● The Orioles

worked bullpen crew;

(3) It removed the advantage held by the Sox in number of games played, and (4) it proved the Birds have their own answer to the White Sox claim of superior pitching.

After dropping a 2-1 decision to Minnesota, Baltimore hurlers Milt Pappas and Wally Bunker strongarmed the remaining games, 2 - 0 and 4 - 1.

Any club that limits the power - packed Twins to one run in 18 innings, undoubtedly boasts rare talent in the mound.

BUT THE most important factor, and the one which contains the hidden value, is the removal of the games-played advantage which Chicago manager Al Lopez has made over so much. Baltimore has two more games to play than Chicago in the remaining schedule. The Yankees have four more.

Although the Orioles open tonight in Los Angeles against an Angels team flushed by two straight over the Yankees, Bauer and Co., know that the two games they must make up to match the White Sox are evened off in the "lost" column.

CHICAGO has lost two more games than Baltimore (55 to 53) and has won the same number (81). This means that, even should tragedy strike and they drop the two makeup games, the Birds will still be even.

And the other part of the hidden value lies in the fact that as long as there are two extra games to play, they always can be won.

HERO OF the Minnesota series, of course, was Pappas. The fireballing right-hander, continuing his brilliant form of recent weeks, was only four outs from a no-hitter in the Wednesday night contest with the fearsome Twins, when shortston Zoilo Versalles spoiled it with a single to left.

And Milt goes Sunday, and again Thursday.

Get out the checkbook, Dad.

THE MAZIQUES

WASHINGTON Dr. Edward Mazique, a prominent District physician, was awarded an absolute divorce from his wife, Jewell, on grounds of desertion, Wednesday.

Domestic Relations Judge John Burnett granted the divorce, the grounds of which were contested by Mrs. Mazique who had filed a countersuit for divorce against her husband.

Judge Burnett refused to hear Mrs. Mazique's charges against her husband raised in the other case, stating it was too late in the proceedings to consolidate the two cases.

DR. MAZIQUE charged that Mrs. Mazique deserted him Nov. 7, 1961. Her defense was that she was forced to leave their home at 1824 Upshur St., NW because of cruel acts which he denied.

At the outset, the physician offered Mrs. Mazique a settlement of $400 a month for their two children, custody of the two children, payment of $11,000 on the home where Mrs. Mazique now resides at 4443 13th St., NE and a Highland Beach home.

Acting as her own attorney Mrs. Mazique rejected the settlement, noting through questions asked Dr. Mazique that the proffer did not include the $50,000 nearly debt free Upshur Street home or a cash settlement.

In his ruling, Judge Burnett, who threatened several times to hold Mrs. Mazique in contempt of court for testifying at times when she was acting in the role of lawyer, declared that in his opinion, she was "not entitled to one red cent" in the property agreement.

He described Mrs. Mazique's accusations against the physician as "made out of whole cloth." Judge Burnett expressed belief in the truthfulness of Dr. Mazique's testimony and accused Mrs. Mazique of leaving him with "malice."

Since Dr. Mazique was not seeking custody of the children, he was awarding them to her, Judge Burnett said, and $400 a month for their care, along with visitation rights for the doctor.

Mrs. Mazique said she will appeal the decision.

● Broom

tional Industries for the Blind.

UNDER THE Wagner-O'Day Act—passed in 1938—many brooms and mops used by the government are purchased from non-profit blind industries, like the Maryland Workshop for the Blind.

"Usually, if a shop runs behind on an order, it is supposed to fill the shipment with brooms from another blind concern," the official stated.

The substitution of brooms was brought to light when a Maryland Workshop employee returned unexpectedly during his vacation and witnessed brooms from the Atlantic Southwestern Broom Co. being repackaged for sale to the government.

The worker, George Cooper, is one of six men who face the loss of their jobs because of a proposal to move the local shop to Cumberland.

"The government buys from us in order to give us work," Cooper said. "Buying brooms from a competing company just defeats the government's intention."

A CHECK WITH the Atlantic Southwestern Broom Co. brought an acknowledgement that the firm had sold 2,400 brooms to the Maryland Workshop.

Superintendent of the workshop, William Ratchford, refused to comment on the reason for the purchase from a competing company.

Ratchford has also refused to comment on his reasons for the proposed move of the broom shop to a new work shop now being completed in Cumberland.

Having failed to gain any assurances from Ratchford of steady work if the jobs they have worked at for 15 years are taken from them, the six local workers have enlisted the support of numerous public officials in their cause.

STATE COMPTROLLER Louis L. Goldstein, who made a personal inspection of the blind shop, has assured the workers that he will attempt to get the members of the local board to change their decision to move the operation.

"You can count on my continued concern," Goldstein told the AFRO as he also proposed to check into the substitution of brooms for the government.

In another recent move, board chairman John H. Mudd, announced that he would seek a meeting with the workers within two weeks to hear their grievances.

The Maryland Workshop for the Blind receives $115,000 a year from the state for the purpose of providing work for the blind.

● Welcome

(someone else) that wanted her seat in Annapolis."

McCall was convicted on charges of conspiracy to commit murder (between February and April 1964); attempted murder on March 26; and assault with intent to murder on April 11.

In his statement McCall said that he and two others were to have received $2,000 for their part in the plot, while Curtis King, 43, 1200 block Oakhurst Pl., was to get $5,000.

Still to be tried in the case are:

Del. Ernest D. Young (D., 4th), who is charged with having "commanded" and "planned" the assassination — King, charged with assault and shooting and attempted murder.

Charles Hall, 30, whose address is listed as Little Rock, Ark., and Harold T. Williams, 66, 300 block N. Franklintown Rd., both facing charges of conspiracy, attempted murder and assault with intent to murder.

IN ANOTHER big case this year which involved a missing witness, Del. Young was convicted of obstructing justice after Mrs. Mary Powell failed to show to testify against a suspended police officer charged with bribery.

A key witness in the case, Mrs. Powell was later found by investigators of state's attorney's office following an AFRO story.

Chester W. Tawney, a former member of the House of Delegates, pleaded no contest for his alleged part in the abduction and was given probation before a verdict. He resigned his House seat.

Mrs. Powell during Young's trial in the case claimed: "I didn't even know I was missing until I read the AFRO."
