Food market

"FOOD IS the biggest business in central-city communities today," Mr. Smith said, speaking to an organizing committee in Winston-Salem.

Colored consumers who make up 70 per cent of the population in these areas, spend one-fourth of their income for food, a significantly higher proportion than that spent by the population as a whole."

One reason for this according to Mr. Smith, "is that the non-white family on the average, is 25 per cent larger than that of whites. The colored family is also younger than its white counterpart and in addition, its rate of annual increase is three times that of the general population.

"Of the U.S. population under 14, one in seven is non-white," he said while emphasizing the need for the inner city enterprise.

Guard called

issued the order to active duty at the request of Greene County sheriff, Russell Bradley.

A majority of the students, CSU officials said, were ignoring the incident.

"This whole thing is a pain," one student said. "We are one week away from finals and we don't have time to mess around."

"Five hundred men have been called into active duty to suppress a riot at Central State University," McElroy said. "They will act in support of local authorities."

A spokesman for the Xenia Post of the State highway patrol, four miles southwest of here, said the guard was requested by the sheriff because his deputies and supporting patrolmen "were unable to handle the situation."

There were 30 deputies and 70 patrolmen at the scene.

Wilberforce, supported by the African Methodist Church, has a student body of more than 800. It is predominantly a colored institution.

Central State, a state-supported university, has more than 2,600 students and also is predominantly colored.

Duffle bag

ton-Park, Sgt. Lewis said.

When it was discovered by the boys, the body was stuffed in an army duffel bag, with the feet showing, investigators reported. Thus the case was tagged "Duffel Bag Murder Case."

Official cause of death was listed as manual strangulation.

Marchers

ed me in may ways and I feel some responsibility for its continuation.

STARTING AT the Hopkins Plaza Sunday morning, the marchers strode toward Washington with rest breaks about every five miles.

Sunday night, the marchers slept at the St. Timothy Episcopal Church. Monday, they spent the night at the University Park Church of the Brethren.

Meals were prepared by CAA workers in Baltimore and taken to the marchers.

For emergency medical care, the Red Cross provided a mobile first aid unit.

City, county and state police departments provided protection for the marchers.

DIRECTOR MITCHELL and his associates, Richard Bateman and Stanley Mazer, have asked that they be taken off the payroll during the walk to Washington.

Other staff members on the march are giving up their vacation time to walk to Washington.

While the march goes on the central CAA office and each of the 30 neighborhood centers will be open their usual hours of 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Marshall writes his first opinion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that an indigent has a right to a lawyer at a hearing where probation is revoked and a sentence imposed.

The unanimous opinion was written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, his first since he took his seat in October at the start of the term.

The decision — in two cases from Washington State — was another in a series dealing with the right to counsel.

1,000 WORSHIP IN FIRE GUTTED CHURCH

MURFREESBORO, N.C. (UPI) — A "service of concern" held at the site of the fire-gutted Baptist church here Sunday attracted over 1,000 persons.

The loss of the church last Wednesday was estimated at $100,000. Arson is suspected although the exact cause of the fire has not been established. It was the fourth major fire in Murfreesboro in recent weeks.

A collection to start reconstruction of the church brought in between $3,000 and $5,000 and numerous other pledges were announced.

N.C. Mutual teams up with war on poverty

DURHAM, N.C. — In its first issue of the company's magazine, N.C. Mutual Life Insurance Co. aligns itself with the War on Poverty.

Noting that the company is engaged in a "mission" to bring "more abundant life" to deprived people, President Asa T. Spaulding cited company efforts against poor housing and other deprivations.

Dr. Robert C. Weaver, Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, said recently in dedicating the new home office building.

"A quarter of a century ago, it was N.C. Mutual which was unique among businesses recognizing the importance of FHA insured mortages.

"In the mid-forties, 75 per cent of such mortgages held by non-white controlled enterprises were in the portfolio of this company," said Weaver.

Spaulding said the company will continue to move to have America "live up to the ideals of first-class citizenship for all."

Woolworth buys land in Harlem

NEW YORK — The F. W. Woolworth Company announced recently it has acquired property in the heart of Harlem's business district as the first step in building one of its largest, new stores in the State.

Rape suspect's bond protested by leaders

MOBILE, Ala.—Three Prichard, Ala., white men were accused of rape by a young colored woman in what seemed to have been a hush-hush case until the incident was brought to light by a number of leaders in that city.

One arrest has been made in the case and Prichard police said they are seeking two other white men who were named as having been involved in the attack on the young woman.

The victim was said to have picked out Larry Coker, 23, in a police line-up as one of the men. Colored citizens protested the release of the accused on $2,000 bond by Prichard Police Chief Dan Davis before a preliminary hearing was held, noting that no black had ever been released by him in this kind of case.

The young woman said the rape occurred on Sunday morning, Oct. 29, between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock. Coker is alleged to have gone to her home and lured her into his automobile on the pretext that his mother wanted a domestic servant $1.25 per hour. She said he was joined by two other white men several blocks away in a sparsely populated area, who sat on either side of her in the back seat of the car.

She said they told her what they wanted and drove to a wooded section in the area of Mobile College where at gun point, each of them ravished her three times.

United Nations Youths meet at Southern High

Southern High School will be host on Tuesday, to the United Nations Youth of Maryland.

A Model Security Council meeting will be held to which many of the high schools of Maryland will send representatives.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the auditorium of Southern and, except for an adjournment for lunch, will continue until 2:30 p.m.

The United States delegation, representing Southern, will introduce a resolution to the Model Security Council asking the United Nations to intervene in the war in Vietnam.

Delegations from the various high schools, representing various countries of the UN, will then present what they consider to be the points of view of their country.

The students will attempt to reach an accord on this problem that is presently a vital world issue. Classes at Southern will be able to observe the meeting and anyone interested is invited to attend.
