CONSUMER CORNER

HAVE A HEALTHY HOLIDAY

For many people the holiday week to come marks the last big meal of the indoor cooking season. Hot weather is still far away but danger lurks in lukewarm temperatures and large meals call for extra precautions. Keep cutting surfaces super clean; serve hot foods hot and cold ones cold; refrigerate leftovers quickly.

And if you'll be buying extra eggs for these holidays, take note of the old 7-8 stand-by rule. When there's more than a 7-8¢ difference between the price of medium and large or large and extra, the smaller size is a better buy on an ounce-per-dollar basis. If the price spread is smaller than that, buy larger. And whatever you buy or celebrate, we wish you a happy and healthy holiday.
