The Baha'i calendar, which was given by the Bab, Prophet-Herald of the Baha'i Faith, consists of 19 months of 19 days each (i.e. 361 days), with the addition of certain "Intercalary Days" (four in ordinary and five in leap years) between the eighteenth and nineteenth months in order to adjust the calendar to the solar year.

These days are especially devoted to hospitality, the giving of presents, and ministering to the poor and sick, as well as preparation for the Fast.

The month of the Fast begins at sundown on March 1 (the Baha'i day begins at sundown) and ends the March equinox, when the Baha'is celebrate the Feast of Naw-Ruz, or the New Year. During the Fast, Baha'is abstain from both food and drink from sunrise to sunset.

It is essentially a period of meditation and prayer and spiritual recuperation.

The Baha'i era, or cycle, began with the year of the Bab's Declaration of His mission in 1844. In 1863, Baha'u'llah, the Prophet-Founder of the Baha'i Faith announced that He was the One promised by the Bab.

The followers of Baha'u'llah, called Baha'is are now established in nearly 34,000 localities around the world. Baha'i writings have been translated into over 400 languages.

MURPHY — In blessed memory of DR. CARL MURPHY, AFRO publisher and civil rights leader, who stood that great day a week before his death, February 28, 1967:
Oh Lord, help us not to talk out of both sides of our mouths when we try to believe in the Christian virtues of faith, hope and love and do unto others as they would do unto us. Help us to have faith in God and to ourselves that we be strong. Help us to have hope when things go wrong and when others go wrong and when others go wrong and when others
