Chandler Wynn narcotics trial to begin Monday

The narcotics conspiracy trial of Chandler V. Wynn Jr. and his wife, Mrs. Conchita Wynn, is scheduled to begin Monday, Feb. 7, in Federal court.

The Wynns of Elktonia Beach are slated to appear in U. S. District Court before Judge James R. Miller at 10 a.m.

They are charged in a multi'e-count indictment of conspiring unlawfully and knowingly to violate government narcotic laws.

Twenty-three pounds of pure cocaine are listed in the indictment.

According to investigating Federal narcotics agents, the Wynns were involved in an estimated $2 million narcotics ring along with other persons.

Miss Danford, who was taken to the St. Agnes Hospital was pronounced dead at 1 :15 a.m.

Teen writer tells of the Jacksons

By RACHAEL PHILLIPS

At approximately 4:20 p.m. on January 19 (matinee show) an outbursting roar of screams spread the civic center at the announcement of the Jackson brothers.

About 25,000 people, men, women, boys and girls of all ages gathered to hear the songs the brothers have produced.

The Jacksons chose outsits of all colors, Tit, 17; wore a stripped top with green pants and decorations as stars to match; Marlon, 14, wore a brownish jcmpsuit with a reddish orange body shirt; Jackie, 20, chose a blue shirt trimmed in white with chest showing and blue stripped denim type pants to match;

Michael, 12, wore pants of contrasting legs one yellow and one rust also a black with flowered sleeves shirt to match and Jermaine, 16, picked bright orange and kelly green top with yellow pants trimmed in colors. (Jermaine and Tito both play guitar)

They sang such selections as: Going Back To Indiana, Sugar Daddy, Got To Be There; I'll Be There; and I Found That Girl. Bridge Over Troubled Water both sung by Jermaine (occasional lead singer).

After introduction of their cousins Ronnie playing organ and Johnnie playing drums they ended with Never Can Say Goodbye.

While leaving the show, this reporter caught some comments: "Jackson 5 come on strong in every performance." . . . "People wouldn't believe what a performer goes through to be famous and really good like the J-5 and they are so young." "Mom are we coming to the next show?"

"I want to see them when they add the little brother." An AFRO photographer, Courtney Anderson, commented after visiting in the dressing room and at the hotel that Jermaine is the most talative. He said Michael was quiet but that all in all they are people and typical boys."

"They have interests just like everybody, they asked me different questions about my work and my camera."

Other highlights were the Honorable George L. Russell presenting the key to the city to the father of the J-5, Joseph Jackson. The key symbolizes the family being welcome to the city at any time.

Also presented with the 5 was the Contra and Renault. Renoult the lead singer wore white tight fitting pants with a white sleeveless shirt trimmed in black to match a white cowboy hat.

He sang songs , "Calling Out For Love, Insane, and Isaac Hayes, Your Love Is So Doggone Good.

The show as a whole was fantastic. Hot Rod of WWIN was superb and the audience was TOGETHER.—

VICTORINE ADAMS OPPOSED

Council votes 18-1 in favor of Gun Control Bill

By an 18-1 vote Wednesday night, the Baltimore City Council adopted a resolution requesting the Maryland Senate and the House of Delegates "to enact into law Gov. Mandel's Gun Control Bill, as recently revised."

The proposal was sponsored by Councilmen Emerson C. Julian (D, 4th), Reuben Caplan (D, 5th) and Francis X. Gallagher (D, 3rd).

The only opposing vote was that of Councilwoman Victorine Q. Adams (D, 4th).

Mrs. Adams said, "I cannot reconcile myself to the need for a portion of the amendment. There are sufficient laws on the books. I cannot see how the inclusion of that portion will reduce the sale of guns and the number of murders etc.

"There are no absolutes. There is no right way and there is no wrong way. I am entitled to my opinion."

Mrs. Adams was the only black council member who voted to oppose the resolution.

Other members who voted in favor of the resolution rose to "explain" their vote.

Councilman Robert Douglass (D, 2nd) said, "Although a large number of deaths have taken place, a large number of those who were killed have been blacks.

"I am very apprehensive about the stop and frisk sections of the Gun Control Law. If there is a small chance that these killings can be reduced.

"I am willing to support the bill. There are enough laws in the books under probable cause to stop and frisk.

He continued, "But if the police commissioner feels he needs another reason to reduce murder. I will vote aye."

Mrs. Mary B. Adams (D, 4th) said, "I have received many calls on stop and frisk. I support the idea of the need, but I have many reservations on stop and frisk.

"But there are so many guns in the hands of so many, I hope that the police won't arbitrarily stop people. If they do I think we will witness an increase in the number of police shootings. Because of the increased number of deaths recently I will support the resolution."

Mrs. Adams asked rhetorically, "What about those who make a living selling guns? I wonder what would happen if a hack man applied for a license to sell guns?"

tion said, "I, too, have received a number of calls on the hill. Someone told me, "I just don't trust the police." Well, I told them I would rather trust the police than trust the hoodlum and the criminal. When you are killed graveyard dead, that is harassment."

He expressed the hope there is "a new breed of policemen."

The physician said police have had the power since 1968 to "stop and frisk."

Allen Spector (D, 5th) added: "I will vote for the bill, but with mixed emotions."

Alexander Stark (D, 5th) explained: "It is not a sufficient bill. I would hope that a bill eventually will cover sales between individuals and dealers."

Councilwoman Barbara Mikulski (D, 1st), defended her vote by saying, "All killings are wrong."

Others who voted for the resolution were: Dominic DiPietro (D, 1st); John Schaefer (D, 1st); Clarence "Du" Burns (D, 2nd); Robert Fitzpatrick (D, 2nd); Frank X. Gallagher (D, 3rd); J. Joseph Curran (D, 3rd); Gerald Fitzgerald (D, 3rd); Reuben Caplan (D, 5th); Charles H. Wheatley (D, 6th); Dominic Leone (D, 6th) and William J. Myers (D, 6th).

In other business council unanimously approved a resolution requested by Councilwoman Mary Adams on the death of Singer Mahalia Jackson.

The resolution asked that a copy of the commemoration be sent to a nephew and two aunts of the famed gospel starlet.

At the request of Councilman Spector, a resolution was introduced asking "the superintendent of Public Instruction and the School Board to submit a copy of the rules and regulations concerning the protection of the school houses and property."

Dr. Roland N. Patterson, this week announced the organization of a task force on discipline to gather information on the security of school buildings and general recommendations for discipline within the schools.

Councilman Spector stated the City Charter rests the primary responsibility for the maintenance and security of the school buildings with the Mayor and City Council and not with the School Board and the superintendent.

He stated any recommendation's made by Dr. Patterson's commission would have to come from the School Board to the City Council for consideration approval.

Council met Wednesday this week, instead of the usual Monday session due to a special dinner held to honor the City Council by the Baltimore City Delegation to the General Assembly in Annapolis, Monday.

Three-alarm fire on Tucker Lane

One family was completely burned out and four other families had smoke and water damage in a three alarm fire in the Wakefield Apartments, 2219-2223 Tucker Lane, on Wednesday.

A spokesman at Wakefield told the AFRO "The cause of fire has not yet been determined and the five families have been placed in vacant apartments in Wakefield. No one was injured in the fire."

Decentralization on television

A series of television broadcasts beginning Feb. 8, will culminate the school system's Phase Two effort of taking decentralization to the Baltimore public. Mr. Hirsh Goldberg, Director of Public Information, announced recently.

The first telecast, which will be aired Feb. 8, on WBAL-TV (Channel 11) from 9:30 until 10:30 p.m., will consist of two half-hour segments. During the first segment Dr. Roland N. Patterson, school superintendent, will present the "Options for Decentralization."

Dr. Patterson will explain the various options for school area organization, community participation, and administrative reorganization. There are five options for area organization and three options each for community participation and administrative reorganization.

In addition, the public will be asked to "agree" or "disagree" with 23 positions within the system which range from deputy superintendent of public instruction to career teacher.

This segment of the telecast will also be aired Feb. 8, on WMAR-TV (Channel 2) from 10:30 until 11 p.m.; Feb. 9, on WBFF-TV (Channel 45) from 12:30 until 1 p.m.; Feb. 10, on WMPB-TV (Channel 67) from 7 until 7:30 p.m.; Feb. 13, on WJZ-TV (Channel 13) from 12:30 until 1 p.m.

The second segment of the WBAL telecast will be a live question and answer period. Citizens will be encouraged to telephone their inquiries concerning decentralization directly into the studio where Dr. Patterson and other school staff members will respond to them personally.

Viewers may express their preferences for specific options and their agreement or disagreement with the proposed positions by filling in public survey forms which will be distributed throughout the city.

Mr. Goldberg said survey forms would be available to all citizens "well in advance of the telecasts," and that all distribution sources would be announced to the public.

Footprints

and Wesson.

"The guard and prisoner engaged in a brief struggle. Kensler struct Guard Phillips in the head with the revolver. He then pointed the revolver at the guards, saying, 'Move and I'll kill you.'"

* ****

The report added:

"Guard Thompson grabbed Kensler's brother, Jimmie Elton, who was also a prisoner, and held him about the neck as a shield.

"Kensler then ran out of the door, across North Ave., proceeding south on Bruce St. with Guard Phillips in pursuit.

"Kensler was followed to an alley off the 1800 block Bruce St. where Guard Phillips observed Kensler trying to get the remaining leg iron off.

"He told Kensler to drop the pistol and Kensler started to run. Guard Phillips had Guard Thompson's gun and fired one shot at Kensler but missed.

"Kensler ran north in an alley and then south where he disappeared from view. Guard Phillips then returned to the funeral home."

Mr. Cole, the funeral home assistant, told the AFRO, after hearing a big commotion downstairs, he went down and saw Jimmy Elton on his hands and knees with Guard Thompson holding a weapon on him.

"When I came downstairs," said Cole, "the first two roles of chairs were all disarranged."

Cole added, "There were handcuffs on the floor as well as one of the guard's caps. I also saw live bullets spilled on the floor. They probably fell out of a holster."

Cole remarked he helped pick up the scattered bullets to be used as evidence. "But I kept one," said Cole, as he picked up a .38 Cal. bullet, placed on his upstair's desk.

Police agents: Paul Fairbanks and Robert Matuszak, reported they heard a radio report on Kensler's escape and "canvassed the area."

They reported: "At the location of Woodward St. and Westwood St., they (themselves) observed fresh footprints in the snow.

"They followed the snow footprints to the rear of 716 Cumberland St. which is a vacant house.

"The search of 716 Cumberland St. revealed no suspect. However, a hole in the wall was found which led into 718 Cumberland St. which is also a vacant dwelling and was completely boarded up.

"The officers climbed through the hole in the 2nd floor wall and were going down the stairs to the first floor of 718 Cumberland St. when they observed a leg and a foot sticking out from under the stairway.

"They ordered the suspect to throw out the gun and surrender. The suspect complied and was placed under arrest and transported to the Western District."

George Kenser has been awaiting trial in City Jail since Aug. 28, 1971, on charges of assault with intent to murder, discharging a firearm and possessing a deadly weapon.

His brother, Jimmy Elton, has no additional charges placed against him because of Wednesday's incident.

He has been in City Jail since Nov. 29, 1971, awaiting trial on resisting arrest, shoplifting and escape.

Miss Elton has been an inmate of the Jessup institution for women since Nov. 13, 1970, serving time for shoplifting convictions.

Daniel MacLeod told the AFRO that Kensler's sister, Miss Lilly Elton, was permitted to view their sister and there was no incident.

Other members of their family came to the wake for Mrs. Johnson in the Carroll Funeral Home Wednesday night.

Funeral services were he'l Thursday at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church at Fremont Ave. and Saratoga St.

Other survivors of Mrs. Johnson are, her mother, Mrs. Pearl Thompson; her father, Oscar Lee Thompson; her two children, Barbara Ann, 13, and Alexander, 10.

Sisters, Mrs. Essie Mae Dutly and Mrs. Nettie Assiff; cousin, Miss Wilma Kelly; brothers, Charles, Bobbie Lee and Burt Thompson; aunt, Mrs. Leola Dawdson of S.C.; and uncles, Leroy and James Kelly, Baltimore.

She claims dead man as husband

Mrs. Minnie Lee Harrison, 3100 Garrison Ave., walked into the AFRO office Monday and claimed she is the widow of George Louis Hendericks, a bartender slain in a bar Jan. 22.

She stated she had been married to the deceased since Nov. 27, 1962. They have since had two children, Derick, 8, and Debora, 21 months old.

She produced a certificate of marriage to support her claim.

Meanwhile, Mr. Hendericks has been buried in Arbutus Memorial Park. Funeral services were held Friday at the New St. Mark's Baptist Church.

A paid death notice published before the funeral did not name any widow and did not include the children of Mrs. Harrison. It said he is survived by mother, Mrs. Maude Hendericks Russell. The father was listed as the late George Hendericks.

"He is also survived by five daughters, three sons and hosts of cousins and other relatives," the notice said.
