were taken into custody despite their protests that they were reporters for a publication published by the group.

Singer collapses, dies after song



MORRIS L. ARCHIE SR.

CAMDEN, N. J. — Because he loved to sing, Morris L. Archie Sr., a 52-year-old gospel singer of considerable repute, literally sang until he died.

Mr. Archie, who had been suffering from a heart ailment for five years, collapsed, Sunday, while singing with the Twilight Gospel Singers at Wesley AME Zion Church.

The group was doing a rendition of the gospel hymn, "There's a Bright Side Somewhere."

Rushed to West Jersey Hospital, the singer was pronounced dead on arrival. Doctors say death was due to "a coronary occlusion."

MRS. NORMA ARCHIE, the former Miss Braxton, told the AFRO that her husband knew of his heart condition, but despite this knowledge continued to sing with the group.

Mr. Archie also sang with the "Northeaniers," a relied force construction worker, an Army veteran of World War II, a member of the Progressive Cheerio Club, and the Mount Olivet Seventist Church, 1916 S. Seventh St.

BESIDE HIS wife, he is survived by four sons, Morris Archie Jr., Vaughn, Angelo, and Bruce; seven daughters, Beryl, Dietra, Camille, Tanya, Angelique, Simonne, and Adrienne; two stepsons, Donald Braxton, and Malcom; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Corrine Smith; two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Proctor and Mrs. Loraine Streeter; one brother, Henry Archie; and nine grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Mount Olivet Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1916 S. Seventh St. Elder R. W. Newman officiated. Interment was in the National Cemetery, Beverly, N. J.

Rights worker bares beatings

JACKSON, Miss., (UPI) — A civil rights organization said Wednesday five colored persons were beaten by officers at Columbus, Miss., as they were en route to civil rights meeting in Atlanta.

The Council of Federated organizations (COFO) said the colored persons, all workers for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, (SNCC) were stopped Monday at Columbus and taken to the Lowndes County Jail where they were assaulted by officers.

COFO said the five were released Wednesday after spending a night in jail. They said the driver of the car in which they were riding was fined $12 on charges of reckless driving.

They listed the victims, who said they were not seriously hurt, as Sam Block, William Peacock and James Jones of Greenwood, Miss., and Charles McLaurin and James Black, the driver, from Ruleville, Miss.

They were en route to Atlanta from Greenwood.

Columbus authorities said they had no record of the incident.

Martyred CORE aide's widow, 2 tots picket

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The widow of martyred CORE leader Rev. Bruce Klunder and her two children were among 75 persons who picketed a meeting of the national governors here Wednesday.

The young widow's husband was crushed to death a half - dozer while demonstrating at a school site earlier this year. With Mrs. Klunder Wednesday was her daughter, Janice 6 and son, Douglas, 3.

The local CORE chapter sponsored the picketing at the Sheraton - Cleveland Hotel, headquarters for the National Governors Conference.

MANY OF the 75 demonstrators carried signs declaring "Lousche (Sen. Frank J.) Must Go," "Ohio's Governor Disgusting," "Ohio welfare means hunger," and "governors, come and see the ghetto."

The picket gathered at the Tom L. Johnson Memorial in the public square and about a half - hour later began demonstrating at the hotel.

Ruth Turner, executive secretary for CORE, said the group was "picketing to focus attention on problems swept aside by the Governors Conference."

FORTY GOVERNORS8 26 democrats and 14 republicans, Wednesday signed a statement calling for "prompt enactment of civil rights legislation and their leaders hailed the senate's vote to impose cloture on the senate debate.

Two other republican governors, New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller and Minnesota's Tim Babcock, were pictured as sharing the sentiment of the statement. They earlier had cosponsored a GOP resolution identical to Wednesday's statement.

Govs. Mark Hatfield, Oregon Republican and Edward T. Breathitt, Kentucky democrat, told a news conference they were elated by Congressman's 71 - 29 vote for cloture, which will restrict further debate on the rights bill.

Johnson seen reappointing Duncan as DCC commissioner

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) —John B. Duncan, the District of Columbia's first colored Commissioner, is almost certain to be picked by President Johnson for a second term, informed sources said Saturday.

Mr. Duncan, 54, a native of Springfield, Ky., was appointed to the three - man board that runs the Nation's Capital by the late President Kennedy. He was appointed for a three - year term on July 24, 1961.

At the weekend, he apparently had a clear field for reindidate was known to be actively bidding for the $19,000-a-year job.

THE WHITE HOUSE was expected to send Mr. Duncan's name to the Senate for confirmation before the end of the month.

Mr. Duncan has the support of the District Democratic National Committee. Joseph Rauh, chairman of the committee, told reporters he had "every reason to believe" Duncan would be reappointed without opposition.

Last month, Mr. Duncan polled 40,386 votes on the winning ticket for delegate to the Democratic National Convention at Atlantic City, N. J., in August.

He has often been pictured as a man who would "rather work than go to the movies." He often shows up for work at dawn and stays at his desk until 8 or 9 p.m.

REVIEWING accomplishments in Washington, since appointment as no other cannot, he joined the three - man Board of commissioners, Mr. Duncan said 14,000 nonwhites are now working for the city, some 1,200 of them in GS-5 level jobs ($4,690 to $6,130 annually) and above.

Three years ago, there were about 10 colored persons serving on local examining boards and advisory groups. Today, according to Mr. Duncan, there are about 160.

Mr. Duncan recently told a rally at the Bible Way Church that Washington has lowered one racial barrier after another during the past three years. "I pledge the D. C. government to continue and to accelerate progress," he said. "We are going to build a color - blind city."

WASHINGTON —Atty. Gen Robert F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will address the fifth World Assembly of Youth which convenes at the University of Massachusetts July 31 through Aug. 12.

CLEVELAND — Garfield W. Hooper, 53, last week was elected commander of the Cuyahoga County Council of Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has been a member of the council 15 years.

TO JAIL AGAIN — The Rev Martin Luther King, closely followed by Rev. Ralph Abernathy, enters police car after his arrest on trespassing charges Thursday. St. Augustine police chief Virgil Stuart made the arrets on a complaint filed by the manager of the Monson Motel, where King and several others attempted a restaurant sit-in.

Dr. King arrested in Florida

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was arrested with seven other persons Thursday afternoon as he defied death threats to lead a new wave of anti-segregation demonstrations here.

Among those taken into custody with King was his chief lieutenant Dr. Ralph Abernathy, and three white persons including the Rev. William England, an aide at Boston University.

Shortly after the King-led task force had been sped off to jail in screaming squad cars, a second wave of demonstration sought service at the day's target, a segregated motor lodge restaurant.

THE SECOND group of some 11 persons was also refused service and arrested when the demonstrators insisted. More teams were expected at the restaurant. The demonstrators were charged with violating trespass laws.

The rapid-fire arrests by St. Augustine Sheriff L. O. Davis' deputies, who occasionally taunted colored onlookers with calls for "more volunteers" were calm and orderly.

But the calm is expected to be short-lived. Kings has promised to follow up his arrest with "massive marches," and Sheriff Davis has promised to tolerate very little of "this messing around."

THE QUIET of Wednesday's opening skirmish also contrasted sharply with demonstrations of the past two days which ended in violence. Some 12 persons were injured in white mob attacks Wednesday.

Dr. King served notice last week that this showdown battle was ahead. Shortly before the announcement, a cottage near here being used as headquarters by King was shot-up and burned.

Also the automobile in which one of Dr. King's aides was riding was fired on. The assistant was not injured.

The incidents prompted a plea to Atty. General Robert Kennedy for federal marshals.

JUST BEFORE his 14th arrest Wednesday as a freedom fight leader, Dr. King told reporters "I am here to be in vain and die a dog. I am going to do whatever I can if it means marching or demonstrating or whatever it is. I was willing before but I am more than ever now. He gave his life. I want to gave my time — my life if necessary."

Medgar Evers slain 1 year this week, slayer still free

By BERNICE BASS

Friday, June 12th will mark the first anniversary of the brutal ambush slaying of Medgar Evers, Mississippi state secretary for the NAACP.

Mr. Evers had just returned to his Jackson, Miss., home from a civil rights rally.

After parking his car, he started into his house carrying a bundle of T shirts across the front of which had been stamped the words "Jim Crow Must Go!" The shirts were to be distributed for a civil rights demonstration the next day.

WITHOUT WARNING, a rifle shot rang out from a honeysuckle thicket approximately 150 feet from the house. Evers fell mortally wounded; shot by an unknown assailant.

Medgar Evers last visited the New York - New Jersey metropolitan area in the fall of 1962.

During an interview with Bernice Bass on her WABC "Community Corner" program, Mr. Evers cautioned the people living outside the South not to be so "apathetic about the fact that things might not be as difficult in the places where they live as hev are in the South."

He also reminded them not to forget he fact that many of their relatives still live in places like Georgia, South Carolina, etc.

HE SAID, "And if we are our brother's keeper, then we should do something up here to make things easier for people down there."

When quetied as to what people not living in the South could do to help, Medgar replied, "Inasmuch as colored people in Miss. died trying to get the right to vote here in New Jersey — or wherever one happens to live above the Mason-Dixon line where it is easier to register and vote, certainly these people should go down to register and vote.

"And vote into office or into our Congress those type men who would certainly be representative of our feelings and ease the situation that we have and must men like Eastland and others who control high ranking political committee posts. This is one thing that our people can do to help lessen the burden."

Medgar Evers also spoke of the tremendous race potential in the state of Mississippi, not to speak of the entire South. He elaborated further by saying, "I have said this repeatedly, once we are able to vote in numbers, we will have a state—as far as equality goes — better than New York state because we constitute 43 percent of the state's population. In many counties in Miss., colored people out number whites relative to voting.

"In 29 counties in the state we have more colored than we have whites. Of course, it is just the reverse in other counties as it relates to the colored and white ratio."

In his book, "Fight for Freedom" (the story of the NAACP), Langston Hughes relates how Medgar Evers was drafted into the Army during World War II before he finished high school.

He served with a port battalion in Belgium and France. After surviving the Normandy "D" Day invasion by Allied forces to liberate the French from Nazi domination, Medgar Evers returned to his home town of Decatur, Miss.

LAST WEEKEND, many top commanders and thousands of the men who served under them in the Normandy invasion met in France in commemoration of the 20th anniversary of this historic event. It is ironic that one of them, Medgar Eyers, who offered his life to preserve the freedom of the French on foreign soil lost that life when he returned to his home land and attempted to secure the same freedom for other Americans of color.

IMMEDIATELY upon his return to his home state, Medgar Evers was slugged in a bus just after it had pulled out of the station in Meridian, Miss. He was struck in the face by a white man who pursued the city bus in his cab and stopped the vehicle because he noticed Evers sitting in a front seat. The plight of the cotton-growing workers in the rural areas affected him deeply.

He set up a branch of the NAACP in Cleveland, Miss. in the heart of the plantation country and reorganized the moribund unit in Mound Bayou. He took part in the voter registration movement that led to the shotgun death of the Rev. George W. Lee, the wounding of Gus Courts and the terrorization of Dr. T. R. M. Howard and his own brother, Charles James Evers.

Both Dr. Howard and his brother were forced to leave the state.

Medgar Evers remained although he was warned that his name was at the top of the death list of the White Citizens Council ever since he became NAACP field secretary in 1955. Only a few weeks before his death, somebody tossed a gasoline-filled bottle onto his carport. But it did not explode. The next day, Medgar Evers said, "If I die, I will be in a good cause. I've been fighting for America just as much as the soldier in Viet Nam."

WHEN ASKED WHY he continued to live in Miss., native-born Evers replied, "The state is beautiful. It is home. A man's state is like his home. If he has defects, he tries to remedy them. That's what my job is...

"I live here to better it for my wife and kids and for all the wives and all the kids who expect, and deserve, something better than they are getting from life."

After his death, among the thousands of message received by his widow was a letter from President Kennedy which said in part, "...

MEDGAR EVERS

BRYON de la BECKWITH

Although comforting thoughts are difficult at a time like this, surely there can be some solace in the recollection of the justice of the cause for which your husband gave his life. Achievement of these goals he did so much to promote will enable his children and the generations to follow to share fully and equally in the benefits and advantages of our nation has to offer."

Accused of the slaying but not convicted after two hung juries was Carl Beckwith, a notorious racist and White Citizens Council agitator.

In explaining her decision to have Medgar Evers buried in Arlington National Cemetery, the widow states, "I feel that Medgar didn't belong to Jackson or Mississippi but to the nation. I want colored people everywhere to know he died because he believed in the cause."

Mrs. Evers is determined that her husband's death will not be in vain and she said, "I am going to do whatever I can if it means marching or demonstrating or whatever it is. I was willing before but I am more than ever now. He gave his life. I want to gave my time — my life if necessary."

Dr. Eugene Blake to keynote county interracial rally

The Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church of America, will be keynote speaker at a public rally to spark a membership drive of the newly formed Anne Arundel League for Human Rights at Severna Park High School, June 18, at 8 p.m.

Nationally known for his leadership in the civil rights movement Dr. Blake joins with a grass roots movement in Anne Arundel County of citizens interested in building an inter-racial group dedeated to extending equal rights and opportunities to all citizens of the county.

Buddy Young, retired Baltimore football star, will also appear at the rally, and Baltimore's East Side Community Singers will be the guest entertainers

UNDER THE leadership of provisional president Rabbi Stanley T. Relkin, and vice-president Reverend William H. Peters, the League months ago in order to promote civil rights and fair employment practices.

The league will also encourage equal and integrated public education and housing facilities for all.

Intended as an outlet for citizen interest in the cuase of civil rights and better government in their country, the Anne Arundel League was formed by an interracial group of clergymen and laymen of many faths.

Petersburg will step up boycott

PETERSBURG, Va. —Civil rights leaders said here than an economic boycott of downtown stores would be intensified.

The announcement came after a mass meeting by approximately 400 persons.

"Test teams" used to spot instances of segregation in public facilities reported a "primarily negative" survey.

Out of 15 public type facilities checked, the test teams brought back only one favorable report, according to David Gunter, spokesman for the civil rights group backing the economic boycott.

THE "TELEGRAM" was sent to Robert Kennedy early Wednesday following new threats on Dr. King's life. The telegram, which pleaded for federal protection, said in part:

"It is crystal clear that that not very much concern for his (Dr. King) life is evidenced by the government. It is our hope that this deplorable situation will be immediately corrected."

DALLAS, Texas — Dr. J. L. Patton Jr., local high school principal, has been named to the Dallas Public Library board of trustees — the first of his race to be so honored.
