Philly Social Whirl

By BARBARA PRIGMORE

Moving from Philadelphia to Germantown was like going into a new and different city, and yet remaining in the midst of old friends.

The gorgeous color of leaves and fall flowers (we even have a garden and a crab apple tree) is exciting . . . and we have friends and acquaintances in the East, West and Chestnut Hill sectors of this historic section.

I shall, of course, continue to write about Philadelphia doings, so keep the mail coming to the new address, 534 W. Ellet St., or phone to Chestnut Hill 7-6107.

Virginia State students hear Miss Johnson

PETERSBURG, Va. — A Virginia State College honor graduate who later fashioned a success story as an accountant at the IBM Systems Development Division Laboratory in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. returned to the campus Wednesday to address the student body regarding opportunities in the computerfield.

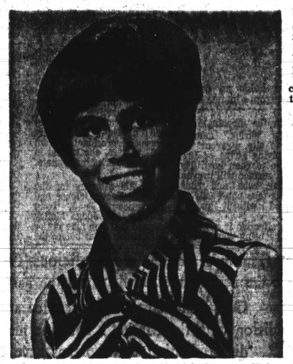
Shirley A. Johnson, formerly of Richmond, studied at Virginia State under a state funded tuition scholarship and graduated at the head of her class in 1965 with a B.S. degree in Business Administration.

She worked an average of 20 hours a week in the college Bookkeeping Department, and in addition spent summer vacations as a bookkeeper at the Crown Saving Bank in Newport News to supplement the cost of her education.

"I always liked figures," Miss Johnson told the student body. "The college Business Administration course offered an elective in accounting which gave me a broader background than bookkeeping."

She elected IBM in Poughkeepsie as the place to take her college-required summer internship.

Beginning in July, 1965 attending an extensive IBM training program, Miss Johnson took her place as an accountant at the Poughkeepsie facility in November that year. Her duties have been varied, including general analyses of developmental costs for engineering projects, analysing project budgets and making recommendations regarding the distribution of costs among projects compressing overall developmental program.



THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Nannette Cecile Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Percival C. Smith, Baltimore and Washington, to Shelton R. Penn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Penn, Sr. of Covington, Va., has been announced by her parents. Miss Smith, a microbiologist at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, is also a student in the graduate School of Howard University. Her fiance graduated from St. Paul's College, served in the U. S. Army, and will receive a Master's degree in microbiology in June.

Methodist women set study conference

NEW YORK — More than 100 Methodist women leaders will meet here December 6-9 to plan for the involvement of Methodist women throughout America in four issues in 1968.

The meeting will be a special training conference for the secretaries of Christian social relations in jurisdiction and annual conference Woman's Societies of Christian Service and the chairmen of Christian social relations in jurisdiction and conference Wesleyan Service Guilds. The training conference was authorized in April by the Woman's Division of the Methodist Board of Missions.

• • •

MISS THELMA STEVENS, assistant general secretary of the Woman's Division for Christian Social Relations, said the conference will focus on launching plans for: 1 — Observance of the International Year of Human Rights in 1968; 2 — Local "World Understanding Workshops" for Methodist women throughout the nation in 1968; 3 — 1968 election year responsibility; 4 — Race and the Methodist Church.

Miss Stevens, who is in St. Luke's Hospital here recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last August, said the conference would be the first in 27 years to bring the jurisdiction and conference Christian social relations leaders together for training. In other years, training has been through summer schools of mission, special workshops and other channels.

Some of the sessions will be held at the Church Center for the United Nations and others at the Victoria Hotel.

The Continental Society of Washington graciously turned over $1000, Thursday, for the benefit of disadvantaged Washington students attending Bowie State College. These funds are to be used for books and supplies where needed.

Mrs. Constance Butler, chairman of the club's Education Fund presented the check to Dr. Samuel L. Myers, president of the college. With Mrs. Butler were Mrs. Joe Sewell and Mrs. Edith Harrell.

The trio was later guests at luncheon in the faculty dining room, where they were joined by Dr. Myers, Dr. Cecil Spellman, Miss Ada Elam, associate dean of students; Dr. Gilbert Hill, dean of the college; and Mrs. Constance Racht.

And in Elmhurst, N.Y. recently, Marguerite Hall of Cincinnati, Ohio, was inducted as vice president of Girl Friends; Jacqueline Reid of Richmond, Va., as secretary; and Irma Roy of Baltimore, as editor of the "Chatter Box."

The new officers were installed by Nelmatilda Woodward of Chicago, Ill. at the executive board meeting, which was attended by some 75 delegates from 22 chapters.

Alyce Moore of Roanoke, Va., national president, presided. Upon the invitation of the Buffalo, N.Y., chapter, through Lois Dabney, the executive board meeting will be held in that city next year. The national conclave will go to Cincinnati. That invitation came through Arletta Graves of the Ohio city.

PARTY PRATTLE — Roy Wilkins, Executive Director of the NAACP, is serving as honorary chairman of the County Line Guild of Career Women's second annual cotillion and dinner dance, December 1st, in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton Hotel. Serving along with Mr. Wilkins are Mrs. Eugene H. Nickerson, of Nassau County; Mrs. H. Lee Dennison, of Suffolk County; and Mrs. Cathy White Aldridge. Fifty young ladies from Nassau and Suffolk Counties, Queens and the Metropolitan area and their escorts will be presented at this cotillion.

The highlight of the affair will be the crowning of the Queen who will be named "Junior Miss Career Woman," and received a $1,000.00 War Savings Bond. She will be crowned by the retiring Queen, Miss Marie Johnson, who is now president of her Freshman Class at New York University.

The first runner-up will receive a $500 Bond and the second runner-up, a $200 bond. A $500.00 Bond will also be given to the young man selected as the "King." Sub-debutantes will also receive Savings Bonds in the order of 1st-place: $200.00; 2nd-$100.00 and 3rd-$50.00

Two outstanding women will be presented awards. The Career Woman award will go to Miss Barbara Marie Green, principal of I.S. 72, Queens, and the Community Service Award to Mrs. Cathy White Aldridge, Woman's Editor of the N.Y. Amsterdam News.

Mrs. Florence Allen Holmes, internationally known for her civic, club, and religious work with special emphasis on youth, is founder-president of the County Line Guild of Career Women. Committee members of this coming "Spirit of Christmas" Cotillion include Lillie Scott, Ivy W. Williams, Elise Brrow, Myra Pinell, Barbara Wheatley, Doris Davis, Lenora Hoyle, Hazel Morris, Margaret Perry, Eleanor V. H. Black, Sarah Frye, Jeanne Hunt, Eileen Gribbin, Margaret Jordan, Josephine Reese and Mannie B. Wright.

Choreographers are Alvin Wilks and Mrs. Ada Fisher Jones. Proceeds from the cotillion and dinner dance will be given as scholarships to deserving youths.

Popular Harlem beauty executive Mrs. Natalie Haskell thought she was going to meet friends for dinner, Saturday night, when Don Phillips took her to the home of Mrs. Delores Johnson. But she was overwhelmed with excitement when more than 50 friends and co-workers were on hand to give her a gala surprised birthday party.

Delta's sponsor dance program

By NAOMI C. McLEAN

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Cleo Quitman and her Danse Generale troupe, combining ballet and modern dance was in Winston-Salem recently at Reynolds Auditorium. Proceeds from the appearance will be used by the sponsoring group, the Winston-Salem Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority for its scholarship and other public service program.

Miss Quitman has appeared on televisions with the June Taylor Dancers and on the Broadway stage ("Show boat" and "Florello"). Off Broadway, she danced Mary's role in Langston Hughes, "Black Nativity." She toured Europe with a colored dance group which she helped form with fellow students at the Metropolitan Opera's Ballet School.

She also has taught at Harkness School of Ballet in New York. Her Danse Generale was formed last October, and was tabbed by New York Times critic Clive Barnes as "of more than average interest."

At intermission, the sorority chapter crowned "Miss Delta," Miss Curtis Carolyn Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Richardson and an 11th grade student at Reynolds High School.
