MISS MARY Charlene Clayton and Ronald Peebles were married in St. Gregory the Great Roman Catholic Church Easter Monday.

Miss Clayton wed to Ronald Peebles

The altar of St. Gregory the Great Roman Catholic Church was banked with white lilies for the Easter Monday nuptial Mass of Miss Charlene Clayton and Ronald Peebles.

The bride, a graduate of St. Pius School, St. Francis Academy and St. John University, is currently a teacher in New York City. She is the daughter of Mrs. Erva M. Dunn of this city.

Fr. Joseph M. Connolly performed the double - ring ceremony. Robert Fraling was soloist.

• • •

GIVEN IN marriage by her brother, Herman J. Clayton, Miss Clayton wore a gown of white silk peau satin trimmed with scalloped Chantilly and re-embroidered with seed pearls.

Her veil was held by a tiara of crystals and going to the altar she carried a bridal bouquet of cymbidium orchids and baby's breath. This became an offering to the Blessed Mother. From the altar she carried white carnations and an orchid on a prayer book.

THE BRIDE was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Herman J. Clayton, as matron of honor.

Mrs. Clayton, clad in pale green peau de soie, carried a bouquet of spring flowers tied with ribbons to match her dress.

Bridesmaids were Misses Carolyn Dennis, Delores Dennis and Peggy Been of Jamaica, N.Y. and Yvonne Reid of this city.

They wore dresses in yellow, and carried spring flowers tied with ribbons in yellow.

The attendants wore matching flirtation veils held by miniature bouquets.

Flower girl was Lynn Wilson. Gregory Lewis carried the rings.

• • •

WILLIAM ELLIOTT was best man for Mr. Peebles. Ushers were Thaddeus Torrence, Leo Lewis, Phillip Howard, Herbert Brown and Leonard Willis.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Reisterstown Rd. home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Erva M. Dunn.

For the wedding and reception, Mrs. Dunn wore a dress and coat ensemble in turquoise silk shantung, with matching slippers and bag, and gloves and hat of beige. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Peebles, mother of the bridegroom, selected a two-piece white brocade suit, with which she wore beige hat, gloves, bag and shoes. She, too, wore an orchid.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dockery Peebles of this city, is a graduate of Baltimore City College. He is currently payroll clerk for Bethlehem Steel Co., here. He held a similar post during two years of his stay in the Navy.

The newlyweds, currently honeymooning in San Juan, Puerto Rico, will later live in New York.

OIC cups now in local shops

OIC trainees and instructors took an evening off from classes this week to help boost the job training project's $100,000 fund drive by saturating the city with contribution cups.

Mrs. Betty Foy, supervisor of training for Opportunities Industrialization Center, said several trainees requested to help shift the fund campaign into higher gear.

"It became a matter of working for something they want and feel is worthwhile," Mrs. Foy said.

• • •

THE CANS, carrying the message "OIC Means a Job," are designed to enable those persons who would like to donate to do so as conveniently as possible," Mrs. Foy said.

Cans were placed in barberships, beauty salons, bars, food stores and other business establishments.

The self-help vocational training program, which is currently operating with volunteer instructors and private contributions, has 87 enrollees.

Pre-vocational classes are being taught at the Baptist Training Center at Mosher and McCulloh Sts. from 6 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Registration is continuous during these hours.

• • •

CONTRIBUTIONS may be sent to Opportunities Industrialization Center, 1371 N. Stricker St. For more information, call LA. 3-1617.

Mrs. Foy emphasized that the doors of the center are open to "anyone who feels he would like a better job."

While current classes are geared to basic education levels, plans call for a full curricula of vocational courses as soon as funds are available, she said.

Insanity plea saves man in wife's death

Charged in the Dec. 27, 1965 knife slaying of his wife, Charlie Tyson, 46, was judged not guilty by reason of insanity in a Criminal Court trial Tuesday.

The body of Mrs. Lucille Tyson, 41-year-old beautician of 1725 Clifview Ave., was found by police seated in a chair in the basement of the Tyson home.

The matron's death was ruled the result of a number of stabs in her stomach.

According to court testimony, the murder followed an argument between the Tysons.

• • •

A STATEMENT, given by the defendant, said Mrs. Tyson struck at him with the knife.

Tyson told of taking the knife from her, cutting her, then going upstairs to prepare to go to work after she fell to her knees during a scuffle.

"I came back downstairs to boil some eggs," the statement continued. "She was sitting in the chair bleeding from the stomach."

Tyson then went to a neighbor and asked that the police be called, claiming he had found his wife in this condition, it was revealed.

He was held for investigation and later charred with the murder of his wife.

Defense Attorney E. Thomas Maxwell Jr. told the court the defendant, a laborer, had a fourth grade education.

SHORTLY after his arraignment, Tyson was sent to the Clifton T. Perkins Hospital for observation and treatment.

A report submitted to Supreme Bench Judge James Perrott by the institution staff said that, at the time of the crime, the defendant was unable to determine right from wrong.

Tyson was deemed, however, to be competent to stand trial at this time.

After hearing the evidence and weighing the judgement of the Perkins staff, Judge Perrott pronounced his verdict.

He further ruled the defendant be re-committed to the hospital for further psychiatric treatment.

Time now to act to prevent explosion during summer

By MICHAEL DAVIS

It won't be long now before the mercury in that old thermometer begins to rise. And as winter fades and spring ushers in the summer one can't help but wonder what the hot weather will bring.

What are the chances of riots in 1967? All of us who follow the racial calendar know that after spring comes summer and the intolerable tensions that have exploded in ghettos with the heat.

But this year there are new circumstances —new conditions —new problems to be faced in the ghettos and slums of the United States.

It was bad enough last year in Atlanta when this writer covered four days and nights of racial strife. And the toll? One dead — many hurt —relations ruined.

And in Chicago there were problems too. The costs? Two colored citizens dead — six policemen hit by sniper fire —scores injured —the national guard called out.

• • •

BUT THIS year a colored soldier in an integrated platoon in Vietnam counts the final days before his service is over. If he can survive mines, and sniper fires and booby traps for 32 more days he will return to Baltimore.

But can he buy a home in an integrated neighborhood when he gets back?

Thousands of colored soldiers with a new stake in America will be asking that question this summer.

The process of emerging from a long period of enforced inferior social status is producing a newly discovered sense of pride and self sufficiency among colored Americans.

There i. social students have observed, a new aggressiveness and self-assertion.

• • •

STOP BEING ashamed of being black," shouted Stokely Carmichael to 12,000 at Jackson, Miss.

Black power, black power, black power," shouted back his listeners.

Militancy has produced counter militancy.

We have seen the rise of a Lester Maddox in Georgia, a Wallace in Alabama, an Exalter Edwards here in Baltimore.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has called for an end to urban disturbance because riots in the streets do not bring lasting reforms."

But at the same time his open housing proposal was torn to shreds by a Senate filibuster.

The President is trying again this year.

BUT ASTUTE political observers say that the 1967 racial picture is already out of focus.

Among the factors that could be laying the foundation for another 'hot summer" are: defeat of the 1966 housing bill; House unseating of Harlem Rep. Adam Clayton Powell; Political aspirations of segregationist George Wallace; reduced federal poverty aid because of the war effort in Vietnam, and a possible increase in the trend of unemployment.

But it is early in the year, and the heat has not set in yet.

The first crokus are just beginning to push their heads through the earth.

No one seems too concerned now about what the summer will bring.

• • •

LAST WEE K in Baltimore, a militant right winger passed out literature warning Americans to "wake up, before it's too late." It was an attempt on the part of members of a states' hight party to "warn" citizens that "militant blacks" are taking over the government.

And in New York a militant group of nationalists marched in a Harlem street with placards vowing "death to the white man."

Perhaps, now is the time to wake up.

This might be the time to move to heal the wounds of racial discontent that left unattended could fester and explode into the chronic racial ulcers that have been so common in recent summers.

BURHA, HUD hit on policies

The Activists for Fair Housing charged this week that the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Authority and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, are using federal money to subsidize housing segregation.

The Activists further charged that a recent BURHA request for money for 250 leased housing units was approved in spite of the fact that the City Council had said that these were ghetto housing units.

The activists maintain that these practices will only serve to further entrench patterns of segregated housing.

IN LETTERS to Maryland's senators and Council President Thomas D'Alesandro the Activists said:

"Sites now proposed for public housing are inadequate. None of these is so located that it can do more than demonstrate once again how federal funds are being used to further entrench patterns of housing segregation.

"None of these sites qualify under the directive issued by HUD to comply with Executive Order 11063 that no further sites would be approved that do not contribute to an integrated community.

"In light of the selection by BURHA of these sites and approval by HUD, we question the sincerity of both agencies in wanting to give this position more than blib lip-service."
