G-Men dial 'N' for narcotics; 2 held

Federal undercover narcotics agents paid out a large sum of money early in August for a third of a pound of dope and then, following directions of the peddlers, picked up the package in the slot of a coin telephone at North and Callow Aves.

Arrested and indicted this week by the Federal Grand Jury for selling narcotics through the unusual transaction were Henry "Mickey" Speaks, 41, 2300 block Eutaw Pl. and blond Mrs. Audrey "Poochie" Malinoski, 19, of the same address.

The U.S. jurists returned two charges against the couple who picked up the $97 for the 6.6 grams heroin. The indictments include counts on receiving, concealing and illegally importing narcotics.

Mr. Speaks and Mrs. Malinoski, are also under charges of prostitution charges brought by the Baltimore Grand Jury. This hearing date has not been set; However, they are due for Federal Court arraignment Sept. 9.

N.C. educator hits U.S. school role

By ROGER J. NISSLY

"If two pop cent of our people want to integrate, let them integrate.

"If 22 per cent of our people want to integrate, let them integrate.

"If 42 per cent of our people want to integrate, let them integrate."

The superintendent of Public Instruction for North Carolina, in a brief outburst, thus outlined his quarrel with the way Washington is handling school desegregation before a special House Education Subcommittee Tuesday.

As Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's hearings into the treatment of minority groups in textbooks moved into the second week, Charles F. Carroll decried "harassment" from Federal officials in their attempt to spur integration.

Under North Carolina's free choice system, Mr. Carroll said, "If we say four per cent of the children will be integrated, someone is on the phone from Washington to say that is not enough."

* * *

REP. JOHN BRADEMAS (D.-Ind.) chided the superintendent on "smoke screen language about freedom of choice."

The country looks to North Carolina for educational leadership, "not to talk like Mississippi or Alabama," the representative said.

Mr. Carroll stated that Federal officials in the past few weeks in North Carolina

'Can we draft you?' NAACP asks Gelston

The scheduled Oct. departure of Maj. Gen. George M. Gelston as interim police commissioner is cause for regret, the Maryland State Conference of NAACP Branches, declared Thursday and asked the commissioner "if there is anyway we can draft you as permanent commissioner.

A telegram signed by Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell, president, said:

"The Maryland State Conference of NAACP Branches commends you for the excellent work you have done in projecting a new image of the Police Department to the citizens of Baltimore.

"Your superior leadership, human compassion and genuine interest in the problems of all segments of the population have endeared you to our community.

"Your wise administration of the Police Department during the summer months of 1966 have prevented the kind of large scale conflicts (racial) which we have seen in other parts of the country.

"We deeply regret to learn that you will leave us in October.

"Is there any way we can draft you for the duration?"

GENERAL GELSTON, who said he was "highly appreciative of the compliment and pleased to know that the NAACP feels that I have made a contribution to the harmony of the community" reiterated his plans to step down on Oct. 1.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes is expected to name a successor shortly.

Although Gov. Tawes announced he will personally interview the leading candidates, it was learned that his hand-picked committee unanimously recommended re- Pomerleau.

School bells open classes Tues., Sept. 6

Sept. 6 is the first day of school for Baltimore City's more than 170,000 public school students. Over 76,000 Catholic pupils will also go to their classrooms on Sept.6.

Baltimore faces a shortage of about 150 teachers with the most critical lack in the elementary schools.

New buildings in Baltimore County will help relieve expected overcrowding.

The nine new buildings and additions expected to be ready for occupancy by Baltimore city pupils will house 7,700 pupils.

The new Baltimore secondary school Northwestern High School at Fallstaff Rd. and Park Heights Ave., has capacity of 2,000 pupils.

The elementary schools are Dickey Hill, Dickey Rd. off Forest Park Ave.; Cecil Elementary, Cecil Ave. near 20th St.;

The Eutaw Elementary, Eutaw, McCulloh, Laurens and Wilson Sts.; Lakeland Elementary, 2921 STandon Rd.; George Street Elementary, George and Brune Sts.; Hilton Elementary, Denison St., Carlisle Ave., Hilton St. and Bateman Ave.;

Also the primary center at Fort Worthington Elementary Complex, Lakewood Ave. and Oliver St.; The new building partially replacing Guilford Ave. Elementary at Guilford Ave. and Oliver St.

Public Works in-training will result in promotions

An end to job discrimination in the city departments of highways, sewers, sanitation and public works may be in sight.

Bernard Werner, head of public works said this week that in-training courses for workemen in several departments would be instituted to enable more colored personnel to handle supervisory positions.

"We're going to get some new men as soon as a training site can be set up and we expect to correct the racial ratio that's been lagging in the department," Mr. Werner stated.

AFRO poll in 4th D.

This week's poll was made at the Mondawmin Shopping Center (15th Ward).

The question: If you were to vote today, who would be your choice for State Senator, 4th District? The results are:

4th District - 15th Ward
FOR STATE SENATE
(Mondawmin Shopping Center)
FIRST CHOICE

Verda Welcome	42
Clarence Mitchell	23
Warren Shaw	4
Robert Marshall	2
Emerson Julian	7
Neil Lewis	0
Ernest Young	1
Undecided	21

SECOND CHOICE

Verda Welcome	9
Clarence Mitchell	26
Warren Shaw	6
Robert Marshall	2
Emerson Julian	11
Ernest Young	1
Neil Lewis	0
Undecided	45

Since two senators are to be elected, first and second choices must be added. When this is done, the totals are:

Welcome, 51; Mitchell, 49; Marshall, 4; Julian, 18; Young, 2; Lewis, 0; Undecided, 66.

This is the eighth AFRO poll. Previous polls of candidates for the State Senate were made in the 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th Wards.

The undecided voters constituted a majority of the early polls. With the election only 10 days away more voters have made up their minds.

A stout 79 per cent know their first choice, but only 55 per cent are ready to pick the second senator to be elected.

Welcome, Mitchell Lead

Summary of eight previous polls for State Senator: Verda Welcome, 327; Clarence Mitchell, 301; Emerson Julian, 66; Robert Marshall, 46; Warren Shaw, 33; Ernest Young, 15; Neil Lewis, 0; Undecided 810.

Mayor, officials take tour of Cherry Hill incinerator

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

On Wednesday morning, it was early (8:30 a.m.) but not too bright in the smog and soot and smells of the Reedbird Incinerator No. 3 when Mayor McKeldin, City officials and a group of Cherry Hill citizens arrived.

The purpose was a see-for-yourself inspection of the dump Cherry Hill residents have been screaming to the high heavens about.

"Seeing and smelling" were Douglass Tawney, director of parks; Bernard Werner, director of public works; Charles Benton, director of the budget; Dr. Robert E. Farber, director of health; Edward Moore, department of sanitation chief; George Axelrod, assistant to Mr. Werner.

The presidents of the various Cherry Hill associations and organizations and residents of the LaRue Square Improvement Association went along to "show and tell", led by Mrs. William H. Murphy, director of community services of the Cherry Hill Community Presbyterian Church.

At "rope's end", the citizens had banded together in the organization INCITE (Interested Citizens for Equality) last spring.

Their ultimatum, that eventually drew the Mayor and other officials to the dump Wednesday, demanded

Carver Hi senior put on 'wagon'

A Carver High School senior is required as part of a Criminal Court sentence to "absolutely never touch a drop" of any alcoholic beverage as long as he lives.

The ultimatum was placed on Richard L. Caldwell, 17, 3200 block Grayson St., Tuesday as he appeared before Judge Charles D. Harris on a charge of robbery.

The remaining portion of the decision contained a conviction of attempted robbery and a two-year suspended sentence in the Maryland Correctional Institution for Men.

Strict probation for two years included the order by Judge Harris: "You are not to drink any kind of alcoholic beverage at any time."

The verbal order came up-

School Board ups lunch, tuition fees

The School Board, in its first meeting of the school year Thursday, raised tuition rates for non-residents and prices for lunches and heard a report from the superintendent on teacher recruitment.

New teachers recruited for the school year number 803. Dr. Laurence G. Paquin noted that the number of vacancies still to be filled stand at 162.

The largest shortage is in the elementary schools where 104 teachers are needed.

About 25 per cent of the new teachers have not completed the full qualifications, Dr. Paquin said.

Walter A. Maccubbin, assistant superintendent for staff personnel who directed the recruitment, said he expects that most of the remaining vacancies will be filled with persons without full qualification.

DR. PAQUIN attributed the difficult recruitment picture to four things:

1. Late resignations.
2. The discord over the budget and teachers' salaries, (He discounted the effect of PSTA sanctions.)
3. The image of the "deteriorating" city.
4. "Target City" publicity and racial strife in other urban areas.

The Board raised school lunch prices five cents to 35 cents for elementary schools and 40 cents for secondary schools.

The raise in tuition for nonresidents amounts to a jump from $345 to $370 for elementary students and from $480 to $530 for high school students.

SAFETY CATCH MISSING—Mrs. Dorothy Evans, mother of the four-year-old boy who plunged to his death in the Lafayette Court project, looks through the window from which the fatal fall took place. Mrs. Evans stated that a safety catch to keep the screen from raising more than six inches had been missing for some time.

10-story fall from window in project kills youngster

It was probably miraculous that he did not die immediately, but four-year-old Thomas Williams lived only five minutes at Church Home Hospital, where he was admitted after falling from the 10th story window of his apartment in the Lafayette Court housing project Wednesday afternoon.

His mother, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, 125 Colvin St., told police she had left him and another one-year-old son in the care of a neighbor while she washed clothes in the basement laundrette.

Police also learned that another three-year-old girl narrowly missed the same fate as she was grabbed from the same window on the 10th floor by her mother.

All the young girl could repeat was "Tommy fell out, Tommy fell out."

Mrs. Eddie Dunn, who lives in the next apartment, told police she was watching Mrs. Evans' children and her own three-year-old, Pamella, while her neighbor washed clothes.

Then Mrs. Evans' daughter, Sharon Williams, eight, came up to borrow some change for her mother in the launderette.

* * *

MRS. DUNN said she left the apartment briefly to go to her own apartment to get the change.

After she gave young Sharon the change, Mrs. Dunn said she heard women screaming, and, looking out

Boat explosion fatal to Mrs. Gracie Turner

Mrs. Gracie Turner, 38, pioneer resident of Anne Arundel County, suffered fatal burns in a boating accident near Annapolis on Thursday.

With her husband, Winfield Turner, the deceased operated a barbecue place at their home on Edgewood Rd., near Back Creek.

A spokesman at the home told the AFRO the Turner family has lived in the area 'oh more than 50 years.'

The spokesman said the Turners and friends were on a fishing trip.

* * *

POLICE REPORT Mrs. Turner was killed and eight other persons injured when a 38 - foot cabin cruiser exploded shortly after taking on a tank of gas at Jones Marina on Back Creek.

The boat is reported a complete wreck.

Victims were sent to hospitals in Annapolis and Baltimore.

* * *

REPORTED MOST seriously injured are: Mrs. Cornelia Tongue, Arundel - on - the - Bay; and James Gist, 2705 E. Chase St., Baltimore.

Their condition at University Hospital in Baltimore was reported satisfactory at AFRO presstime.

Mr. Gist's brother, Carroll, also of E. Chase St., was among those on the boat who reportedly received minor injuries or burns.

Others were identified as: Mrs. Thelma Gee, Baltimore, Mrs. Mamie Taylor, Philadelphia; Mrs. Virginia T. Chambers, Baltimore; Robert Wilks, Baltimore; Mrs. Thelma Gee, Baltimore; and Mr. Turner, husband of the dead woman.

A spokesman at his home said today (Friday), Mr. Turner was not yet able to make funeral arrangements.

Sen. Welcome gets 2nd death threat

State Senator Verda Welcome (D.-4th) reported to Police Commissioner Gelston today (Friday) that she has received a death threat from an anonymous telephone caller.

Senator Welcome, a candidate for reelection in Tuesday's Primary, told police that she received a call shortly after 9 a.m. today. She quoted a mysterious voice as saying:

"You had better get out while you can. We will not miss you the next time."

Senator Welcome could give police no motive for the mysterious call. In fact, she attempted to ignore it but with reservations.

"I think it is the work of a crack-pot. However, after you have gone through this sort of thing once, you just can never know."

SENATOR WELCOME obviously had reference to an earlier attempt on her life two years ago.

At that time she sustained two bullet wounds when a would-be assassin fired six shots at her while she was leaving her car in the front of her Liberty Heights Ave. home.

The trigger man and his accomplices in that case were subsequently sentenced to prison.

Detective Lt. Clarence R. Roy of Headquarters Homicide Squad has been assigned to investigate the latest threat.

SENATOR WELCOME told the AFRO today (Friday), she had received a warning not to go out at night alone prior to the latest death threat.

Two weeks ago, she said, she received a call from a man with a threat, 'but we dismissed it.

'It's getting pretty nasty, it may get worse between now and the 13th. 'I just don't know, but I'm going to continue to campaign,' she promised.

PLUMETS TO DEATH—Four - year - old Thomas Williams fell from this window in Lafayette Court.

New tactics appear as beauticians vie

The heat in the race among Favorite Beautician candidates is rising as several groups have begun sending their votes to the AFRO in large blocks.

Campaigns are obviously gaining strength due to the wide-open competition as the candidates move into the second stage.

Today's published standings will undoubtedly start the wheels of ballot-seeking into first rate activity.

Hard-working candidates are now seeing the results of building an early margin and continuing to hold their vote strength.

Any beautician may be entered and anyone may send the candidate's name and beauty shop to the Favorite Beautician Contest, AFRO-AMERICAN, 628 N. Eutaw St., Balto. 21201.

Roomer in home held for murder

After police summoned an ambulance for the battered body of Mrs. Laura Dorsey, 45, found in her apartment in the 1200 block of Edythe St. Sunday morning, they began a routine search of the premises.

At 8:15 her nude body, lying on a bloodied mattress, was pronounced dead at the scene by the crew of Ambulance No. 7.

In the search, police Crime Lab, Homicide Squad, Eastern District — found the remains of an orgy of violence, which neighbors, later questioned by officers, said they had not heard.

* * *

THE EASTERN district report of the incident notes finding bloodstains on the walls of the bedroom, bathroom, hallway and on her mattress.

In the victim's hair were numerous particles of foam rubber, apparently from a foam rubber pillow, police said.

The search continued with findings of two pieces of a bloodstained broom handle and the remains of the pillow in the front bedroom.

In the rear yard were more particles of the broom handle, and, in a trash can, more bloodied sections of the broom and a woman's skirt and slip and foam rubber particles.

In the kitchen was a tee-shirt covered with apparent blood stains.

SNCC blamed for inciting Atlanta riots

ATLANTA — How could a city like Atlanta, long touted as racially moderate suddenly explode with racial trouble as grim as anything seen in the Deep South in years?

Mayor Ivan Allen, who was knocked to the ground during Tuesday's rioting that shattered the racial peace of this city, accused the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and its leader, Stokely Carmichael, of a "deliberate attempt" to create an incident.

At the same time, police officially charged one of Carmichael's close associates, "Black Power" advocate William Ware, of inciting to riot, in which 15 persons were injured by rocks and bottles. Lesser charges were brought against 71 others of the 1,000 rioters.

Allen, who pleaded personally in vain for order during the outburst by 1,000 colored citizens left no doubt in a news conference Wednesday that he holds Carmichael as the man chiefly responsible.

"If Mr. Carmichael is look-

SNCC denies; Stokely jailed

ATLANTA — Stokely Carmichael leader of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) denied charges made by Atlanta's Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. that he and members of the civil rights organization started the riot that swept Atlanta, Tuesday.

"This one was started by an act, a white vicious policeman shooting down a black man in a black community." He said it didn't matter whether the shooting was justifiable.

Last night (Thursday) Carmichael was jailed on a charge of inciting to riot. He is under $10,000 bail.

Aged couple in the 'Great Society': 2 lives oozing away in dark poverty

By GEORGE W. COLLINS

"Just multiply them by hundreds and you'll get an idea of how many people in this city are living and dying in filth and poverty and don't know what to do about it."

"They are really the forgotten people."

Mrs. Helen Odom, director of the Monument St. Community Action Agency Center, was reacting Tuesday to what a health inspector described as a "critical condition."

Theodore H. Brooks Jr., the inspector, had made the grim discovery earlier and returned to the center director for assistance.

While on a routine inspection mission, Mr. Brooks entered a house at 113 N. Dallas St. Here is what he found, as witnessed by an Eastern District Health Department nurse, ambulance attendants, and reporters:

Eminating from the house were foul odors, long the cause of complaint by many of the neighbors who have lived in the narrow street for decades.

THE MAN of the house Samuel Wiggins, 69, was prostrate on the floor and appeared to be unconscious. His wife, Mrs. Della Wiggins, 71, was barely able to walk and was incoherent.

Following an examination by Mrs. Sue Zakin, registered nurse, an ambulance was summoned and the couple was transported to Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Both were examined and released after hospital officials determined they were suffering from nothing more than excessive drinking.

They were returned to
