MRS. DENHAM TO SPEAK

The Baltimore Presbyterial Association of the Presbytery of Baltimore will hold its annual meeting on Sunday, April 8, 2:30 p.m., at the Woods Memorial Presbyterian Church, Severna Park.

Mrs. Roy Denham of Albuquerque, New Mexico will be the guest speaker. The theme for the meeting will be "Appointment With Tomorrow."

Mrs. Denham is president of United Presbyterian Women and the Presbyterial Association is a member of the national organization. She is a member of the Immanuel United Presbyterian Church, Albuquerque, and is currently serving as an elder. She has been active in various local church responsibilities.

UPW activities included local president, president of the Rio Grande Presbyterial, and president of the New Mexico Synodical, and has held offices in each of these organizations. In the former Synod of New Mexico she served as a member of the Interpretation and Stewardship Committee, Nominating Committee and member of Synod General Council. In the new Synod of the Southwest she was elected to the Program Agency, member of Personnel Committee, and a voting member of Synod Mission Council.

She has received many honors and awards including an LL.D. degree conferred by Central College, May 1972; the Lobo Award by the Panhellenic Council of the University of New Mexico as the outstanding woman, November 1972; and the James F. Zimmerman award given for outstanding service-to distinguished alumni by the Alumni Association of the University of New Mexico, February 1973.

Other special guests on the program will include John O. Simons, moderator of the Presbytery of Baltimore and Mrs. Borert White, president of the Women's Synodical Association, Synod of the Piedmont. Miss Beatrice Mayo, president, will preside at the meeting.

SALUTE TO PHYSICIAN

Friends and associates of Dr. Ivan Bradshaw Higgins are planning a tribute to him in recognition of more than 40 years of distinguished service as physician and surgeon of Provident Hospital and Metropolitan Baltimore. His contributions as a stalwart citizen are no less noteworthy.

The "salute" will be a testimonial dinner to be held at Martin's West on Sunday, May 6, 1973 at 7 p.m.

Activities will include: personal tributes; citations by City, State and national officials; presentation of a "Book of Letters" from friends and associates.

Deadline for reservation is April 6.

Among those who are busy finalizing last minute details are:

Dr. Lionel A. Desbordes, M.D., chairman; Mrs. Bernice McDaniels, treasurer, Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, rec. secretary; Mrs. Carolyn Willis, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Ann Emery, coordinator.

SENIOR CITIZENS MEET

The Lakeview Tower Garden Club presented a night of drama last Friday. Featured was the Mod Players of Model Cities Council "D", directed by Robert Russell.

The group presented scenes from "The Adding Machine," "Waltz of the Toreadors," and "Purlie".

Of course, the residents favored the presentation of "Purlie".

Mr. Russell works endlessly with the 45 youngsters. With the intensive training he gives, it is not surprising that his group is so good.

This was the third appearance of the Mod Players at Lakeview.

Members of the Garden Club who presented the program were Mesdames Freda Hall, Margie Brown, Emma Logan, Carrie Robinson, Jeanetta Wilson, Susie Fleming and Ethel Jackson.

Ed's Note: The Mod Players welcome any type of exposure and can be contacted through the Model Cities Cultural Arts Program, 728-2029.

AN INFORMAL DANCE

At Gabriel's, Route 50, Cambridge, Maryland, the Beta Epsilon Chapter of the Iota Phi Lambda Sorority sponsored its initial informal dance, recently at Gabriel's in Cambridge, Md.

The gala affair was the Sorority's way of raising funds for charity and entertaining friends at the same time.

The guests, with Sorors serving as hostesses for their individual tables, created an atmosphere of warmth, pride and joy.

Beta president, Soror O'Neal A. Fields welcomed the 300 guests and gave recognition to outstanding sorors who included Mesdames Edythe M. Jolley, vice president; Marian S. Brown, second vice president; Isabelle T. Brown, recording secretary; Mary J. Thorpe, corresponding secretary; Dorothy P. Hudson, financial secretary; Joann Thomas, treasurer; Mary A. Mat Robinson formerly of Sesame Street was master of ceremonies after which Dr. John Dill, President Board of Directors of BCDI welcomed the over 200 guests.

The warm audiences were entertained by Mrs. Bernie Reagan of the D.C. Repertory School.

The audiences vocalizing with her in the rendition of "Come by Here Lord", and "The Gray Goose"...set the tone for the evening.

AWARDS GIVEN

Mr. Thomas made the presentation of awards assisted by three five-year-olds. Little helpers, David McDaniel, Kevin Howard, Cameron Herbert had big smiles on their faces while presenting the awards to the recipients.

The awards were plaques made of plexie glass with heads of black children joined by a smoke head bar trimmed in bronze.

Recipients of the awards were Mothers for Equal Education for service to black children as a parent organization. This organization set up a preschool through 12th grade called Nzirobi Day School, located in East Palo Alto, Calif., other awards went to Toni Cade Bambara for service to black children in the field of literature in recognition of the richness of black dialect. He encouraged black children to feel good about their language as an expression and an extension of themselves.

Also Gwendolyn Brooks received an award for service through rich poetic imagery which captures the spontanity, creativity and zest of life of black children, she translated the world as seen through their eyes. And, to John Steptoe, who with pen and brush creates sights, sounds and feelings-sketched in portraits of black children growing up. For service to black children in the field of legislation... it was received by the Honorable Shirley Chisholm out of a long-term commitment to children; she was among those who led the fight for comprehensive child development legislation.

Also to the Honorable William Clay with his position on the house committee on Education and Labor, he strengthened the movement toward expanded federal responsibility to children; to the Honorable Augustus Hawkins with his membership on the house committee on Education and Labor and his chairmanship of the Congressional Black Caucus's National Policy Conference on Education for blacks, he has helped focus congressional attention on the educational needs for our children; and to the Honorable Barbara Jordon from the basic of a belief in the right of every child to a home and family, she sponsored the adoption subsidy bill of the State of Texas.

In addition, the famous Jackson Five for their multi media artistry, the five brothers from Gary appeal to children throughout the black world.

According to Mrs. Maurine McKinney, the institution has a staff of eighteen people and institution associates, social workers, doctors, who provide technical assistance.

Mrs. McKinney does an extensive amount of traveling, her work takes her to seventeen states doing consultant work for 45 schools in Curriculum Development, staff and teachers training, management, administration practice, funding package.

ENJOYS HER WORK

The lovely Mrs. McKinney enjoys her work. She said, "It's rewarding and encouraging to know how dedicated and what kind of commitment black people have to education."

She is the mother of two children, Michiel, a student at Wilde Lake High School, and Toni, a freshman at Spellman College in Atlanta.

MEDICAL SOCIETY
