Wasn't aware

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — George Wallace, the half-print former governor of Alabama, said here Saturday he was not aware that the Ku Klux Klan was circulating petitions in South Carolina aimed at placing him on the presidential ballot.

"Ah appreciate the support of anyone who wants to work for what we believe,"

'PLEASE TAKE ME' — is what seven-month-old Jimmy seems to be saying. He is waiting in a foster home for a mother and daddy. Get more details about him or about some of the other children now up for adoption by calling or writing, Family and Children's Society 1301 Park Ave., 669-9000.

Party honors Miss Brown

SALISBURY, N.C. — Miss Jewel Brown, featured vocalist with the Louis Armstrong "All-stars" aggregation, which appeared in concert here at Catawba College, on Wednesday evening, was the honoree at a buffet-supper and informal gathering at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Mason Brewer, on Crestview Drive, immediately following the rendition of the program.

Mrs. Brewer, who was a former neighbor and friend of Miss Brown when they both lived in Galveston, Texas, was charming hostess for the occasion.

* * *

THE PARTY was also attended by three other members of the Satchmo Combo: Marty Napoleon, pianist, George Catlett, virtuoso of the bass-viol, and Tyree Glenn, trombonist.

Other guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marioneaux, and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Staton.

WATCH OUT, EDDIE, HERE COMES EARL!

By SAM LACY

If Morgan State College's next football game is a victory, it will be No. 27 without loss over the past three years . . . So, watch out, Eddie, here comes Earl.

The last time Morgan elevens went on a winning tear, the whole thing mounted up to 54 contests without tasting defeat . . . It also mounted up to legendary status for Eddie Hurt, who then was the guiding genius of the Golden Bear machine . . . Eddie now is athletic director and it was he who lent the strongest shoulder to Dr. Charles Campbell when the alumni head was trying to move Banks' huge frame into the chair left vacant when Hurt retired from the gridiron scene.

Of course, it remains clear that 27 victories in a row (assuming the next one is a win) cover only half the distance to 54 and a tie with Eddie's fantastic record . . . But both Eddie and Earl know that you can't reach 54 or 55, without passing 27 . . . No more than one can get to the moon without clearing the treetops . . . Banks has a long way to go and it could be a rockier one, mainly because of the broadening area of competition that comes with the acceptance of increasing bowl or post-season assignments.

Careers similar

It may be noted that the careers of Hurt and Banks are quite similar . . . Both were acquired at a time when Morgan was seeking to expand her horizons . . . Eddie was brought in when the college was commencing to suffer from growing pains and felt the urge to go big-time, such as it was at the time . . . Earl was sought out when it became apparent that Eddie wanted to forget the rigors of recruiting and coaching football and concentrate more on Morgan's highly successful track program.

Both were men of relatively the same age at this stage of their careers . . . As Hurt was dependent on his assistant, Mazie Hill, Banks relies heavily on his sidekick, Nate Taylor . . . Without Hill, Eddie admits, he would have been powerless to lure to Morgan and develop many of the topflight athletes who helped mould the image of the Golden Bear in collegiate competition . . . And without Taylor, Banks says the current Morgan machine could be sputtering for lack of a generator.

The Rev. Mr. Banks

It also is worthy of note at this point, that both Hurt and his successor, Banks, are men who make no mystery of their reliance upon Divine help . . . Eddie was among the first of our coaches to encourage public prayer among his athletes, and this at a time when the likes of Otis Troupe, Tank Conrad, Pinky Clark, Brutus Wilson could give the impression that Morgan teams were self sufficient.

As for Earl, he has a knack for mixing religion with psychology and obtaining the desired results . . . Saturday against Virginia State, for example, the rough-hewn biggest Bear of them all abandoned the customary coaching technique of brow-beating his charges into breathing fire before the game. . . Instead, he psalmed the players into giving their all against "the formidable foe waiting at the doorstep."

Reminding his players that this was a traditional game, but, more than that, it was tremendously important, because it would give Morgan her 26th straight victory, her third consecutive conference title and uncontested stature as national champion among predominantly - colored colleges.

'And make Him proud'

"But look at the weather," Banks cajoled his athletes, with a reference to the rain that began falling a few minutes before the game time. . . . "Naturally, it would be better for our game plan if the sun were shining on a dry field. . . . But God has decided to make us work for this victory. . . . He is telling us we may count on His help, but also we must help ourselves. . . . I'm sorry, of course, that He has seen it to make our job tougher, but I'm happy that He gave me the foresight to concentrate on our running game. . . And that's what we're going to win with. . . . To you seniors who are playing your final game, be thankful that He was by your side over the past years and strive to make Him proud of you today."

Kiss of death?

I have no doubt that Banks will be somewhat upset when he reads this, because Earl makes no secret of the fact that he has a low regard for people who choose to anticipate what his teams are going to do next year . . . It isn't that he doesn't like the idea of looking ahead, he does . . . But for Banks, looking ahead means no farther than the next game.

It also may be upsetting to Morgan fans in general, and Banks fans in particular, that A to Z has the audacity to bring up the subect . . . This column, in case you aren't aware, has a reputation for planting the kiss of death on an athlete or a team that seems headed for outstanding achievement . . . Be that as it may, I'd much prefer to give Earl and his teams of the future this incentive they may not have thought about . . . It may mean they'll give it a little bigger try . . . And I happen to know that no one is pulling for Earl harder than Eddie.

'Dear Coach'

The fine Morgan performance, incidentally, prompted the writing of a letter late last week, to the small-college rating board of United Press International . . . The board is made up of five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas into which the country is split by UPI . . . The five men who do the voting in the East, the region in which Morgan finds itself, are: Howard Myers of Hofstra, Harold Shay of Southern Connecticut, Harold Raymond of Delaware University, Rocco Carzo of Tufts, and Eugene Haas of Gettysburg . . . The letter from A to Z went to each of these coaches. It said:

"Dear Coach, Like many of the Baltimore sportswriters and virtually all of the football people in the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA), I have wondered how you and your associates can manage to continually overlook Morgan State College in voting the weekly small-college ratings published by UPI.

'Logical enough

"For a number of years, the claim was that Morgan could not receive the consideration we sought because the kind of competition Morgan gets in her football schedule does not match that faced by the colleges you select.

"The reasoning here is that teams which play tougher opponents should be rated over teams whose opponents are on the weaker side. And this is logical reasoning. This explains why I, for one, have refrained from questioning your judgment in the past.

Not critical, curious

"As a matter of fact, I am not now writing to question your judgment, only to question your methods.

"I am curious to know, for instance, what yardstick is being used when teams like Florida A and M and West Chester State College can make your first ten so often, and Morgan is unable to be listed among your top thirty?

"I'm aware that members of the board who represent the East have nothing to do with the selection of Florida A and M. My reference to the inclusion of that team is for the sole purpose of dramatizing my bewilderment.

"Florida may play against stronger teams, as you say. And, maybe West Chester does, also.

Send us in, Coach

"But Morgan may be a little like Joe Frazier, the heavyweight fighter, who says he doesn't have to fight the so-called toughies assembled by the World Boxing Association. He says he'll just wait until they knock off each other in that WBA elimination tournament, then he'll lick the winner.

"That's what Morgan did. She came out of her 'little league' and whipped both your 'rated' elevens, Florida and West Chester. And to knock over any tendency you may have to dismiss the fact as a 'fluke,' Morgan licked the two of them within 22 months.

"Come now, coach, send us in."

NO. 1 FOR NO. 1—University of Southern California returned to top ranking in the nation following its 21-20 victory over UCLA Saturday, has O. J. Simpson to thank. It was fleet junior's 64-yard TD run that brought Trojans from 20-14 deficit in last quarter and paved way for win. O. J. was chosen game's outstanding player over touted UCLA quarterback Gary Beban.

Olympian's death said due to dope

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police have listed the cause of death of Richard W. Howard, a 1960 Olympic bronze medal winner in the 400-meter hurdles, as an apparent overdose of heroin.

Officers said Howard, 31, of Altadena, Calif., died last Thursday after an injection of the drug in a Hollywood motel room.

Howard, a graduate of New Mexic University, worked in the Los Angeles area as a radio station sales executive. Survivors include a wife and five daughters.

Floyd won't quit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two time heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson plans to continue fighting despite his recent, controversial loss to Jerry Quarry.

Patterson's advisor, Al Bolsh, said he was considering Joe Frazier, Buster Mathis and Manuel Ramos as opponents.

Schoolboy eleven KO'd by La. trick

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — St. Augustine High School, the first colored Louisiana high school to play against white teams, lost a skirmish Friday in its battle with the State High School Athletic Association. But a federal district judge left the door open for another round.

Judge Frederick J. Heebe upheld the suspension of 19 members of the St. Augustine football team, but said the school could still seek a permanent injunction against the ruling later.

The athletes were suspended because the LHSAA said they did not carry the academic load required.

* * *

HEEBE HELD the academic question did not present a "substantial federal question" and therefore he could not overrule the sports association.

"The basic claim of St. Augustine is that they have been penalized, not because of eligibility provisions, but because the students are colored and the school is an all-colored school," the judge said.

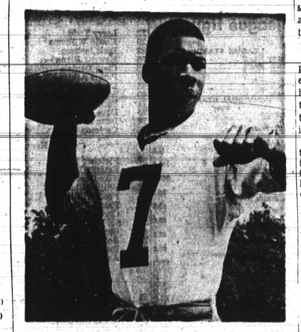
'HIS BEST GAME' — Halfback George Nock, playing his final CIAA game in Morgan's 26th consecutive win, was praised for his contribution to the 34-3 victory over Virginia State Saturday. "I think this was one of his best games," declared Morgan coach Earl Banks. The Bears' young workhorse from Philadelphia tallied his team's first touchdown and reeled off 123 yards in 30 carries against the determined Trojan defense.



FREDDIE SUMMERS

First tan Dixie QB helps save the job of his coach

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — Before this football season began, Wake Forest football coach Bill Tate thought quarterback Freddie Summers was too inexperienced with the Deacon system to be a starter.

But Summers, a transfer student, took over the Wake Forest reins on the third offensive play of the game and stayed there the rest of the year.

* * *

THE FIRST colored quarterback ever to play in the Atlantic Coast Conference closed out the season Friday night by personally compiling 248 yards in total offense and scoring two touchdowns as the Deacons rolled over winless Maryland, 35-17.

Summers ran for 115 yards and passed for 133 more.

With Summers the spearhead, the Deacons rolled up 502 yards in total offense for their biggest game of the year and finished the season with a 4-6 mark.

THE VICTORY and the ground attack they discovered in the seventh game of the season saved Tate's job. Just before the game, Wake Forest officials awarded him a new contract the terms of which were not disclosed.

Tate's old four-year contract was due to expire at the end of this season and he was under fire. The Deacons had lost their first six games after pre-season ratings had them ranked high in the ACC.

Summers' two touchdowns gave him a total of 10 for the season.

* * *

MARYLAND Coach Bob Ward, experiencing a dismal season, joined Tate in praise for Summers who will be back to guide the Deacons next season.

"Summers is just great," Ward said. "the best player I've seen all year. He can do everything."

MORGAN 34, VA. STATE 3:

'Too many mistakes,' says Trojan coach of loss

BALTIMORE

Morgan State College, running her winning skein to 26 football victories, was paid high tribute, following Saturday's 34-3 conquest of Virginia State College.

"Morgan has a good, sound football team," declared Virginia coach W. W. Lawsos. "It was a good, hard game, and we put everything we had into it. But we made too many mistakes and that was our downfall.

"This is not to say that my boys didn't give it all they had. They did. Nor is it to say that they committed errors that were unforgiveable.

* * *

"WE MADE mistakes that have to be expected of young teams of freshmen and sophomores. And against a team like Morgan, you don't have to make but one mistake and you're dead. They rarely beat themselves.

"Banks (Coach Earl Banks) was just too good and too deep and too experienced," Lawson summed-up this year's renewal of the traditional battle between Trojan and Bear.

* * *

ON THE other side of the picture, Banks was mixing expressions of gratitude to his youngsters with admiration for the Virginia State team they had just victimized.

"They came to play," Earl told the AFRO. "Lawson had them 'up' for us and we had to work for this one much harder than the score indicates. Virginia State deserves a lot of credit for the way they did their job. They brought the play to us all the way and it could have been a different story had we not been driven by incentive.

* * *

"ONE OF these was supplied by one of the boys," Banks revealed. "That was a slogan suggested by Boyd (offensive end Gerald Boyd). I heard him telling the fellows: 'We can't lose, because I don't want to be the member of a team that broke the streak.'

"You can believe me that is going to be the rallying cry I'll try to instill in next year's team.

"I've been complaining all year," Earl reminisced. "I've fussed with the guys and griped about being dissatisfied with certain things and all that. Now that it's all over, I feel obligated to say it was a grand year. I'm happy about the entire season.

* * *

"I WAS particularly pleased by the performance of our older fellows.

"I thought Nock (halfback George Nock) played one of his best games. He has a chance to graduate, and I'm extremely happy he went out on a big game, if this is to be his last.

* * *

"I WAS elated over the way the entire team adjusted after Daryl (quarterback Daryl Johnson) was ejected from the game. You can't imagine how much that meant to us. Actually, losing him meant that we had to junk 75 percent of our game plan.

"Daryl, you know, not only quarterbacks the offense, but plays excellent spot defense as well. He does all our conversion kicking and is in full control of the situation when he's in there.

* * *

JOHNSON was put out of the game in the first quarter by an official who contended the Bear QB kicked a Virginia State player after he had been tackled on a pass attempt.

"I'm not one to publicly question an official call, but I'd have to say that there are some boys who just wouldn't be guilty of 'dirty' football. And Johnson is one of them," Banks continued.

* * *

"THE LOSS of Johnson meant that we had to go with Charlie Harrison. And let me say right now that Harrison did a fine job of getting the team home, even though he was under a tremendous handicap.

"This is a young man who works eight hours every night on an off-campus job, goes to school in the day and has to try doubly hard when he gets to practice. He has been worked with only the basic tactics of offense, and was strange to the game plan we had mapped for State.

"I'm proud of him and all the other kids—and grateful, too," concluded the Bear mentor. — SAM LACY

O'Ree has 'hat trick' in hockey win

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Willie O'Ree's hat trick sparked the red-hot San Diego Gulls to a 4-6 victory over first-place Seattle Friday night before 12,777 Western Hockey League fans.

O'Ree scored a goal in each of the three periods. His linemates, Ross Perkins and Al Nicholson, each tallied once as the Gulls ran their unbeaten string to seven games.

John MacMillan accounted for San Diego's other goal.

The Gulls moved to within three points of first place with their second win of the season over Seattle.

Mighty Babe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Babe Ruth set an all-time record by hitting .625 in the 1928 World Series as the New York Yankees swept the St. Louis Cardinals in four games.
