"FOUR HORSEMEN" SMASHES RECORDS

$1,000,000 Ingram Production of Ibanez Film Due Here—Marks New Epoch For Screen

The long-awaited Rex Ingram production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is coming to the Lyceum Theatre Nov. 7 and 8. This is the picture that cost Metro $1,000,000 to make, and, from all accounts the $1,000,000 was well spent, as critics agree that all other efforts at production on a grand scale have been surpassed and record runs have been made in New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Los Angeles and other cities where the picture has been previously shown.

Scene from "THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE"

Fifty principals and 2500 extras were engaged in the filming of the photodrama, an entire French village and an elaborate chateau were erected to be destroyed under the artillery bombardment of the German invaders, and more than 125,000 tons of masonry, steel, lumber and furniture were used in creating backgrounds that are said to reproduce with absolute fidelity the shifting panorama of the story.

The appeal of the story itself has already been proved through the success of the novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, upon which the photodrama is founded. Its sale throughout the world runs into millions, but millions more will probably have it revealed to them the first time through the medium of the screen production. This production is reported to have followed faithfully the epic tale of human passion against the background of the Great War as related by Ibanez.

The cast includes Rudolph Valentino, Alice Terry, Pomeroy Cannon, Joseph Swickard, Brinsley Shaw, Alan Hale, Bridgetta Clark, Mabel Van Buren, Brodwitch (Smoke) Turner, Nigel de Brulier, John Sainpolis, Mark Fenton, Virginia Warwick, Derek Ghent, Stuart Holmes, Jean Hersholt, Henry Klaus, Edward Connelly, Georgia Woodthorpe, Kathleen Key, Wallace Berry, Jacques d'Aurey, Curt Rehfeld, Mlle. Dolores, "Bull" Montana, Isabel Keith, Jacques Lanoe, Noble Johnson, Harry Northrup, Minnehaha, Arthur Hoyt and Beatrice Dominguez. The scenario was written by June Mathis, John Seitz was responsible for the photography, and the technical directors were Amos Myers and Joseph Calder. Walter Mayo was assistant to Rex Ingram.

This remarkable picture, which has just closed a three weeks' run in Baltimore, will be shown at the Lyceum Theatre Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 7 and 8, with matinee on Tuesday. A special symphony orchestra is carried to render the special musical score. The prices will be 50c, 75c, $1.00, with a few choice seats at $1.50. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

Halloween Celebrated In Chestertown

Halloween was most fittingly and appropriately celebrated in Chestertown Monday evening. Grotesque figures, dressed in fantastic costumes, paraded the streets in a most orderly manner, bent on fun and getting plenty of it, while onlookers were on the streets in large numbers and got as much fun out of the occasion as those who had fitted themselves in costumes.

All ages of people were represented in the wierd gayety seekers. The child, taking its first steps with the aid of its mother, was on the streets, dressed for the occasion. The youth, full of vigor and adventure, took on a bolder costume and peered into the faces of others with his contorted mask and gave vent to his pleasure in many ways. The older folks were also on the streets in more sedate costumes and they, too, enjoyed the evening's fun.

The harmless fun-makers and fun-seekers, as well as the onlookers, enjoyed the evening immensely, until about nine o'clock, when the rain interposed and the grotesque figures quickly sought their homes.

—Andrew J. Abbell, who we noted last week as having stopped in Chestertown on his way on a trip from coast to coast on horseback, was compelled to discontinue his trip for the time, because of his mother being sick at Syracuse, N. Y.

To The Voters of Kent County.

In bringing my campaign to a close I wish to state that in all my travels and talks to the Voters of Kent County and in all my advertising, both in the county papers and folders distributed by me, it has been my aim NOT to say one thing against any candidate, person or party that might be detrimental to them.

I have given the people of Kent County a clean statement of facts and to my opponents a clean, fair and square fight.

In conclusion, bear in mind that when you are voting for John E. Speicher, Jr., you are casting your ballot for a young man of High School and College Education, full of energy and ambition, and reared in business training by men of high moral standing in this community.

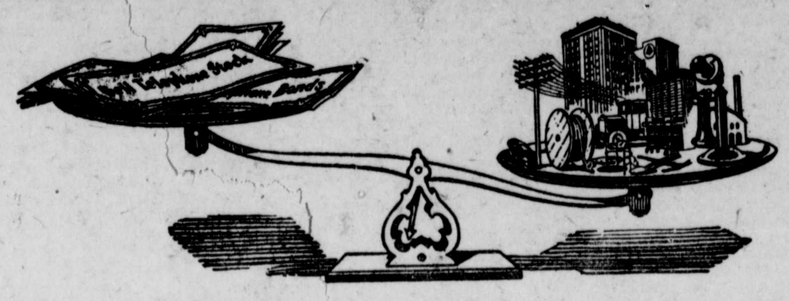

VOTERS--as a MAN to MAN proposition--irrespective of party--give me your VOTE and you shall receive full representation in the House of Delegates.

Respectfully,

JOHN E. SPEICHER, Jr.,

for the House of Delegates.

Who Owns The Bell Telephone System?

SOME people look upon the Bell System as a large corporation owned by a group of capitalists.

On the contrary, the stock of the Company is owned by 175,000 people. This does not include many thousands who are owners of the Company's bonds, or those who are paying for stock in installments.

More than half of these stockholders are women. The average number of shares held is 30 and no shareholder owns as much as one-half of one per cent. of the stock. More than one-third of the stockholders own five shares or less each.

These people buy this stock because they believe in the efficiency of the organization and the integrity of its management. They believe their money is safe and they expect to receive a continuous dividend on their investment.

The further extension of our system is dependent upon these people and others who may be attracted as investors. If we are going to continue to meet the growing demands for extension of our service, it is imperative that these people shall continue to receive satisfactory pay for the use of their money.

The last day together

They sat at the table in the restaurant where they had danced together so often, and knew that this afternoon together was their last. There had been gossip—of the sort no woman can resist. Small wonder they were distrait. They would have been more so, could they have foreseen the end of the affair which is so prominent a part of
