Fourteen Armies Prepared for War

There are at present at least 6,000,000 men under arms in the world. The active armies of 14 nations make up that total. China had under arms on September 1, 1,370,000 men, which is a large contingent for that nation, although it must be remembered that the civil strife that still persists in China makes it necessary to keep large bodies of soldiers under arms. France, naturally, keeps a great army in a state of readiness, and the figure is placed at 1,034,000 men. In the entire British empire there are 740,500 men under arms—which is a large army, but one must recall the vast extent of territory that requires protection. Other nations rank as follows in this statement of army strength: Russia, 538,000; Poland, 450,000; Italy, 350,000; Japan, 300,000; Greece, 255,000; Spain, 253,000; Switzerland, 170,000; Turkey, 152,000; Czechoslovakia, 150,000; United States, 149,000; Germany, 100,000. These figures do not touch the real totals at all, for back of practically every estimate stand a vast reserve army that can be put upon a war basis within a very short time.

Claims Against Government

More than $2,000,000 worth of claims against the Government, mostly as a result of the World War, will be filed in the United States Court of Claims within the next few months, in the opinion of court officials.

The Court of Claims, now beginning the fall term, is the only tribunal in which a citizen may prosecute an action against the Federal Government.

From every section of the United States, citizens, business men, manufacturers, lawyers, farmers, ship operators and inventors are flocking to Washington to lay their demands before the court.

Demands range from $10 to untold millions, with interest "at the prevailing rate," as the language of the court puts it.

The Claims Court during the next 50 years will be busy with claims arising from the World War. Some of the last claims to be filed as a result of the Mexican War are still upon the court docket, and claims from the Civil War are numerous.

—There arrived in Easton recently a young man from France, having served four years in defense of his country there. He went to Easton because a lady of that town saw in a daily paper a dispatch from Pittsburg setting forth the recovery of this young man from a long siege of hospital treatment. The account so touched the lady's generous impulses that she supplied money through the Red Cross for his transportation to Easton and has made him a home.

Not Accidentally Good—Made that Way

TO PRODUCE day in and day out the clean-burning, full-powered "Standard" Motor Gasoline, no fewer than five important tests are employed. Nothing is taken for granted—nothing left to luck.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has to pass five stiff examinations.

These are:

Chemical laboratory tests on the gasoline itself, to determine volatility, purity, stability, explosion points, etc.

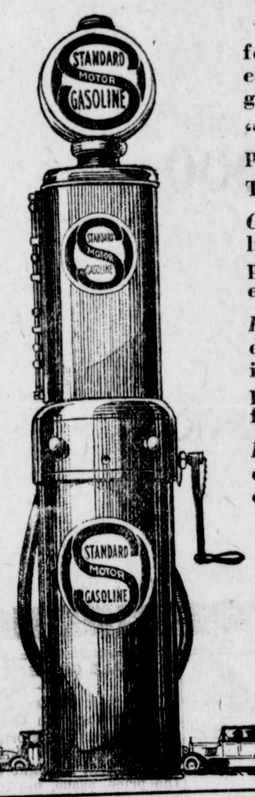

Physical laboratory tests in one-cylinder engines, to determine character of ignition, rate of combustion, rate of pressure development, limits of performance, etc.

Dynamometer tests in standard makes of engines, to determine power developed, mileage per gallon, etc. Runs equivalent to a year's service give accurate data on carbon formation, valve pitting, spark plug fouling, etc.

Road tests in representative cars and trucks, which check the accuracy of former findings, and determine with greater accuracy the factors of acceleration, flexibility, range of carburetor adjustment, etc.

Service tests under average conditions. Company garages are maintained, each containing from 30 to 200 cars, trucks and tractors, comprising every known type of motor-driven equipment. The drivers are both amateurs and professionals—a fair general average for this work. These tests determine the all-around performance of the gasoline in the hands of the user.

"Anybody's Gas" may be good now and then. "Standard" Motor Gasoline has to be right all the time. That is what the public expects of it.

Isn't it time you drained the old oil out of your crank case? Notice the difference when you refill with POLARINE.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.— The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitation or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E.28
