CBB students initiated in Phi Theta Kappa

The Community College of Baltimore's Phi Theta Kappa Chapter has just held an initiation ceremony to honor and recognize outstanding CCB students. Thirty-two Community College of Baltimore students were welcomed to this national scholarship fraternity.

This annual event, which was held in the Bard Library, featured addresses by Joseph Salvaggio, assistant dean, Student Activities; Miss Leona Morris, dean of Student Personnel; and Malcolm Davis, chairman of the department of earth sciences.

The ceremony was conducted by Dean Morris and Terrence Rickrode, a former CCB student and member of the chapter.

For any CCB student to gain acceptance into the Phi Theta Kappa fraternity, he must complete three semesters of full time work with at least a 3.25 or the equivalent of a "B plus" overall average. The student must also have no grade below a "C" on his record.

Phi Theta Kappa was founded in 1918 and has 400 chapters in the United States, the District of Columbia and other U.S. territories. This scholarship organization is only for two-year colleges and institutions. The Community College of Baltimore was the first Maryland two-year college to get a chapter in Phi Theta Kappa.

Following the main address, given by Prof. Davies, the 31 initiates took part in the ceremony symbolizing the Greek letters phi, theta, and kappa—meaning wisdom, aspiration and purity.

Those being initiated were Stanislaus Aksman, William Carter, Marc Cherbonnier, Peggy Chester, Palmer Clark Jr., Irwin Cohen, William Cook, Philip Field, Ruth Hare, James Hergenhahn, Henry Hoeck, Arnethea James, Sharon Kane, Stephen Kautsch, Bernard Kuchta;

CCB to give program on construction

A manpower shortage in the United States? According to Winton M. Blount, Chairman of the Nixon Cabinet on Construction, there are not nearly enough men to fill the openings that exist and will exist in the field of construction.

To aid in relieving this shortage, the Community College of Baltimore's Engineering and Engineering Technologies Department has established a special Study-Work Program for the summer of 1971.

The program, which is available to area high school graduates, is comprised of a three-week study period followed by nine weeks of on the job training.

the college explained:

"This program allows the high school grad a chance to see if he is realy interested in this line of work. Ordinarily, a student must spend a year in college before he can determine if he is going to stay with his choice of study.

"This way, the student who decides against a career in construction has not reer in construction has not really lost that much," stated Mr. Jack Friedman, Director of Technical Studies at C.C.B.

High school grads who complete this work-study program will receive three credits towards an A.A. degree in Construction Technology. These students will then be ready to continue in the two-year course in the fall.

The overall objectives of the program are to give students useful career information in the engineering course involving construction laboratory, and for the students to become familiar with the overall Construction Technology curriculum.

Nursing course given at Garrison School

Garrison Community School offers many courses, including the Red Cross Nursing Aide course, the only Red Cross nursing aid course that is taught at night.

The instructor is Mrs. Lillie DeGrafenreid, R.N., who is also pursuing her education at CCB and the University of Maryland.

The coordinator is Charles Carlies Jr. The purpose of the course is to enable working mothers or anyone that can't afford to quit a day job, to take the course from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

It teaches the basic nursing procedures that can be adapted to home nursing as well as institutional nursing, such as in hospitals and nursing homes.

A typical example of a working mother is Mrs. Josie Little, who does six days of domestic work. She has seven children, the youngest 3 years.

Mrs. Little is cited for being able to work and complete the course with a grade of 91. Now she is equipped to get a better job, which is the purpose behind the community school and the Red Cross course.

Film available on care of ears

Everyday sounds suddenly become more significant to an elementary class in "Our Wonderful Ears and Their Care," an 11-minute color film, available for loan from the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, through cooperation of the Baltimore Hearing Society.

5,156 families waiting on new McCulloh homes

The Department of Housing and Community told the AFRO this week that the more than 5,000 families who are hoping for new apartments in the McCulloh Homes can not possibly get in the project but some other means will be used to house some of them.

Thirty-nine families have leased new apartments at McCulloh Homes.

Within the next two weeks it is anticipated that more units will be turned over by the contractor, and as soon as possible all units for families will be filled.

After the family units, which total 122, are filled, the contractor will complete the two high-rise buildings for the elderly, and these 394 apartments will be filled as they become available.

Over 5,156 families are on the waiting list for public housing, and most of them have indicated a desire for a new apartment in McCulloh Homes.

The Department of Housing and Community Development is doing its best to house these applicants in accordance with their needs and position on the waiting list. Some will go in other projects and others in houses the Department of Housing has leased.

Families who are unable to get into McCulloh, and will be satisfied with other housing within the programs, and those who have other questions, please call Richard P. Davis, 727-3400, Ext. 555.

IRS says wait 10 weeks for tax refund

Wondering why you haven't received your Federal income tax refund?

If you are entitled to one, wait 10 weeks after filing before writing the Internal Revenue Service, Irving Machiz, district director of the IRS said last week. By then, you should have either a check or a letter explaining the delay.

If you do need to write, indicate in your letter when and where you filed your return, and give your name, address, and Social Security number. This information will help speed a reply, Mr. Machiz said.
