Claude A. Ross, golfer, dies

A noted golfer and long-time government employee, Claude A. Ross died Tuesday morning at his home, 320 33th St., NE., after a lengthy illness.

Serving as labor foreman in the White House, Mr. Ross was retired last May 9 after 28 years service. He was a native Washingtonian and a graduate of Dunbar High School.

He was one of the top flight golfers in the country, a runner - up in the National Amateurs and the Royal Golf Club champion.

THE SAYING of the Rosary was held Thursday night at Stewart's Funeral Home. Final rites were conducted Friday morning at St. Luke's Catholic Church, burial following at Lincoln Memorial Park.

Mr. Ross is survived by his wife, Mrs. France s W. Ross; a sister, Mrs. Bernice E. Leigh, a brother, Charles E. Ross; three neices and two nephews.

Fumble miseries haunt Poet coach

"If we can hold the ball, we're as good as they are."

That was the estimate of the chances of Dunbar High School to score her first win in Maryland Scholastic Association football play today (Friday). And the man giving the estimate is one who should know, the Cain.

"WE'RE FACING Southern at City College, but there's one thing everybody here knows: we must hold the ball.

"We tried to impress on all my teams," Cain asserted Thursday, "that the only way you can score in any game like football or basketball is to have the ball. And if you have the ball and don't keep it, your opponent's up. It's as simple as that.

"WE GAVE up the ball nine times against McDonogh last week when they beat us. And three times we fumbled inside the 15-yard line, once on the 5. Now, I ask you, how can we win a ball game

"Sure, the weather got bad for the last three quarters," Cain added, "but McDonogh was playing in it, too."

* * *

ASKED IF there were any encouraging features about his losing test with McDonogh which left Dunbar 0-1 for MSA league play, the Poet mentor declared:

"There certainly were some encouraging aspects. One was at quarterback. Frank Smith is a senior, but he hasn't played much in other years, and then it was mostly on defense.

"He's doing a great job for us, throwing well and exhibiting good judgment in calling his plays. He has been a pleasant surprise.

"Then our defense has done an acceptable job. I have been quite pleased here, even though there is till room for improvement. The defense doesn't lose the games when fumbles are beating you." —LACY.

'Hurting' Cubs tackle tough Skins Saturday

Carver High School, licker wounds after last week's loss to Gilman, takes on the big rugged Edmondson eleven tomorrow (Saturday) at Kirk Field.

Cub coach Charlie Robinson expresses deep concern on the eve of the struggle with the defending champion Redskins. His team is plagued with injuries.

"WE HAVE two tackles out and a starting guard, and you don't go far against a big, strong, mobile team like Edmondson without your best interior linemen," lamented the Carver tutor.

Tackle Bruce Pittman has been nursing an injured leg for more than two weeks. He was joined on the list of the infirm by tackle Willie Moore and guard Robert Hawthorne following the loss to Gilman.

"EDMONDSON IS rated the team to beat in our division, and rightfully so," declared Robinson. "They're not only a strong well-coached unit but they're a lot deeper than we are.

"If we can come out okey against them tomorrow, I'll be content. This is a tough division this year and anything can happen, particularly when Edmondson and Gilman meet later on." —LACY.

NAACP starting drive for 15,000 members

Are you getting members for the NAACP? I shall not a hundred Won't you follow me? Keep the torch a burning for DEMOCRACY. The only way to do it Is with NAACP!

Sing this ditty to the song, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and you will be in tune with the 500 Baltimore NAACP workers who will begin canvassing the city, Tuesday for 15,000 memberships.

The 30th annual membership drive is being conducted from Oct. 5 through Nov. 16 under the guidance of Frank Sills, chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Durham, national office representative who is serving as director.

Highpoint of the canvass will be NAACP Day, Sunday, Oct. 17, at Sharp Street Church, when ministers throughout the city will appear at the second mass meeting to give progress reports on their work in securing new members.

Throughout the campaign, workers will make weekly reports at Sharp Street Church, every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The dates of these sessions are Oct. 12, 19, 26 and Nov. 2, 9 and 16.

* * *

"WE WANT all of our worker to remember that awards will be given to those who bring in the most members," Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president of the Baltimore chapter, reminded.

Also during the drive, weekly booster membership meetings will be held throughout the city, every Thursday. They are scheduled for: Oct. 7, 14, 21, 28 and Nov. 4 and 11. Wilbert Walker, program chairman—and his committee, Charles Josey and the Rev. Frank Reid, are now in process of determining the time and place of these sessions.

On Wednesday, the publicity committee, under chairmanship of Miss Shirley Kyle, with members Wiley Daniels and Mrs. Jean Wilson, will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the NAACP office, 1251 Druid Hill Ave. According to Miss Kyle, the meeting is open to all workers and officers associated with the drive.

FITTING ROOM — Miss Cassandra (Cassie) Johnson gets fitted by seamstress, Mrs. Geraldine Clayborne, for her new bunny outfit. Costumes in the background give her 11 colors to choose from including red, beige, orange, yellow pink, black, lavender, powder and royal blue and pea and avocado green. Ears, collar and bow-tie cuffs, dark stockings and matching shoes and the bunny is ready to begin work.

BUNNY TIP—Bunny, Miss Cassandra Johnson, better known as "Cassie," serves customers in the Penthouse of the Playboy Club. From this position, she must serve all playmates and playboys seated at her station.

A bunny only needs one week's training

By BRENA L. THOMPSON

Becoming a bunny for the Playboy Club is not an easy task.

Authority for this bit of information is "Mother," Mrs. Kelly Rosenberg, former bunny and mother of over 30 bunnies. But Miss Cassandra Johnson, better known as Cassie, has made it.

After undergoing a personal interview and a week of training, pert 5 feet, 1 inch, 104 pounds and 36 - 21 - 35 Cassie is kept busy waiting on the incoming playboys (males), and playmates (females).

Cassandra, who lives in the Coldspring Lane area and attended Forest Park High School, said she applied for the job because, "I like working with the public."

Bunnies are given a 65-item manual which includes all the rules for training, for example, calling in an order, garnishing drinks, addressing tables, relationship with guests, dress, make - up, modeling, personal appearance and many more.

At the end of the week, they must pass a written test including items listed in the manual.

* * *

CARRYING THE tray — one of the important parts of the test, is the segment most trainees fail, explained Mrs. Rosenberg. An arm brace, worn on the hip with the arm rest up, is designed to help girls pass this difficult part of the test.

As far as requirements for prospective bunnies, the "mother" said that the girls' proportions, appearance and personality as revealed through a personal interview, an 18-25 age requirement and love for people are basic necessities.

Young ladies who want to become bunnies just to meet that future someone can forget it. Bunnies are not allowed to date keyholders, their guests or employees.

* * *

ONE OF the first things that bunny - trainees have to learn is the Bunny - dip. They use this to address the tables when they serve. And since they are never allowed to sit, they do the bunny perch on back of a chair.

Now Cassie can be spotted in her black bunny costume, but soon she will be sporting another color. "Avocado green is my favorite color, but I want red," Cassie expressed to the AFRO. "Bunnies usually prefer black as they mature," Mrs. Rosenberg commented.

Cassie, 18, said her mother's reaction when she wanted to become a bunny was, "anything that makes me happy, she doesn't mind."

In fact, the typical female response is remarkable, states Cassie. "Females enjoy us, they think we are dolls."

Above all else, bunnies must be ladies at all times. In turn, patrons must respect them.

Girls work on a merit and demerit system, receiving merits for good grooming, personal appearances and like deeds. These qualities can be turned into cash.

Demerits are given for absenteeism, untidy hair, dirty nails and similar ills.

* * *

ROTATING the three main stations, the Living Room, the Playmoate Bar and the Penhouse, the girls are given varied experiences. Many of them are given the benefits of travel and devote a great deal of their own time to civic and social activities.

Probaby one of the first questions to cross patrons' minds in the air - conditioned Payboy Cub in, how can the sparsely clad bunnies stand it.

"We don't mind it, we get use to it, but sometimes when our stations aren't crowded, we do get old."

Since there are 15 clubs throughout the U.S. and in Tokoyo, Jamaica and London girls may be given a chance to work in the various cubs which are all built on the same design, except two which have additional VIP rooms.

Cassie, who is on duty both days and nights, "prefers nights, because once each evening, the bunnies demonstrate the latest dance craze to customers."

In favor of the new discotheque (varied dances) Cassie loves to twist....

Provident Auxiliary has history records

Adventures in Negro History, and LP Record produced by the Pepsi - Cola Company will be sold by the Provident Hospital Auxiliary with profits going to the Provident Hospital Development Program, it was announced today by Charles Tildon, director of the hospital's Development Program.

This 30 - minute documentary LP Record album which was previewed by the community's VIP's some time ago, has attained wide acclaim throughout the nation.

Ben Lapides, vice president of the Pepsi - Cola Bottling Company of Baltimore, noted that, "in the rush of recent events, many names and incidents in the colored part of our American heritage have been buried or overlooked. Adventures in Negro History tells that part of the colored American's contributions — and tells it excitingly and dramatically. We feel that it is a real contribution in the field of public information as we are proud to have been a part of this worthwhile project."

* * *

THE PROVIDENT Hospital Auxiliary, recognizing the demand for the album, has undertaken the sale of it to the public. Pepsi - Cola in addition to having produced the record, will offset a substantial portion of the cost.

Individuals may purchase copies through the Auxiliary's members or by sending $1.50 directly to Provident Hospital Auxiliary Office, 1514 Division St., or the office of Provident Hospital Development Program, Mondawmin Shopping Center, Room 1011 Lower Concourse, near the barber shop.

SYMPHONY FIRST — Wilmer Wise, trumpet-player, is the first colored member of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra. The part-time lecturer at Morgan State College recently returned from a tour of Europe and the Near East with "Music from Marlboro," a State Department Tour. At Morgan, he also will be in charge of the Brass Ensemble as well as assist with the Morgan Community Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Wise was born and educated in Priladelphia.

Shooting victim gets final rites

Preston St., was buried Wednesday following funeral services at Gillis Memorial Community Church.

Burial was in Baltimore National Cemetery.

Mr. Cocky, a World War II veteran, was shot to death Saturday, at home. His nephew has been accused.

A native of Baltimore, Mr. Cocky was the son of Clarence and Isabelle Cocky, who survive.

In addition to his parents, he is also survived by his wife, Mrs. Constance Cocky, a son, Mark Cocky, 8; and a daughter, Lillian Cocky, 14.

Also a brother, Richard Cocky and a sister, Mrs. Alma Randolph both of Baltimore.

Estate pays for funeral

Mrs. Mary Carter, who listed herself as a friend of the late James Chandler, who had assumed responsibility for his funeral expenses, petitioned Orphans Court and has received $805.90 to pay the burial costs.

Mr. Chandler died on August 20. Mrs. Carter said that at the time there were no visible means of funds with which to meet the expenses. She made the arrangements with Marshall P. Hayes for the funeral.

The funds for the funeral expenses came out of a $1,300 estate derived from the sale of an automobile which brought $1100 and a bank account of $200.

MR. CHANDLER was survived by a wife, Mrs. Ruth Chandler of 2645 Francis St., and two daughters. Mesdames Carlester Edwards and Vernesta Boykin of 1600 N. Gilmor St.

United Appeal's public info chairman named

Alfred I. Zipprian, public information manager for the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company will serve as volunteer public information chairman for the 1965 Community Chest - Red Cross United Appeal, Donald F. Hagner, general campaign chairman, announced here today.
