'Scabby' Moore died Tuesday at Johns Hopkins Hospital

Funeral services for Winfield Moore will be held tomorrow (Saturday) from Orleans St. funeral home.

Mr. Moore, 81, died Tuesday at Good Samaritan Hospital of natural causes at 8:45 p.m.

A native of Baltimore he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James (Winnie) Moore. He attended the public schools and served in World War I and was discharged on July 26, 1919.

"Scabby," as he is known to friends, went to work at Johns Hopkins Hospital as a porter in the early '20s. He worked as an orderly and before retiring was a morgue attendant in pathology.

After his retirement, he visited Hopkins every day (circumstances permitting) people."

He would usually be found sitting on a red, leather-bound bench outside the staff cafeteria wearing an Italian knit shirt, colored pants, a straw hat and the latest in men's shoes.

* * *

Mrs. Ruby Glover, administrative supervisor in the emergency department, remembers "Pop" as he is known, too, from her childhood.

"He used to be outside of St. Francis' every Sunday morning with his little brown folding stand, covered with a large striped, beach umbrella, selling peanuts and windmills and all sorts of things. All the kids used to buy peanuts from him. He knew everybody in the area.

In addition to visiting the hospital before becoming a part of it, "Scabby" was a popular figure in the downtown area, especially the Court House.

His neice, Mrs. Helen Shaw, recalled, "He lived and practiced his Baptist teaching . . . that of helping his fellow man and visiting the sick and giving stern positive words of encouragement to those who sought his advice."

"In earlier years, he was affiliated with the "Old Timers" of Baltimore" and was the last of the "Coachmen."

In addition to Mrs. Shaw, Mr. Moore is survived by an uncle, Vincent Maiden; niece, Mrs. Bernice T. Hooker; sister, Mrs. Louise Scott, and brother, Clarence Moore.

He will be buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Edgar M. Ewing, 60, was housing expert

Edgar Milton Ewing, vice president of Charles Center-Inner Harbor Management, Inc., and general manager of Inner Harbor West Project, died Thursday at Johns Hopkins Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Ewing, who was 60, was noted as a housing administrator and won national acclaim for his efforts hire in Baltimore.

He began as the first manager of the infant McCulloh Homes in 1940 and became so proficient in housing problems he was selected to head the giant Baltimore renewal and housing agency in 1966. He was also a former director of the Model Cities Agency.

EDGAR M. EWING
Funeral on Tuesday

* * *

A native of Morgan, Ky., he was a graduate of U. of Indiana and came to Baltimore in 1932, shortly after his graduation.

His first job was as a caseworker with the city welfare department. In 1935, he became registrar at Bowie State College.

It was when the then Housing Authority began to select its first 434 tenants for the new McCulloh Homes in 1940 that he was selected as manager.

Later, he served as manager of Douglass Himes in East Baltimore and Lyons Homes in Turner Station.

During World War 2, he servel in the Air Force, was discharged in Oct., 1945.

* * *

A tireless worker, Mr. Ewing voluntarily gave his services to numerous organizations, community groups and boards.

At the height of his career, it was not unusual for him to have dozens of meetings in a week.

In 1949, he became the first black president of the Baltimore Urban League. He served on the board of the Citizens' Planning and Housing Assiciation which cited him as outstanding statesman of the year in 1966.

In addition, he served on the board of managers of the YMCA, on the board of the American Red Cross, Community Chest, Provident Hospital and was a member of the Baltimore City Zoning Commission. He was a consultant to mayor's and a college lecturer.

* * *

The AFRO named him to its 1954 Honor Roll for his superior public service to the community without thought if personal gain.

He belonged to Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity and the Gamma Boule, Sigma Pi Phi Fraternity.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday 9 a.m., at St. Mary the Virgin Church, 3121 Walbrook Ave., where he was senior warden.

Survivors are his wife, the former Margaret Whyte, principal of George St. Elementary School No. 30; his mother, Mrs. Jennie Mae Ewing; and brother, Clyde, both of Richmond, Ind. — B. M. MOSS

Rep. Mitchell backs Conaway for comptroller

U.S. Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, of Maryland's Seventh District, today (Friday) announced his endorsement of Frank M. Conaway for the Democratic nomination as Baltimore city comptroller.

In a statement made at his office, the Baltimore Congressman both endorsed the Conaway candidacy and called for all city residents interested in good government to take an active part in making sure Conaway is elected.

"I have known and respected Frank Conaway for a long time and have always been impressed with his dedication to the principles of good government for which the Democratic Party has always stood," Mitchell said. "And, in a personal vein, Frank and I have always fought together to make Baltimore a better place to live for all people, no matter what race or beliefs."

Conaway, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Baltimore City's Fourth District, said he welcomed Mitchell's endorsement and added that he felt it would make major impact on his campaign.

"The residents of Baltimore have long respected Parren Mitchell as both a governmental official and as a man," he said. "I am certainly proud to have a man of Congressman Mitchell's character and record endorse my campaign and I pledge myself to those beliefs and actions that he has so long been in favor of."

WOULD TUMBLE TWINS—The/Giants hope to knock the Twins off their dynasty in the James Mosher Little League tomorrow (Saturday) at School No. 144, at 5 p.m. Standing in the way of the Twins' third straight title are these young members of the Giants and their coach, Herbert Simmons. Left to right: front—Tom Jones, Carl Branch, Leroy Duren Jr., Lawrence Epps, Horace Love; 2nd row—Heraley Thomas, James Washington, Maurice Vaughn, Henry Hinton, Eric Yelity; 3rd row—Robert Taylor, Charles Gordon, Robert Ames, Warren Allmond, Eric Pittman, and (rear) coach Simmons.

Mrs. Woodland disappeared from a nursing home in the middle of the night of Aug. 7.

Edward Brooks, assistant administrator of the Bolton Hill Nursing Home, told the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper Company doors can not be locked by law and the lady probably walked away because she wished to leave.

Mrs. Woodland is 5 ft. 2 in., slender and has gray hair.

Her niece, Mrs. Geraldine Mackall, said she has searched former neighborhoods where they used to reside with no trace. Mr. Brooks states hopefully someone she knows has taken her in and is caring for her.

The doctor described the throwing of feces in an officers face as "emotional and upsetting" situation for any guard.

Although abusive treatment is not allowed, the doctor made it clear that an officer must protect himself.

Throughout Dr. Kandell's testimony, the Patuxent 13 sat quietly and composed, taking notes on his testimony and consulting with their civil rights attorneys.

When the court adourns for the last time Friday afternoon, the 13 inmates will return to their 7 by 9 cells on M-1 and in the hole where they have been confined throughout the hearings to await a ruling by the judges.

The Product Development Group needs a limited number of analytical personnel to help develop forward product/investment alternatives and execute approved programs. Positions require ability to coordinate effectively the efforts of marketing, finance and engineering organizations, and present proposals to Company Management.

The positions provide a large amount of responsibility within a challenging and stimulating environment. Those who have demonstrated their ability to "take charge" and solve problems are rewarded with rapid advancement.

Applicants must be business oriented, desire a mixture of line and staff responsibilities, and be interested in broad corporate policy problems in a complex and profitable industry. A college undergraduate engineering degree plus an MBA are required.

All replies will be treated in strict confidence. Please send complete resume including education, work experience, present or last salary and salary requirements to:
