WHO'S WHO ON THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET

In this age of unrest, when few things seem absolutely certain, there is one fact that stands out so clearly in the realm of political affairs that it cannot be denied, and that is THAT KENT COUNTY IS A DEMOCRATIC COUNTY. Its history for a half century or more has been—with but few exceptions—years of Democratic rule, when nearly every official has been a Democrat. And, consequently, the history of the county has been history that has been made by that party. The ideals of its people, the traditions of its people and the environment of its people have all been woven and interwoven by the ideals and the traditions of the party of Jefferson, of Cleveland, of Bryan and of Wilson.

The recent registration shows that of the total of 7023 registered voters in Kent county, 3879 are Democrats, while 2802 are Republicans—OVER A THOUSAND MORE DEMOCRATS THAN REPUBLICANS, or nearly one-third more. This means, regardless of the race question, that there are more Democratic business men, more Democratic lawyers, more Democratic physicians, more Democratic farmers, more Democratic mechanics, more Democratic laborers—in fact, MORE DEMOCRATS IN EVERY LINE OF HUMAN ENDEAVOR IN KENT THAN THERE ARE REPUBLICANS. The fact of the registered vote, if nothing else, shows that the people of this county prefer, as a party, the Democratic party. If for no other reason, and all things else being equal, the representatives of the people of Kent County SHOULD BE DEMOCRATS.

This year the Democratic party has been exceedingly fortunate in the selection of its ticket. Every element of the party is represented by its standard bearers and not a real Democrat in Kent County has a reasonable excuse not to support every man on it. Its candidates are men of the highest moral character, and represent the ideals of the people of Kent County in every particular. They are well-known, clean-cut, honored and respected, personally and morally, in their own communities where they are best known, as well as in all parts of the county, and are among the leaders of the thought and development of the county's wealth and its industry. During the campaign now drawing to a close they have conducted themselves in a manner that does not only themselves credit, but their party as well.

A brief pen picture of the candidates on the Democratic ticket may be of interest to the people of the county, to many of whom they may be not quite as well known as they are to us.

FOR COMPTROLLER OF THE STATE

WILLIAM S. GORDY, JR.—Mr. Gordy resides in Wicomico County and has spent nearly his whole business life in the banking affairs of the county. He is capable and trustworthy and is considered high up in the banking circles of the state. The Comptroller's office requires a man highly efficient along the line in which Mr. Gordy has spent his life work. Maryland always elects a Democratic Comptroller and we have no doubt that this year will be no exception to the past years of the state's history.

FOR THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES

ELSWORTH C. BOWERS—Mr. Bowers is too well known to need any introduction from us. His home is in Lynch, but he is almost as well known all over the Eastern Shore as he is in Kent. He is man of wide business affairs, a doer of big things and a man with a wide intellectual vision. He is a member of the lumber and contracting firm of Stavely & Bowers and has had wide business experience along many branches of Kent County life. He served his county well in the Maryland Legislature during its last session and there has been a big demand for his return. The people of Kent are fortunate in having the opportunity to send such a man to represent them in the Maryland Legislature.

CHARLES L. MILLER—One of the most important and most fundamental lines of industry in Kent County is the water industry and it ranks second in importance perhaps only to the agricultural industry. Next to the tilling of the soil, more people are engaged in pursuits along the water courses than any other occupation and it is natural that they should have a man to represent their interests in the Maryland Legislature and see to it that they are not hampered by unjust or unnecessary laws. Realizing this, the Democratic party has selected as a fit companion for Elwood Bowers a man who knows every condition of the waterman's life, and knows what he needs and what he does not need—Charles L. Miller, of Rock Hall.

FOR CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT

ROBERT R. AYRES—Back in 1916 the whole world trembled with the march of armed soldiers. A great and friendly people, renowned for their skill and their valor, were being swept away like stuble before a hurricane of fire, and with every flash of electric fire that shimmered along the ocean cable we expected to hear that Paris, with every fiber quivering with impotent despair, had fallen and that France, one of the brightest stars in the galaxy of nations, had fallen from the zenith of her glory. American ships were being sunk upon the seas of the world and the very shores of our country was hearing the sinister boom of the invader's guns. Then came the immortal words of Wilson: "For the rights of small nations . . . that the world might be a safe place in which to live." Following these words a tide of khaki was soon set moving that never ceased to flood until France was once more given a place in the sun. On the crest of this heaving tide went Robert R. Ayres, one of the first of Kent's sons to wear the colors of his country. That he entered the service a private and emerged a first-lieutenant is evidence that, like every other position he ever held, he was successful. Born in Kent, reared in Kent, he has lived his life beneath the keen scrutiny of his fellow countrymen. In every position with which he has affiliated he has reflected credit upon himself as well as his position, and, as was said of Lowell, "He has adorned everything with which he has come in contact."

FOR REGISTER OF WILLS

SAMUEL G. CALDWELL—Perhaps no man in Kent County is more closely associated with the business, the intellectual and the political life of Kent County than is Samuel G. Caldwell, of Galena, candidate for Register of Wills. Mr. Caldwell is a widely known business man of unusual ability along many lines and made one of the best Treasurer's Kent County ever had. He is known to perhaps as many people as any man in Kent County and has many warm friends. The Democratic party could not have found a stronger candidate or a more efficient man for the place in the county.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

LEONARD WILSON—A man with a wide knowledge of business affairs generally is fundamental to make a successful and efficient Treasurer of a county and Leonard Wilson, of Millington, is considered to be one of Kent's best business men. He conducts a large mercantile establishment at Millington and is known for his efficiency along business lines as well as his unusual personality. He is one of the best known men of upper Kent and is one of the assets of the business and social life of his community. Mr. Wilson will make a Treasurer by whom the finances of the county will be handled in a most efficient manner.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

JESSE H. USILTON—The agricultural interests of Kent county constitute the most important element in the life of the county. When they thrive the county is thrifty; when they lag the other interests of the county are bound to suffer. The farmer's needs must be understood and met. Everyone who knows the true condition of Kent County life realizes this. It is not likely that there is a man in the whole county who understands the problems of the farmer more thoroughly than does Jesse H. Usilton, of near Chestertown. Mr. Usilton is a gentleman of well-known and recognized ability along all agricultural lines, in which calling he has spent his life, and the interests of farmer and town man will be well off in his hands.

FOR SHERIFF OF KENT COUNTY

J. THOMAS HADAWAY—When a man has once performed a task most successfully, there is not much question but that he can duplicate the performance. Mr. Hadaway was sheriff of Kent County for two years and it has been frequently said of him that he was one of the best sheriffs that ever held the position in Kent. He knows what the job calls for, knows its difficulties and how to overcome them, and knows the responsibilities of the place. Mr. Hadaway made a mighty good sheriff several years ago and will make an equally good official again after the election.

With such a ticket as the one set forth above, re[pre]sent the important business interests of the county, every element of the party, the Democratic party will carry the county from the Sassafras to the Potomac by a tremendous majority.

MR. GORDY STRONGLY ENDORSED BY INDEPENDENTS

Not only has Mr. Wm. S. Gordy, Jr., the endorsement of all elements of the Democratic party throughout the state, but he is strongly endorsed by one of the strongest Independents on the Eastern Shore, Mr. L. W. Gunby, of Mr. Gordy's county. A man must be judged, in a large measure, by his own county people. The following article is taken from the Baltimore Sun:

"Warm endorsement of the candidacy of William S. Gordy, Jr., Democratic nominee for State Comptroller, was given yesterday by L. W. Gunby, head of the manufacturing hardware firm of L. W. Gunby Company, one of the leading business men of the Eastern Shore and president of the Wicomico County Board of Education.

"Mr. Gunby, whose home is in Salisbury, where Mr. Gordy lives, never has been active in politics and is known on the Eastern Shore as an independent in his political views.

"Mr. Gordy's long experience in financial affairs," said Mr. Gunby yesterday; "his organizing constructive ability and his attractive personality will prove a most valuable asset to the state. I feel that, from a business and economic standpoint, he should receive not only the full Democratic vote, but every independent vote in the state.

"I congratulate Mr. Gordy for listening to the appeals of his friends and becoming a candidate for the State Comptrollership. I feel that the state is to be congratulated in securing his nomination. I have known Mr. Gordy long, and I am proud of him. I am proud of those attainments which he has, which equip him so eminently to serve in the office for which he is now a candidate, and I am proud, too, of his willingnes to make the personal sacrifice which acceptance of the office will entail.

"I know his loyalty to his friends, his state and his nation. I know well his executive ability, integrity, aptitude and faithfulness to duty. I sincerely regret that I am not physically able to go all over the state and tell the voters all I know about Will Gordy, and thus do more to assure his election. I can only say now that I and all my house are supporting him gladly and will support him with our votes on election day."

POULTRY NOTES

NOTES OF THE CHICKEN FLOCKS THAT MAY INTEREST OUR READERS

Every year poultry raising in our country is climbing steadily upward as a sound, profitable business venture for those people who are engaged in it. There are many reasons for this, among which undoubtedly are to be found an increased demand for poultry products of all kinds and an enlarged knowledge of how, when, where and why to do things connected with chickens. But, the poultry industry, made up as it is of great commercial poultry plants, farm flocks and back-yard flocks, has not reached the point yet where those interested in it can afford to feel that perfection has been reached. In fact, some of us who are actually engaged in raising chickens bump up against many a problem that has not yet been solved, and reach many a point on which we would like further enlightenment. We find out something new every day or two. The autumn days are here. Many of us really believe that November is the best month of the year. For the poultryman it is an interesting one. During this month the selection and finishing of the pullets is well under way, the weeding out of the good breeding stock is commencing to shape up, and the poultry houses are beginning to be fixed up for the laying flocks that will occupy the houses in the winter and spring seasons. November is a month that is going to see many a new hand commence the work of raising poultry for profit or pleasure. It further is seeing many a heretofore established chicken raiser start all over again, this time to do things nearer right. Our advice to chicken raisers at this time would be to cull out all pullets that are underweight or do not show signs of reaching an early maturity, providing they were hatched out reasonably early. To carry over a lot of worthless pullets during the winter season, hoping that they will develop is a sure route to a non-profitable year. Our motto is that it is better to have 100 well-developed pullets from which to secure your eggs than twice that number of birds that do not show development and vigor.

Many people tell about the large number of eggs they are securing when eggs are scarce. Sometimes this is true, sometimes not. When it is the chicken raiser that secures them has a pretty good breed or else his chickens are well-developed and well-attended to. The first question that he is asked is "What breed have you?" It don't make much difference what breed you have, if your flock does not receive the proper attention, you will get poor results.

Heavy rains and unseasonably cool weather will do as much as anything else to bring on chicken pox and it is not infrequent that poultrymen in this section have their flocks to become infected with it. It is stated that a solution made of 1 pint of boiled water in which a 7-grain tablet of mercury has been dissolved and this solution sweetened with [illegible] of bichloride [illegible] the disease. It is also stated that if dissolved and it is well to [illegible] on the sores will sore afterwards. It is also stated that [illegible] put powdered borax on the [illegible]d.

Red Cross Meeting

A call was made for Nov. 1 for an important meeting of the Red Cross. Nine persons responded. The question of holding the chapter was discussed, and it was decided to hold the organization together by re-organization into districts, each district taking up its own work on health, school problems and co-operating with the tuberculosis work under the nurse. The Chapter House will be given up Dec. 31. The loan closet will be at the Eastern Shore Inn, the space being given by the American Legion and the business men. Once a part of a great organization, always a part—for the uplift of humanity and the relief of sickness and poverty. The Fifth Roll Call will determine the interest of the county, to itself and its neighbors in distress.
