The Fields

I

Of the friendly fields let this be said:
They've heard the prayer for the daily bread
Since the Lord first sent the rain and light
To the dreaming seed, and the blossom bright.
The world says good night to the sun,
But their work of wonder is never done;
Under the silence, dim and sweet,
They hear the heart of the wide world beat;
Blend with the songs of the morning's spread—
"Give us this day our daily bread."

II

Simple and sweet as that uttered prayer
Are the fields that are sleeping there,
When the fireside glows in the loveblest place
And children smile in the mother's face;
Or morning wakens, and human words
Blend with the songs of the Morning's birds;
Simple and sweet in flower and clod—
The fields of God—the fields of God!
Life, to the banqueting table led,
With love that blesses life's daily bread.

III

Oh the fields hear God in the dark, and know
The ways that the stars of the morning go;
For the stars that glimmer on sea and sod
Tell their dreams to the fields of God;
Their dreams of life, as far and free
As the fruits of the fields and the waves of the sea;
Of tenderest pity, and mercy, high
As the heart-ways that open a door to the sky.
Love's gifts to the earth in each flower and clod—
The fields of God—the fields of God!

State Has Forty Five Legion Posts.—Headquarters of the American Legion reports forty-five completed posts in Maryland with a possibility of an increase of 20 prior to the date of the state convention which meets Oct. 3. Plans for the state convention are materializing rapidly and it is anticipated that approximately 500 delegates and alternates will be in attendance. Arrangements have been made with the Hotel Emerson management for the use of a meeting hall in that hotel, which will be the headquarters of the convention. A meeting has been called for 4 p. m. Oct. 2, at which will be present an advance delegate from every post then organized. Delegates then will discuss a program for the convention and arrange for the conduct of the first annual meeting of the Maryland branch.

Back To Chestertown After Forty Years.—It is quite a wide gap between 1919 and 1879. The latter date is the last year that Captain Hiram Jones, brother of Mr. Edward Jones, of Chestertown, visited this section. Capt. Jones has been guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Simpers, of Chestertown. His home is in Seattle, Washington, and he is a sea captain that has visited every country of the civilized world. Capt. Jones says he notices quite a good many changes in Chestertown. New buildings have replaced old delapidated structures; bare lots are now covered by fine homes; many of his old friends here are now dead; children of that time are now in mature years; while many of the people who were then in the full vigor of their manhood are now in ripe old age. Capt. Jones was on his way from Seattle, Washington, to France when the engines on his ship gave some trouble and he put in at Old Point Comfort for repairs. Then he decided to see his brother and other relatives. So he came home while the repairs were being made.

—Mr. Julian R. Carter has resigned as auto police, and has leased the Maple Avenue Garage, and will take possession of same the 15th of this month.
