them her Christmas savings of $400 which was in a drawer in a Mr. Goldsmith's office just around the corner from where they were stand

The second woman with the envelope of money stated she was afraid the two might tell on her if the owner of the money found up and [illegible] looking for his lost money.

Mrs. Minor said the second woman who supposedly found the money went to the office of "Mr. Goldsmith" for her savings. But when she came back, she said Mr. Goldsmith had advised that she gave Mrs. Minor and the first woman $6,000 each.

The woman also stated Mr. Goldsmith said they could have $6,000 each, on condition that they did not deposit any part of the money in the bank.

The two were also to show that they had enough to live on for six months.

At this point the first woman said she had $3,500 so she went to Mr. Goldsmith's office and returned after seven minutes to display wads of bank notes saying she had been given the $6,000.

The two suspects went with Mrs. Minor to the Reliance Trust Bank from which she withdrew $4,000.

The second woman took the money to Mr. Goldsmith and came back to tell Mrs. Minor to go to the corner where Mr. Goldsmith's office is for $6,000 and her own $4,250.

Mrs. Minor told the AFRO when she walked to the corner she realized it was an end of an alley. But when she returned to the where she left the two suspects they were gone.

Court records reveal the informant passed the $7 to a man known as Rudy.

The defendant (Rudy) went to a vacant house and got a brown paper bag from under the steps, returned to the informant and gave him the narcotics. The informant then returned to Officer Slime's car and gave him the narcotics.

According to court testimony, a couple then approached Rudy. He went back to the vacant house and again took a brown paper bag from under the steps and returned to the couple with narcotics.

Court records show when Rudy was arrested, he had $635 in his pocket.

Police found 81 glassine bags slashed under the steps.

The defendant testified, "My rent is due the first of the month. I had a traffic violation and had planned on paying my lawyer and my rent."

Mrs. Joan White, wife of the defendant told the court, "I had resigned from Social Security and received my retirement money. I always give the money to my husband because he is the man of the house.
