Want State Roads Through Towns

Representatives of 14 Maryland municipalities, in cluding 10 mayors, met in Governor Ritchie's office recently to press their fight to have the state build its roads through the cities in the future and to refund the cities for streets built in the past to connect the state highways on either end of the different towns.

The mayors and other representatives presented their pleas to Governor Ritchie and to State Roads Chairman John N. Mackall. As a result of the meeting of the mayors and of their conferences with the Governor and Mr. Mackall, it was decided to name a smaller committee to take up with Mr. Mackall the question of drafting legislation that can be generally supported in the next Legislature.

Both of the above-named officials, however, made it plain that they do not feel any steps towards refunds for streets already built should be taken, which, it is figured, would cost the state about $1,250,000.

Mr. H. H. Barroll Resigns As President Of The Third National Bank

The resignation, on Wednesday last, of Hope H. Barroll, Esq., as president of the Third National Bank of Chestertown is much regretted by the directors and his friends generally. It was through his untiring efforts that the bank was organized in 1890, as the Second National Bank, under a 20-year charter, and he has worked consistently and persistently for its success since the day its doors were opened for business. It cannot be denied that its wonderful success is largely due to his efforts. At the organization of the Second National Bank in 1890 the late Judge James A. Pearce was elected president and Hope H. Barroll vice-president. Mr. Barroll succeeded Judge Pearce as president in 1917. At the expiration of the charter of the Second National Bank in 1910 it secured a new charter as the Third National Bank and has been conducting business as the ThirdNational Bank of Chestertown since that date and his resignation is deeply regretted by his many warm personal and business friend in this county.
