Employment bias is still rampant, Labor aide tells rights bodies meet

ESTES PARK, Colo. — A Labor Department official has declared here that the lines of discrimination are "tightening rather than loosening" in some Northern, Western and Southern communities.

But Arthur A. Chapin, special assistant to the Secretary of Labor, added that:

"... it is becoming increasingly evident to America that the damage from denial of full participation of minorities can be measured only in its effects upon the quality of life in our total society."

Speaking before the 18th Annual Conference of Commissions for Human Rights, Chapin said. "We are not only interested in equal opportunity but in equal results and achievement."

• • •

HE ASSERTED that today "is by no means a time for complacency" with discrimination existing in "too many areas of American life" in spite of civil rights legislation.

If a person has been cut at a disadvantage because of his race, "this is as much a matter warranting redress as if he is denied a job through overt discrimination," Chapin said.

He charged that outmoded tests, recruiting procedures and unreal apprenticeship requirements "often deny equal employment and force workers to seek unskilled jobs."

• • •

AN INVESTIGATION of the files of employment security offices in 131 cities in 34 states revealed that discrimination in some form was evident in 80 percent of the areas visited, he said.

"It is almost a common occurrence," he said, "to find the applications of minority workers coded far below their capacity. For example, the application of a girl with a college degree was discovered in the files of one agency coded as a domestic."

Hospital report calls for more planning

The Maryland Hospital Commission released this week a state - wide study which calls for regional planning as the key to efficient hospital services.

A responsible goal for the metropolitan area, the study suggests, is provision of a hospital within 20 minutes' driving time for all residents.

That goal is largely met today, with the present highway system, and can be achieved as far ahead as 1975 without construction of new hospitals in the suburbs, it was reported.

The Maryland Hospital Commission, appointed by the Governor, has been in existence since 1964 and is charged with the responsibility of advising the Board of Public Works on the merits of individual hospital projects eligible for low interest rates and loans for construction.

Louis B. Kohn II is chairman of the Commission.

VA hospitals will admit malaria cases

Veterans hospitals throughout the nation have been directed to admit any recently - discharged veteran without waiting for an eligibility determination, if the man thinks he may be suffering from malaria.

The VA advises such veterans who have been home for 100 days or less, to be on the alert for any symptoms of this disease.

The Medical Departments of the Armed Force have found an increase of malaria in personnel returning to the U.S. from duty in Southeast Asia, Rufus H. Wilson, Manager of the Baltimore VA Regional Office, said he had been advised.

A large number of these cases are a type of malaria known as falciparum. This particular form of malaria does not present the usual symptoms of chills and fever. The symptoms may be so mild that they may readily be missed.

Use of a new antimalaria drug may cut in half the number of men stricken by the disease, the Army Surgeon General's office has announced.

• • •

THE DRUG also cuts length of illness and helps to prevent relapse, Mr. Wilson said.

Prior to return to this country, personnel are given medication to help prevent the disease. They are instructed to report to a doctor if they become ill and to let him know that malaria should be considered.

Corporation of the Armed Forces, the Public Health Service Communicable Disease Center, Parasitic Disease Unit of Atlanta, Ga., and the VA has been worked out. The Health Service has agreed to act as consultant, free of charge, if blood smears show the presence of any malarial parasites.

If malaria is diagnosed, treatment will begin immediately at the nearest VA or military hospital.

It has been found that falciparum malaria is often resistant to the usual quinine treatment, and other methods of treatment must be used. Research on the treatment of this strain of malaria with various drugs are underway.

At present, there are more than 150 patients in military hospitals in the U. S. with falciparum malaria.

Arthur King starts campaign

By OSCAR S. SMITH, JR
GLENARDEN, Md. — Arthur "Art" King started his campaign with a political rally in Glenarden's Municipal Hall.

King, an animal husbandry, research specialist and resident of Mount Rainier is one of two colored candidates on the Carlton Sickles for Governor ticket in Prince Georges County. The Democratic Steering Committee organized the Sickles ticket and platform in Prince Georges.

King emphasized that he was running for office with the Sickles team, and that it was important that the team be elected.

Henry Johnson, a well-known Washington area lawyer and the other colored candidate on the ticket was also present. Johnson, a Royal Garden resident, is a candidate for the Prince Georges Democratic Central Committee.

Other members of the Prince Georges County slate present were: Royal Hart, incumbent representative — House of Delegates; M. Bayne Broke, incumbent member — Board of County Commissioners; Frank Santangelo; Mary O'Hair, Orphans Court Judge; Frank Crowderville, Orphans Court Judge; and Francis B. Fracois running for County Commissioner.

A question and answer session followed the candidates' statements. Questions ranged from highway improvement to educational needs and Constitution revision of the State charter.

The Glenardacrats, a local nonpartisan organization in Glenarden entertained the candidates at the home of Redrick T. Rice, vice chairman of that organization after the rally.

Dunbar Center to hold exhibit and program

The Dunbar Summer Project Center No. 133 Caroline and McElderry Sts. will present an exhibit and program on Tuesday, August 2, from noon to 3 p.m. The public is invited.

This project, and enrichment program for senior high school students, is sponsored by the Baltimore City Public Schools under the provisions of the Elementary Secondary Education Act of 1965, Title 1.

Kernan hospital reaccredited

The James Lawrence Kernan Hospital at Windsor Mill Rd. and Forest Park Ave. has received notice of reaccreditation for three years. It was announced today by Miss Virginia C. Pruitt, administrator.

Miss Pruitt added that Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals announced the decision.

The commission commended the hospital for maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for the constant effort to improve the quality of patient care. The hospital was surveyed in May, 1966, and has continuously been fully accredited since May, 1954.

Summer School pupils learn about new states

Children enrolled in the Summer Program at Harlem Park Elementary School No. 35, are studying about Alaska and Hawaii, our newest states.

They were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Frisby, who invited them to visit their Bateman Ave. home the "Igloo."

There, they heard of the experiences of Matt Henson, co-discover of the North Pole.

The children saw an exhibit of items made by Eskimoes, and learned of their customs.

DR. FRISBY taught them Eskimo games and dances.

Mrs. Frisby, attired in Hawaiian dress, served punch and cookies on the lawn.

At the end of the summer session, the class will add to Dr. Frisby's rare Arctic collection.

Their contribution will be a colorful totem pole, which they made under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Margaret T. Dunlap and Miss Gloria Cross, art resource teacher.

The children attending were: Yvette Lewis, Cynthia Smith, Lori Love Betty Harris, Ellen Bunn, Lee Ann Dorsey, Teresa Fenwick, Katherine Johnson, Laura Lambson, Denise Linder.

Dubonnet Porter, Eddette Rice, Elizabeth Wells, Natalie Wood, Beryl Pearson, Mary Montgomery, William Blackston, Nathaniel Mack, William Morent, Carlester Sherman, Anthony Stanford.
