
Informer changes his dope story

Following a Criminal Court hearing Tuesday, Benjamin Davis Jr., 2300 block W. Lexington St., was continued under $5,000 bail and the charges of narcotics law violation held under advisement by Judge Joseph Carter.

Members of the Narcotics Squad told the court an informer, Herman Ross, told them Davis (who is known as "Eggie") sold him heroin on the street at a point near Barre St. and Fremont Ave. He also told the officers that "Eggie" carried the dope on him.

Davis was arrested Aug. 24 as a result.

However, on Tuesday when Ross, 23, 300 block S. Katherine St., took the witness stand, he testified he made a false report and that the heroin he was addicted to was purchased from a friend called "Floogie" at the corner of 3rd and Flair in Chester, Pa.

He told the court he had heard "Eggie" was being watched by the police and that he (Ross) fingered "Eggie" to obtain his own freedom from arrest.

• • •

JUDGE CARTER asked the states attorney's office to see what could be done with the witness who changed his story on the stand. He stated, "See if you can proceed with him under the old narcotics charge and if you can get him for perjury."

Ross, married and the father of two children, is at present confined to the House of Correction on a 4 - month sentence imposed in January for grand larceny.

He admitted on the stand to dope addiction that every 24 hours requires "a flat" or an amount that costs about $20.

Mayor's clean-up campaign launched

Initial operations in a clean - up campaign ordered by Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin in a northern sector of the city got under way Wednesday.

The target area is a 60 block rectangle stretching north from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station to 25th St.; bordered by Homewood Ave. on the east and Lovegrove Al. on the west.

Disturbed over the appearance of the area, Mayor McKeldin announced earlier in the week the Departments of Sanitation, Health, Building Inspection and Police Sanitation would be coordinated under the Community Relations Commission for the campaign.

Samuel T. Daniels, CRC director, said Wednesday pilot activities and a planned program will be submitted to the mayor's Conservation Committee on April 18 for approval.

This committee will hold an open meeting at the time in the conference room of the Planning Commission, 1200 American Building, Baltimore and South Sts.

• • •

AIM OF the campaign is to enlist the cooperative efforts of the city's agencies and the residents of the area in a clean up drive.

"This is vitally important," Mr. Daniels told the AFRO. "We can sweep the streets and clean the alleys, but unless we solicit the aid of the people, the whole situation will not see much accomplished."

In this connection, Mr. Daniels said further he is requesting the cooperation of the AFRO Clean Block's director, Mrs. Jeanette B. Leath, whose similar campaign is conducted city-wide during the summer months.

He said he will urge Mrs. Leath to consider starting the AFRO's campaign earlier in this area, or lend whatever cooperative support possible at this time.

Grand Jury gets case against cops

The case of two Baltimore City policemen accused of the burglary of a luncheonroom April 1 was sent to the Grand Jury Tuesday.

A hearing on the case originally scheduled in Central Municipal Court Thursday was by - passed by Charles E. Moylan, states attorney who sent it directly to the grand jury.

The policemen, Patrolman James R. Hovermale, 27, of 6200 block Fairdel Ave., and Patrolman Harold R. Stein, 26, of the 4900 block Carmine Ave., are accused in the burglary of Joe's Lunch of the 300 block of N. Height St.

They have been suspended from duty without pay pending the outcome of the trial.

Divorce edid granted to W. Welch

William A. Welch of 3711 Overview Rd., won a divorce from Mrs. Gladys A. Welch, Thursday but custody of their 12-year-old son and $85 per month for the child's support went to her.

Mr. Welch will also have to provide tuition expenses for the son until he is through high school and $250 arrears in support payments. He will have to pay Mrs. Welch's attorney $100 now and another $100 in 90 days.

The husband testified that he and his wife were married on Dec. 5, 1952 and voluntarily separated on Jan. 1, 1957.

• • •

A DIVORCE also went to William H. Cockrell of 828 N. Carey St. from Mrs. Alethia M. Cockrell of 1818 Mosher St.

He said that they were married on June 2, 1953 and voluntarily ended the marriage on July 11, 1964.

Parents fear ancient school will stay open until 1972

Stairways, corridors and doorways little wider than two feet across.

Some ceilings so low a man of slightly more than average height has to stoop to get under them.

Crowded shops with basic equipment in disrepair or lacking entirely.

Twisting and turning hallways that give the building more of the air of a haunted house in a cheap horror movie than a "general vocational school."

A library of less than 2,300 books housed in an area smaller than a regular classroom which can seat less than 25 people without becoming intolerably crowded.

THESE ARE some of the features of School No. 452, a general vocational junior-senior high school at McCulloh and Biddle Sts., which led the school PTA to hold a rally Wednesday night to try to prevent the building from remaining in use until 1972.

The meeting was held at Calvary Baptist Church, 558 W. Biddle St.

A SPECIAL committee of the PTA drew up a list of the schools inadequacies which include some of the above as well as:

Insufficient books and materials for the classes.

Poor lighting in most of the rooms.

Wooden platforms leading to fire escapes.

The holding of physical education for boys in the Richmond Market Armory, four blocks from the school.

Outdated heating system which sometimes fails so badly students have to be sent home for lack of heat.

No remedial reading or math teacher and a psychologist available a total of only

Congressional redistricting killed by delegates from Baltimore City

By MAX JOHNSON
(AFRO Political Analyst)

Should the special three-judge Federal Court, in reviewing the state's congressional districting issue, decide to set boundaries of its own for the coming elections, a good guide will be at hand.

Judge Simon E. Sobeloff, U.S. Fourth District Court of Appeals; Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen and Judge Edward S. Northrop, U.S. District Court here, are to review the matter April 25.

The districting guide facing them is the plan enacted by the General Assembly last year, and again passed by the Senate but rejected by the House at the just ended special session.

Baltimore's House delegation selfishly killed the repeat passage of the plan because it cuts one of the city's three congressmen by providing for two city districts. Baltimore, on the basis of population, does not rate three congressmen.

Yet, the House and many of the 39-member city delegation favored virtually the same plan a year ago.

That proposal has since been petitioned to referendum for voters to accept or reject in the November general election.

• • •

IT WAS brought back by Sen. Frederick C. Maulkus Jr. (D. Dorchester) as SB 3 for the special session, with some minor changes made in a boundary between Baltimore County and a Western Maryland area to technically make it a new bill.

But Baltimore's House delegation, this time stubbornly attempting to maintain city districts for Congressmen George H. Fallon, Samuel N. Friedel and Edward A. Garmatz, killed it.

Since, Maryland's two Republican Congressmen Rogers C. B. Morton and Charles McC. Mathias Jr., have petitioned the court to establish districts, rather than order an at-large race, an at-large race.

Their party is in the minority in this state and they are fearful that such a race would not only dim their chances for re-election but hurt the possibilities of picking up another

Youngster, 16, found guilty

Calvin Harris, 16, 500 block McMechen St., was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury of 11 men and one woman who deliberated until 8 p.m. Monday night. Sentence will be imposed at a later date.

The trial that began April 1 in Criminal Court before Judge J. Jilbert Prendergast heard witnesses again Monday who told of the New Year's Day fracas in the 100 block Pennsylvania Ave, which attracted the attention of hundreds of pasters by.

Among those injured was Preston Arnold, 19, 400 block E. 27th St., who was fatally stabbed. Hearings for other persons involved in the series of stabbings are also due to come before Criminal Court soon.

Says press made 'farce' of rent strike meeting

An official of the Baltimore Rent Strike Committee charged Wednesday that press and television reporters turned its first public meeting into a "farce" and "intimidated" people in the community who attended the session.

Joan Berezin, acting secretary of the committee, also said the news media also gave a false picture of the group's activities by suggesting that it advocated illegal rent strikes.

"This whole thing has been completely blown out of proportion," Miss Berezin said. "Everyone was in a state of shock."

Youth guilty of assaulting young student

James Jones Jr., 17, 1400 block N. Bethel St., was convicted this week of the Jan. 18, 1965 criminal assault of a 10 - year - old child who was en route to school.

According to testimony in Criminal Court Wednesday, the victim's sister, age 6, witnessed the attack in a vacant house in the 1000 block N. Ainsqith St.

Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast withheld sentence until he reviews the case.

However, he stated, "I am satisfied and I find that Mr. Jones beyond any possible doubt is guilty."

Voter registration drive opens April 16

The first stage of the city-wide voter registration drive will be kicked off April 16 at the First Baptist Church, 525 N. Caroline St., Mrs. Mary B. Adams and Dr. John L. Tilley announced Thursday.

Mrs. Adams and Dr. Tilley, of Womanpower and the NAACP respectively, co-directors of the drive, said that's when the first supplemental registration period will be held.

Registrars from the Board of Supervisors of Elections will be at the church from 2 to 8 p.m. to register persons not eligible to vote in the upcoming primary and general elections.

Mrs. Adams said a voter education program will be conducted jointly with the registration session where new voters will be given instructions on an actual voting machine.

This is the first of several supplemental registration sessions to be held throughout the city, Mrs. Adams reported.

Those pretty eggs can go into delicious post-Easter dishes

When Easter has passed we always face the problem of what to do with all those pretty eggs. Well, there's a whole world of tempting main dish and sauce recipes for hard - cooked eggs that will win favor from the whole family.

These egg recipes are nutritious as well as delicious, and they certainly help balance the food budget. Families on the run will also appreciate their quick and easy preparation.

• • •

HOT EGGS and Sausages in Tomato Sauce: Cook one-fourth pound sausage links, thinly sliced, until lightly browned; pour off excess drippings. Add one - fourth cup chopped onion and two tablespoons chopped green pepper; cook until tender.

Blend in one can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato rice soup and one - half cup water. Cook over low heat 10 minutes; stir often. Serve over four hard - cooked eggs, sliced, on four pieces of toast. Makes four servings.

• • •

CHEESE AND EGG Sauce for Broccoli or Cauliflower: Stir one can (10¾ ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup until smooth. Gradually blend in one - fourth milk; add one hard - cooked egg, sliced and one - fourth teaspoon prepared mustard. Heat; stir often. Makes one and one - half cups sauce.

• • •

EGGS A LA KING or Curried: Blend one can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery or mushroom soup with one - third to one - half cup milk. Add four hard - cooked eggs, sliced, and two tablespoons chopped pimiento. Heat. Serve on toast. Garnish with chopped parsley. Makes four servings.

Note: For curried eggs, eliminate the pimiento; add a teaspoon curry powder. Garnish with shredded coconut or toasted slivered almonds.

• • •

CREAMED SPINACH With Chopped Egg: Cook two packaged (10 ounces each) frozen spinach in unsalted water until tender; drain. Stir in one can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup and two hard - cooked eggs, chopped. Heat.

Thin to desired consistency with a little milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes six to eight servings.

• • •

EGGS DIVAN: Cook one package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli spears in unsalted water; drain. Arrange in 10 x 6 x 2" baking dish. Place four hard - cooked eggs, halved length wise, on broccoli.

Pour over sauce made by blending one can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup with one - third cup milk. Sprinkle with one - half cup shredded Cheddar cheese. Bake in a 450 degree F. oven until sauce is slightly browned, about 15 minutes. Makes four servings.

MOCK EGGS BENEDICT: Split, toast, and butter six English muffins. Place on each a thin slice of fried ham. Top each with one hard - cooked egg, sliced. Pour on Mock Hollandaise.

To prepare Hollandaise, combine one can (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of vegeadle soup with one - fourth cup mayonnaise and one tablespoon lemon juice. Place over low heat, stirring constantly. Makes six servings.

• • •

PARLSEY - EGG Sauce For Broiled Fish: Blend one can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup with one - third cup milk. Add one hard - cooked egg, chopped, and one tablespoon chopped parsley. Heat; stir often. Makes one and three-fourths cups sauce.

• • •

DEVILED EGGS AU GRATIN: Cut six hard-cooked eggs in half length - wise. Mash yolks with one - fourth cup mayonnaise, one teaspoon minced onion and

Inactive nurses refresher course

A refresher course for inactive registered nurses is scheduled for April 18 through May 18 at the Union Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Frances D. Thompkins, director of nursing has announced.

The course is designed for inactive nurses who wish to return to duty and is free of charge. Classes will meet Monday's, Tuesday's, and Wednesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. For further information, call Union Memorial, BE 5-7200, ext. 253.

Modernizing a living room, here, the designed removed partitions on either side of the fireplace, and unified, through color, texture, furniture arrangement and a single pattern of linoleum flooring, the living, dining and kitchen areas. Stairway was modernized and the front wall was moved out to bring the old front porch area inside the house. New look to fireplace, now extending from floor to ceiling, ceiling for removal of heavy woden mantel and brick painted white.

Hawaiian Ice Cream Sauce

Here's a new candidate for the favorite pasttime of decking ice cream in novel ways, a Hawaiian sauce.

Golden brown and rich with coffee flavor, crunchy with coconut and crushed pineapple, it's truly special.

HAWAIIAN Ice Cream Sauce is made with one tablespoon cornstarch, a third cup sugar, a half cup water, one 8 oz. can crushed pineapple, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon instant decaffeinated coffee, a fourth cup flaked coconut and a fourth teaspoon vanilla.

Mix cornstrach and sugar in saucepan. Blend in water. Add pineapple and butter.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is clear and thickened — about 10 minutes. Remove from heat.

Blend in instant coffee. Stir in coconut and vanilla. Serve warm or chilled over ice cream or plain pudding. Makes about one and a half cups sauce, enough for one quart ice cream, or about eight servings
