House Committee backs poll tax ban

WASHINGTON, (UPI)— The House Judiciary Committee Wednesday voted an outright repeal of all state and local poll taxes, opening the way to final committee approval of the Voting Rights Bill.

The action came as the Senate killed another Dixie amendment to the voting rights measure. It voted 62 to 28 against a proposal by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., to require that judiciary action under the bill be handled in local federal district courts rather than in the nation's capital.

The House Committee voted 19-13 against a proposal to attack poll taxes through federal court suits, the approach favored by the administration. That left it with a flat ban on the poll taxes still used in four states plus a strongly worded congressional "finding" that efforts to register voters, such levies are being used to deny the vote to colored citizens.

THE HOUSE Committee put aside poll taxes at its morning meeting to vote on reconsideration of an amendment it approved last week. The proposal, by Rep. Edwin Willis, D-La., would have allowed counties to escape coverage of the Voting Rights Bill even if the states they are part of come under its terms.

What ever became of the gin that was the talk of London in 1769?

It became the toast of the world. England. America. The world! The name is Gordon's. Alexander Gordon's brilliant brainchild. Silky-smooth, icy-dry. Unrivaled in 18th century England. Unmatched after 196 years. Because its cherished formula is still Gordon's alone. Directly descended from the celebrated original that set London buzzing in 1769. And still does.

If YOU Ask ME

BY BETTYE M. MOSS

Mary—a star in inner city

Some - of - my good - friends - are - white - department—but they don't or won't try to understand that their image of the inner city (a 1965 word for slums) is cloudy.

You know, they think people in the inner city are all disadvantaged (a 1965 word for poor), and they all are dumb and colored.

They won't listen, or they close their eyes when you try to explain that many people in the inner city are not dumb although many of us are indeed poor and colored.

And, many of us work hard—actually slave — to get the better things in life just like people in the suburbs who rent us the lousy homes and tell us that dilapidated schools and second-rate jobs are 'good enough for you people.'

All of this is occasioned by the neatly dressed third grader we watched at 8:30 Thursday morning as she walked to school through a small street in Northwest Baltimore.

Her home was clean and so was she. Her white shoes and socks shined. Her plaid dress was starched and flounced as she walked.

She skipped by a dirty horse stable, whose odor permeated the entire area.

She scooted under the oil truck hose, and walked around a pile of garbage and trash — off to school.

As the writer watched her . . . the thoughts above came to mind . . . would that those who plan programs and schools and insist on labeling all people in the inner city as lazy and dumb could see for themselves.

• • •

This writer offered a special prayer for the parents of the school child . . . a prayer that they will continue to send their little Mary to school;

That Mary will not become disillusioned by the horse stables, the garbage and trash irregularly collected in her small street.

And that she will be inspired to finish her education and grow up to become a leader in this 'fair' city of Baltimore, determined to make it a better place for all to live, including those in the inner city where she is growing up.

PTAs help turn back clock

Pleasant lady met this week: Mrs. Rosie L. Miller, who has the grand distinction of having five (5) children in public school. We met en route to the Douglass High PTA on Tuesday evening.

Children are: Sherry, 16, Douglass; Irby, 15, City College; LaKeia, Clifton Junior High; LaGarda, 14, and Fenisia, 10, both pupils at Edna Elementary No. 29.

Father is Richard D. Miller, an Army vet, who works for a carton firm in Ilchester, Md. Mrs. Miller finds time to work at the Mt. Pleasant Golf Course.

You can bet that the Millers' Holbrook St. home is alive with laughter and activity.

They are typical of honest, hardworking people who live in inner city areas and who strive to make things better for their children. Orchids to them.

• • •

PTA meetings provide an opportunity to turn the clock back. Grownups you knew in high school are the parents of today — further proof that time does fly!

Among the mother - daughter teams seen: Mrs. Leslie Harrison and her daughter, Leslie, an eleventh grader.

Mrs. Harrison was the former Leslie Wilson and the sister of our part school chum, Lucy, now Mrs. Jerry Gallardo of Las Vegas.

• • •

And, isn't it grand to see fathers who take time to come out and inquire about their son!

Father - son team seen: — Sidney Lake and Reginald, a senior due to graduate in June.

Aaron Ellis is the PTA president. It is good to see a father at the head of a large school organization.

Too many families leave

A bit about this and that

Singer on the rise: Miss Janice Tillman, (she's a bronze doll), now studying at Howard University, is a vocalist with great promise. You read it here first.

Miss Tillman sang, 'O, What A Beautiful City, at the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority's annual mother - daughter luncheon on Saturday at Forest Manor. She is winner of a Delta scholarship.

Watch out, you'll be hearing more about her!

• • •

Luncheon speaker was pretty Mrs. Beautine DeCosta recently returned from Nigeria where she spent two years with her husband, Dr. Frank Decosta, Morgan professor.

She told her Delta Sorors that reports that Africans dislike colored Americans are 'completely false.'

In fact, she advised, 'anything that happens in the U. S. against colored people makes headlines over there'.

She described Nigerians as 'not anti - white, but procolored.'

Lords and Ladies 28th annual formal on Friday at Catonsville National Guard Armory was a real swinger.

Jimmy Smith's Orchestra provided the dance music . . they're a swinging group.

Seen about The Lonnie Sprulls Hazel), who recently marked a 25th wedding anniversary with all the trimmings.

She was aglow, and so was the second finger of her left hand—with an eye-catching diamond ring—her anniversary gift.

Looking good too: Mrs. Spencer Lewis (Rose) whose gold and green evening frock adorned with sequins was truly saying something.

• • •

Over from D.C. for the event: Gordon and Dimples Boyd, they're original members.

Cuff Item: The guest who collapsed and had to be carried out on a stretcher was Louis Grant.

Word from St. Agnes Hospital at this writing is that he is 'resting well.'

• • •

Delegate Irma George Dixon who has been ob so ill in Sinai Hospital for weeks, is now a patient at Montebello Hospital. Cards will let her know she is still in your prayers.

Under the knife at City Hospitals last week: Mrs. Sterling Paige (Josephine), wife of the AFRO staff reporter - protographer. She's doing nicely.

Cheer to Mrs. Patricia Taylor, administrative assistant to Morgan President Dr. Martin Jenkins.

She had surgery at Hopkins Hospital on Wednesday, is in Finney, Room 821A.

More about people, things

Title of the bravest man of the week might well go to Andrew Troy of 623 N. Pulaski.

He was the lone man in attendance at the Madison Ave. YWCA Annual Meeting on Monday evening. He accompanied his wife, Odessa.

He listened attentively to the reports, joined the 80-odd ladies in applauding the proceedings.

• • •

The Troys are both members of Emmanuel Christian Church, where he's an usher and she's a Sunday School teacher.

They have a son, James, a former Morgan student.

Top Award for membership solicited during the annual campaign went to energetic Mrs. Vivian Pendleton.

Her team brought in 188 teenage memberships and 104 adults!

Senate questions FPC appointee

WASHINGTON (NNPA)— Carl E. Bagge, an appointee to the Federal Power Commission accused of being "a leading Deerfield, Ill., segregationist," was questioned again last Thursday by the Senate Commerce Committee.

After the session, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D.-Wash.), the committee chairman, said no action was taken on the nomination. A vote on the matter was postponed until the next business meeting of the committee on Tuesday, May 18.

Last April 3, the Americans for Democratic Action sent a letter to Magnuson opposing Bagge's confirmation on the basis of "his segregationist history."

THE ADA absolved President Johnson of blame in appointing Bagge to fill the FPC vacancy, saying the House could not reasonably be expected to know of the appointee's "leadership in segregationist activities."

The delay in Bagge's confirmation hinges on the question of whether he accurately described the part he played several years ago when he testified before the committee on a Deerfield, Ill., housing controversy.

Leon Shull, ADA national director, said a pro-segregation speech made by Bagge on a bond issue referendum at Deerfield "brough to public view the community's plan for solving the 12-day old racial integration issue, by condemn ing the Progress (Development Corporation) properties and obtaining the necessary public support for the bond issue."
