The Retailer's Invitation

This is my home, here where you come to buy-My business home, you are my guest and I Your cordial host. Let not alone the trade Possess your thoughts. In you I hope I've made A lasting friend, and that if you recall This little visit and our deal at all, It may be only ts the means we found To meet and mingle on a common ground.

This is my house, thrown open to my guest, While I with joy comply with their requests, Daily I hold reception, eight to six, Striving to please the ones with whom I mix, Hoping to fill each several, varying need, With courtesy, devoid of sordid greed. The thought of "getting" I would put away And concentrate on "giving" all the day.

This is the house my business built for you, To visit in, and if my house can do A service for my valued list of friends It will have served my fondly-wished-for ends. Forget that you are "patron" or that I Am called a "dealer." As the days go by Let neighborly relationship prevail, And this, my home, and yours, can never fail.
