Girl, 7, woman die in separate blazes

A 7-year-old girl and a 49-year-old woman died in separate blazes within two hours in the city early Wednesday morning, police report.

The dead were identified as Patricia Vanessa Smith, 7, 1900 block Castle St.; and Mrs. Catherine Jackson, 49, 2000 block N. Madison St.

Bodies of both victims remain at the city morgue Thursday.

Police statements reveal the Smith girl was found burned beyond recognition after she refused to jump to safety from a second-story window.

Relatives state the youngster broke from their grasp and ran back to the flamming house into the bedroom where firefighters found the body.

The two-alarm fire was first seen by an Eastern District patrolman who reported he observed at 3:30 a.m. the fire jumping from the family's second floor window.

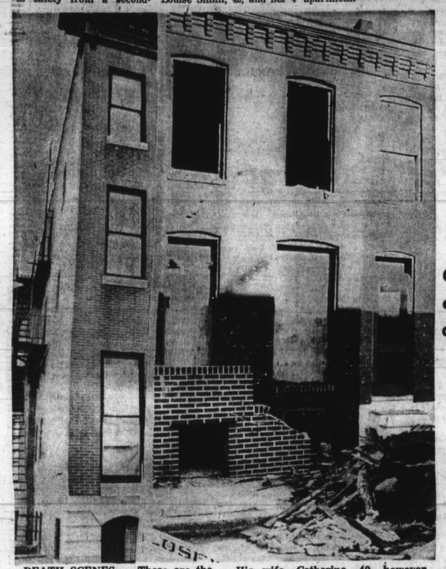
The officer, Billie Hedgepath, states the fire apparently started in the living room and spread to the second floor trapping Mrs. Louise Smith, 42, and her 4 children.

Lonnie Smith, the girl's father had left for work in Washington when the fire broke out.

Police said when Mrs. Smith jumped to safety she urged the children to follow suit; Pamela, 17, Lonnie Jr., 16 and Kevin, 11, also jumped. However, they could not persuade Patricia to jump.

Police state at 2:02 p.m. when the 2000 block Madison St. fire was extinguished Mrs. Jackson was found on the kitchen floor of the second floor apartment.

Her husband Cleveland Jackson, 50, is reported by police as saying upon waking up by the fire he fled through the fire escape assuming his wife was safely outside.



DEATH SCENES — These are the front views of separate houses which caught fire early Wednesday morning claiming life in each case. The ladder on the left is the means 50-year-old Cleveland Jackson escaped death when his 2000 block Madison St. home went into flames. His wife, Catherine, 49, however died. In the second house in the 1900 block Castle St. , occupants jumped through the window on the right. However, 7-year-old Patricia Smith, died in the blaze when relatives report she refused to jump.

Man sold drugs from front steps

A 26-year-old man pleaded guilty Wednesday in Criminal Court to possession of narcotics.

Sentence was not imposed for Marcell Moffatt, 2400 block Bartlett St. because Judge Analem Sodaro has ordered a presentence report.

According to Mrs. Mary Ann Willin, theprosecutor, police observed Moffatt sitting on the steps in the 1900 block Greenmount Ave. last October.

The prosecutor told the court the defendant was selling narcotics. Police recovered ten glassine bags of herion from Moffatt.

G. Cummings choir member at Macedonia

Funeral services for George Cummings, 88, 737 Dolphin St. were held Wednesday at Macedonia Baptist Church, where he sang in the choir. He died Sunday after an extended illness.

Before his retirement, Mr. Cummings was employed by the Union Trust Co.

During his active years Mr. Cummings was a member of the NAACP and regularly attended the Baptist Ministers' Conference meetings.

Born December 22, 1885, in Galostia, S.C., Mr. Cummings was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John (Margaret) Cummings.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Katherine Cummings; daughter, Mrs. Elenore Boyer; son, Mervin Cummings; and four grandchildren.
