AMEZ bishop says church has to 'become involved'

The Philadelphia and Baltimore Annual Conference of the AME Zion Church opened its 139th session Wednesday at Pennsylvania Avenue AME Zion Church.

The Conference will continue through the week and will culminate with a massive 2 p.m. Sunday session at the Masonic Temple, 1307 Eutaw Pl.

More than 200 delegates from Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Northern Virginia, registered during the early hours of the conference.

Additional registrations are continuing with the peak expected by the weekend.

PRESIDING OVER the session is the Rt. Rev. Raymond Luther Jones, presiding bishop of the 2nd Episcopal District.

Bishop Jones delivered the Episcopal Address at the Wednesday afternoon session.

"ZION METHODISM has been at work for 170 years," Bishop Jones said. "Today we are challenged as never before to become involved in world conditions and conditions around us.

"While the Christian Church is not an expert in military affairs, political affairs, etc.," he went on, "yet, as a church . . . we are largely affected by what happens in these areas.

"We cannot sit supinely by and leave the solution of these problems to organizations outside the pale of the Christian Church and Christain thinking."

BISHOP JONES challenged the often-discussed "Is God Dead" question by saying: "we need men and women to witness the fact that he is not dead.

"We must be able to defend our statement by our experiences."

A testimonial was given Wednesday evening honoring a retiring presiding elder, the Rev. J. J. Robinson, of the Philadelphia District.

Greetings to the Conference from the City of Baltimore were delivered by Mayor McKeldin, who gave an enthusiastic verbal salute to the delegates, during a welcome program Wednesday night conducted by the Rev. Clinton R. Coleman, host pastor.

Music for the night session was furnished by the Pennsylvania Ave. AME Zion Choir.

The 140th Session, to be held in May, 1967, has been scheduled at the Wesley Union Church in Harrisburg, Pa., with the Rev. W. W. Bowden as host pastor.

OEO, CAA read quickly to critique

By GEORGE W. COLLINS

A critical evaluation of the Baltimore war on poverty, published Tuesday in the AFRO has sparked immediate response from local and national officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The report, compiled by an OEO consultant, was critical of several areas of the operation.

Chief among its criticisms of the local project was the fact that it is "not yet off the ground."

Sidney H. Wolner, acting regional director, Region II, entered a stout defense of the CAC and its staff plus the City Council.

On the other hand he did not deny the existence of the report nor did he question the accuracy of its contents.

In an open letter to R. Sargent Shriver, OEO director, Parren J. Mitchell, executive director, Baltimore Community Action Agency, expressed "shock" that the report fell into the hands of the press before it was released to local poverty officials.

FRED A. FORBES, OEO public affairs officer, wondered aloud as to how the AFRO obtained the document.

"I'm not repudiating it, I'm just wondering where you got it," he said.

Mr. Wolner was glowing in his praises of Mr. Mitchell and the staff:

"The CAP (Community Action Program) in the city of

NALC convention due top speakers

Some of the nation's top personalities in labor and entertainment will be the speakers for the sixth annual convention of the Negro American Labor Council to be here held May 27-28.

Speaking at a city - wide Labor and Education Rally at 8 p.m. on Friday May 27 at the Prince Hall Masonic Temple, Eutaw and Lanvale Sts, will be:

Jackie Robinson, now general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the Continental Football League; I. W. Abel, national president, United Steel Workers of America, and A. Philip Randolph, president of the NALC and vice president of the AFL-CIO.

SPEAKING AT the convention banquet and dance to be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 28, will be Ossie Davis, stage, screen and television star.

Registration for the convention begins at 9 a.m. Friday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, and the morning session will be welcomed by Mayor McKeldin and include a keynote address by Mr. Randolph.

The Friday afternoon session from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. will include talks by Arthur Chapin, assistant to the Secretary of Labor, and Ben D. Segal, director of liaison, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The Saturday session from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. will include panel discussions and committee reports.

Family planning agency conducts 'party' meeting

Guests of the Planned Parenthood Association of Maryland were treated to a unique annual dinner meeting Wednesday.

The organization is the Baltimore arm of a world - wide family planning agency which disminiates and distributes information and advice designed to help married couples to plan their families consistent with ability to provide.

At the annual meeting where its services, scope, achievements and goals were displayed in visual aids, guests meandered around the spacious pavilion at the Village of Cross Keys much like those at an art festival.

"Birthquake," theme of the occasion, underscored ominous threats of the population explosion and pointed up coming "people crisis" both here and abroad.

Council action on districting ready

By MAX JOHNSON

The City Council settles down next week to the knotty problem of establishing new councilmanic districts for Baltimore.

Five plans are already before the Council in ordinance form, and Monday is the final day for submission of others.

The Council is under court order to set new districts by June 1, in conformance with the one man, one vote concept.

Only one of the plans now before the Council is in sharp variance with the others.

Councilman Henry G. Parks Jr. (4th D.) has introduced that one, which calls for setting up 20 districts with one councilman from each.

IT FOLLOWS closely the plan of earlier days, when councilmen were elected from city wards, and thus were closer to their constituents.

The other plans are, in general, deviations from one drawn by a special commission headed by Dr. Harry Bard, president, Baltimore Junior College.

It would maintain the city's six districts, with variances to equalize the representative population ratio in each on a close basis.

This plan would give each district three councilmen, thus cutting one from the 4th and 5th where there are currently four each.

There are variations of this plan, precinct - wise and in strengthening the Council, rather than cutting it.

Conspiracy indictment thrown out

Criminal Court Judge Joseph L. Carter ordered late Thursday the acquittal of a government worker accused of conspiring to violate Department of Motor Vehicle laws.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Gwynn, 30, 800 block Harlem Ave., an employee at Ft. Meade, was freed when Judge Carter upheld a defense argument that the accusing indictment was faulty.

Mrs. Gwynn was accused of "conspiring" with Thomas Greenleaf of Jessups, and Mrs. Laurel Isom, also of the 800 block Harlem Ave., to pull driver's records at DMV.

The two count - indictment charged that the defendants entered a conspiracy to defraud and to "attempt to defraud."

* *

ARGUING AGAINST the legality of the indictment, George L. Russell Jr., defense attorney, said that there is no such crime as a "conspiracy to attempt" to commit an offence.

On the defraud count he told Judge Carter that the indictment should be declared defective because the state, in answering a motion for discovery had claimed it had no oral statements or other evidence.

Mr. Russell said the defense was entitled to examine all evidence the

Students hear 3 from CRC

As part of a school project designed to have the pupils of Henry Winter Davis School 125 "rub shoulders" with prominent local personalities as an inspiration, the 6th grade class of Mrs. Thelma Addison was visited by representatives from the Baltimore Community Relations Commission.

Samuel Daniels, director of the commission, assisted by Mrs. Bernice White and Gene Noble, talked to the pupils.

No police warrants, 12 defendants freed

Twelve defendants, charged in Western Municipal Court with disturbing the peace, were freed Wednesday after Judge Edgar P. Silver ruled that police failed to substantiate the charge.

The arrests were made only an hour before the court hearing when members of Western's plain-clothes squad, headed by Lt. Joseph Judd, made a warrantless raid on a vacant house in the 1900 block Pennsylvania Ave.

Plainclothes Patrolman Salvatore Corona, told the court that police had received information from an informer that a card game called "skin" was in progress.

Upon arrival at the vacated Pennsylvania dwelling the officer testified he heard "card talk" from the hallway leading to a room where the alleged game was taking place.

Officer Corona stated that he knocked on the door and waited for several minutes before he was admitted.

"By the time we got in all the evidence of the game was out of sight," he declared.

* * *

HOWEVER, the twelve defendants, including one woman, were placed under arrest and charged.

The charge, said the patrolman, was based on the "noise" and "card talk" they heard from the hallway.

After hearing this testimony Judge Silver declared:

"It is impossible for me to find these defendants guilty on the evidence I've heard."

Reading from a handwritten notebook Judge Silver pointed out the "elements necessary to substantiate a charge of disturbing the peace.

He told the patrolmen, who in addition to Officer Corona included Ronald Patek and Harry McDonald, that in order for the charge to be legal they would have to produce someone else other than themselves who was disturbed by the noise.

Patrolman Corona said that there was "someone else" but they could not produce the person without also revealing their "informer."

"Then under the circumstances I have no alternative but to dismiss these men," Judge Silver declared.

Those freed were:

Miss Selena Morris, 67, 900 block Pennsylvania Ave.; James Jefferson, 51, 2600 block W. Mulberry St.; Wally Jackson, 48, 2712 Park Heights Ave.; Edward L. Minor, 41, 1030 Pennsylvania Ave.; Frank Edwards, 48, Henryton State Hospital; Robert Taylor, 55, 2400 block N. Howard St.; Thomas M. Mitchell, 22, 1321 Myrtle Ave.; Alfred J. Drew, 56, 2600 block Flora St.; Melvin Moore, 39, 1900 block W. Fayette St.; and Reginald E. Smith, 32, 2900 block Carver Rd.

Rabies shots for dogs being offered in city

Rabies vaccination days for dogs in Baltimore City and the counties surrounding Baltimore City will be May 15 and May 22.

Pet owners whose dogs have not received the rabies vaccine protection within the past year are urged to take pets for the shots.

The clinics will be open from 2 to 4. Immunizations will be provide at $1 per dog. The dose will provide a two-year protection for pets.

The rabies clinic locations are as follows:

Mondawmin Shopping Center: 1200 Mondawmin Concourse, between the Food Fair and Big Valu Supermarkets.

Sears Roebuck and Co.: North Ave. and Harford Rd. at entrance to parking lot.

Montgomery Ward: 100 S. Monroe St. front entrance on Monroe St.

Playground: Linwood and O'Donnell Sts.

In view of the threat of rabies to the city and state, Dr. Robert E. Farber, Commissioner of Health of Baltimore City, urges pet owners to take advantage of this opportunity to protect all pet dogs over 4 months of age.

The program is sponsored by the Maryland State and City Veterinary Medical Associations and the State and City health departments.

Blue Cross rates to be reduced

State Insurance Commissioner, Francis B. Burch, has announced a decrease in Blue Cross rates effective July 1.

Although the reductions for persons paying directly to Blue Cross vary by form of contract from somewhat more than five per cent to almost seven per cent, the weighted average decrease will be approximately six per cent.

This marks the first time in the 25 year history of Blue Cross operations in Maryland that direct pay subscriber rates have been reduced.

Commissioner Burch based his reduction on two factors. The first is the effect of the Federal Medicare program. The second arises from his belief that by significantly decreasing the allowance in Blue Cross premiums for rising hospital costs, hospitals better control over their expenses.

HAPPY CROWD — Mayor McKeldin switched on the newly - installed light at the Greenmount Avenue Recreation Center playground Wednesday night. Following this the mayor used a bull - horn to talk to the large group of enthusiastic kids and grown-ups who gathered for the occasion.

Gelston to speak at Demo meeting

Interim Police Commissioner Gen. George Gelston will be principal speaker at a meeting of the Fourth District Democratic Organization Monday, May 16.

Getting under way at 8 p.m., the meeting will be held in the organization's headquarters at 1524 W. North Ave.

Too high to walk, man borrows another's car

Central District officers became suspicious of a compact car being driven recklessly on W. Mulberry St. Sunday without benefit of tags.

The driver gave them a brief chase that ended when the Austin-Healy jumped the curb and crashed into a wire fence in the 500 block N. Howard St.

After a brief foot-race the good guys nabbed the culprit.

Monday before Judge Howard Aaron in Central Municipal Court, the defendant admitted stealing the car after a night of partying and drinking.

"I was only trying to get home, Your Honor, and I had no money for bus fare," said the prisoner, who gave an address in the 1700 block E. Madison St.

"Well, why didn't you walk home?" the judge asked.

The answer brought chuckles in the court-room and a grin to the face of Judge Aaron.

"I was too high to walk."

THE RIDE cost the erratic driver, who had no criminal record, $100 and costs, plus two years on probation.

He later faced several traffic charges stemming from the incident.

Cleveland Harris gets realty job

Cleveland Harris, former president of the Laundry and Dry Cleaning Workers Local 195, AFL-CIO, has been appointed suburban home coordinator of the Manning - Shaw Realty Inc.

Warren S. Shaw, president of the firm, said Mr. Harris's duties will consist chiefly of obtaining housing for colored families in previously all - white areas.

Mr. Shaw said if fair housing legislation continues to be balked on the federal or local level, he will "attempt to carry out a nation - wide, all - out effort . . . to provide the same type of desirable housing for all people regardless of race," through an organization he heads called the National Association of Fair Housing Brokers.

Mr. Harris, who will also be involved in that program, is a Korean War veteran and attended Maryland State College and Temple University. He is well - known for his civil right's activities several years ago on the Eastern Shore in association with Mrs. Gloria Richardson.

Spice up salads with bits of pickle for taste thrill

Salads are favorite fare during the warm months of the year. And there's hardly a salad that doesn't taste better for the addition of a bit of spicy pickle.

Pineapple Pickle salad is a gleaming molded salad; it glows with the sunny color of pineapple, accented by the sparkling green of sweet gherkins.

It's a delicious accompaniment for cold baked ham. This was developed by home economists for Pickle Packers International to celebrate International Pickle Week, May 19-26.

Another salad to enjoy as a main dish. It's a mixture of rice, cheese, sweet pickle relish and pimientos. A sour cream dressing is the final touch.

* * *

PINEAPPLE PICKLE salad: Drain pineapple tidbits (reserving syrup) (1 pineapple, 2 ounces) pineapple tidbits, 1 can (6K ounces) crushed pineapple, 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Also ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup lemon juice, 6 sweet gherkins, ½ cup chopped sweet gherkins, ½ cup chopped apple and ½ cup chopped celery.

* * *

DRAIN PINEAPPLE tidbits and crushed pineapple, reserving 2/3 cup syrup. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften. Add boiling water, sugar and salt; stir until gelatin dissolves. Stir in lemon juice and reserved pineapple syrup. Dip 6 gherkins and 6 pineapple tidbits into gelatin mixture; arrange in 1 quart mold and chill.

Chill gelatin mixture until slightly thickened. Chop remaining tidbits; food into gelatin mixture along - with chopped gherkins, apple and celery. Turn into mold; chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish salad with pickle kebabs and serve with mayonnaise, if desired.

* * *

FOR RICE SUMMER salad use 2½ cups cold cooked rice, 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese (about 4 ounces), 1 cup drained sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon sweet pickle liquid, ¼ cup chopped pimientos, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt,

Also pepper to taste, crisp lettuce, 1 cup dairy sour cream, 1/3 cup mayonnaise, and 2 tablespoons chopped chives.

Combine rice, cheese, relish, pickle liquid, pimientos, seasoned salt and pepper. Arrange on serving plate with lettuce. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients; blend well. Serve with salad.

Ham Mousse

Budgets bother many homemakers when a dinner party's in the offing.

With a wise choice of ingredients, plus ingenuity, they can keep the cost down and the enjoyment up.

The Borden Kitchen had just such a budget-bound cook in mind for this Ham Mousse — ham zested with horseradish, mustard, and pickle relish. The nonfat dry milk base cuts both cost and calories. Deck with crisp watercress, ripe olives nestled in lettuce cups, and tomato wedges.

* * *

HAM MOUSSE is made with 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin, 3/4 cup cold water, 1½ cups hot water, 3 cups ground, cooked ham, 1/3 cup Aunt Jane's Sweet Pickle Relish,

Also 1 tablespoon grated horseradish, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, and ½ cup Starlac Nonfat Dry Milk.

* * *

SOFTEN GELATIN in ¼ cup of the cold water. Let stand 5 minutes. Pour hot water into large bowl. Add softened gelatin. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Stir in ham, relish, horseradish, 1 tablespoon of the lemon juice, and mustard. Combine remaining ½ cup water and 1 tablespoon remaining lemon juice in 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk over surface of water.

Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer about 8 to 10 minutes or until stiff. Fold into ham mixture. Oil a 1½ quart mold. Fill with ham mixture. Chill 4 hours or until firm; unmold.

If desired, garnish with watercress, parsley, ripe olives lettuce cups, or tomato wedges.

Makes six to eight servings.
