Rev. Payne lauded as one who cares for the unwanted and feeds the hungry

By Pam Widgeon

"A Shepherd went out." This was the theme for the testimonial banquet honoring Rev. William W. Payne, pastor and founder of City Temple of Baltimore Baptist Church.

The dictionary says a shepherd is a man who protects, guides or watches over a person or a group of people.

The Rev. Dr. Payne is definitely a shepherd. Many citizens of the community described him as a "shepherd who loves his sheep and a gifted man of God who feeds the hunger, clothed the naked and is loved by everyone."

Nearly 1,000 citizens from all walks of life attended the four-hour banquet honoring 56-year-old Rev. Mr. Payne.

The Rev. Mr. Payne told the AFRO he received over 100 gifts from friends, family, other clergymen and church members.

He said, "I have always had a great concern for everyone but especially for those who are unloved and unwanted. They keep me busy day and night trying to help them. A shepherd must go out to the people.

"I am very humble and I am doing what the Lord wants me to do. It was a beautiful thing and I am still receiving gifts."

For 27 years, the Rev. Mr. Payne has served as a minister. Before he founded and became pastor of City Temple, he was pastor of Wayland Baptist Church 23 years.

During the week, meals are served daily at the House of Hope, 1900 Eutaw Place, by the Rev. Mr. Payne and staff members.

Rev. William W. Roberts Jr., speaker for the affair said, "This church has paused to hear this shepherd's voice. The sheep of this flock love their shepherd. He is a man with one of the finest of churches and a man of humility."

Others who extended greetings were Roscoe Herring, representing Mayor Schaefer. Herring presented the Rev. Mr. Payne with a plaque for his outstanding work in the community and revealed Mayor Schaefer had proclaimed April 9 as W. W. Payne Day in Baltimore.

Testimonial tributes were also made by Judge Milton B. Allen, Rev. C. C. Alexander, Rev. Alfred Vaughn, Dr. Elijah Saunders, Mrs. Enolia McMillan and Reginald Trusty, speaking for City Temple Baptist Church.

Mrs. Nadena W. Holden presided at the banquet. Other program participants were Nicholas Smart, Rev. Marcus Wood, Miss Marion Artis, Mrs. Vergie Lewis, Randall Thompson, Mrs. Marjorie Roberson, Edward B. Holden, Mrs. Bettye L. Preston, Rev. Maxwell Johnson.

Organizations in the church that presented gifts to the honoree were the Deacons, Deaconesses and Trustees, Children's Chorus, Children's Ushers, Gospel Chorus, Just We, Few, Missionaries, The Nurses,

Pastor's Aide Club, Senior Ushers, Sunday School, Temple Choir, Temple Ensemble, Young Adult Ushers,

Also friends Mrs. Arnetta Anderson, Ms. Anton C. Curtis, Ms. Laura Lipscone, Ms. Odell Snowden, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Allen White and Captain and Mrs. Clifton F. White Jr.

Rev. and Mrs. Moyd have ideal life and family

"We have set some basic goals for our lives, two of them are education and community involvement. We are thankful we have been blessed with some success," says the Rev. Olin P. Moyd.

The Rev. Mr. Moyd, pastor of the Mount Lebanon Baptist Church and his wife Marie have been consistently involved in their own educational development while rearing and educating their five daughters and giving progressive leadership to Mount Lebanon.

Mt. Lebanon, known in the community as "The Church with the Family Atmosphere", was founded by the late Rev. Hiram E. Smith.

The congregation will celebrate its 52nd anniversary in May.

Rev. and Mrs. Moyd went back to school after they were married in 1955. Rev. Moyd holds a diploma from Cortez W. Peters Business School, Bachelor of Theology, Temple Theological College of New York City; B.A. in Sociology, Morgan State University, and Master of Divinity, with honor, Howard University, School of Religion.

He has completed all course requirements and is a candidate for the Ph.D in Theology at the Ecumenical Institute of Theology, St. Mary's Seminary and University.

He has taught graduate courses in black studies at both St. Mary's Seminary and University and The Interfaith Metropolitan Theological Education, Inc., Washington, D.C. He also lectures locally and nationally on the subject of the Black Experience.

Because of commitments and positive involvement in religious, social and political areas, he has been honored with the Doctor of Divinity degree by Temple Theological College, New York and with the LL.D degree by Virginia Seminary and College, Lynchburg, Va.

Included among awards are the Miles Washington Conner Award from the Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Convention of Md., for outstanding services in Christian Education and the 150th Anniversary Citation, division of Educational Ministries, American Baptist Convention.

On June 28, the Rev. and Mrs. Moyd will lead a tour group to Monrovia, Liberia; Kinshasa, Zaire, and Nairobi, Kenya in Africa and Rome, Italy in Europe, returning July 12. The Rev. Mr. Moyd says, "Since my first visit to Africa in 1972, it has been my desire to take our congregation and friends to tour our native land. This year this dream will be fulfilled."

In 1973, half the Moyd family was graduated the same month. Mrs. Moyd received her B.S. degree in elementary education from Coppin State College while Marlene and Angeline were graduated from Douglas High School.

Since then, Mrs. Moyd has taught early childhood education at P.S. No. 238 while pursuing a masters degree in special education.

She also takes courses for certification in early childhood education. The reminder of her time, she is teacher, choir member and husband-helper in Mt. Lebanon and with the Ministers' Wives group.

The oldest daughter, Marlene, will be graduated from the Community College of Baltimore this spring. The second daughter, Angeline, is a junior at Morgan. Olinda and Olivia, the twins, are juniors at Western High and Anita is in the kindergarten at West Side Elementary.

The Rev. Mr. Moyd has been pastor of Mt. Lebanon 11 years. He says, "We have a valuable and fulfilling worship style to meet the need of those who come from broken, disappointing experiences week after week.

"We have developed a sound Christian education program to meet needs of the inquisitive minds of our time. Our Church's Federal Credit Union helps meet financial needs of our church family and teaches thriftiness. Our physical plant is in good repair. We have acquired additional properties to meet growing church and community needs. My aim in life is to serve the Creator through service to his creatures," says pastor Moyd."
