ORTING NOTES

INGTON COLLEGE VS. WES-RN MARYLAND COLLEGE TODAY — HARVARD AND YALE—OTHER NEWS OF THE SPORT REALM

The Washington College football team and the Western Maryland College team will battle for supremacy today at Westminster. Neither team has made an enviable record but the game should be close and interesting.

The Chestertown High School team and the New Castle Hight School team will meet on the Washington College gridiron this afternoon in what promises to be a good game.

The Newark High School team took advantage of the Chestertown High School's mistakes on Friday afternoon and defated them 14 to 0. While the local team gained far more ground by rushing the ball and seemed to be able to hold the other team's plunges, they failed to show real class when the occasion demanded it.

The football team which surely will
Attain the heights of fame
Is one which has the speed and skill
That go to make the game.
For speed and skill will seldom fail
To play a major part,
And yet they are of small avail
Unless they're mixed with heart.

Princeton succumbed to Yale Saturday the score being 13 to 7. It was the consensus of sporting writers that Yale had, by far, the superior machine.

Messrs. Thomas W. Perkins, J. T. Kibler, William F. Russell, Jr., and Joseph N. Wheatley attended the great Penn State-Navy football game in Philadelphia Saturday. The game was perhaps the hardest fought of the entire year. The general feeling of those who attended is that the Navy played a good game, but the Penn State team was far superior.

Harvard and Yale clash in the annual football classic of the year today at Cambridge. We look for Yale to win the contst by a narrow margin. A number of new records will be made in the game. Nearly 55,000 persons will view the game, while the receipts will be far more than they ever have been before.

The St. John's-Hopkins game will take place today at Homewood, Baltimore. Neither team has anything about which to become greatly enthused over, but Hopkins looks better to us as the winner.

Bru dog belong- ing t d the h day this had an ear cut off and was c derably bruised. Bruce is getting old. He has served his owner and others well in the field and can be ranked with Mr. Thomas Massey's Bess, Mr. Edward Wilkins' great dog and other great dogs of the county that have made bird hunting real sport in Kent county. In his prime, and even after, Bruce was one of the greatest hunters ever seen in this section. He seemed tireless in his hunt for his quarry and no brush seemed impenetrable to him, while streams and briers offered him little in the way of obstacles. Dogs of the calibre of Bruce and Bess, and some few others we might mention, have been real prizes to their owners. Regarding a good dog, some one has truly said: "The best friend a man possesses in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. Man's son or daughter, whom he has reared with loving care, may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us—those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name—may become traitors to their faith. The money a man has he may lose—it flies away from him when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a minute of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us, may be the first to throw stones of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world—the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous—is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity, in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if he only may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the sores and wounds that comes encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he was a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains; when riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If misfortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, he asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger and to fight against his enemies."

Keenan, Washington's giant guard, will likely have a place on the All-State football team, as requests were made for his photo in Chestertown this week. We looked for Crowe to get a e on the same team.

he basketball season will open at hington College on Wednesday g, November 30, when the W. C. and the American Legion team ash in the first game of a five- series. The W. C. team and gion team both have strong tations, and the games should be the most interesting of the n.

Protest Synod Con-

THE Kent County Exhibit and Poultry Show, which was held at Washington College this week, is a credit to this grand old county. The bringing of our farmers and citizens together once a year is a helpful thing to our county's agricultural interests, and should be encouraged by the attendance of the people of the entire county. The committee, which is headed by Mr. H. B. Derrick, chairman, is composed of our best and most progressive farmers and they are to be congratulated for their efforts in presenting such an excellent exhibition of the products of the county.

POMONA GRANGE MEETS

Holds Interesting Session At Galena On Saturday Last

Through mud and rain Kent Co. Grangers traveled Saturday Nov. 12, to attend a most interesting meeting of the Kent Co. Pomona Grange. In- questions were discussed and passed favoring di- published officers suing year, rice; Over- Chaplin, Dr. Mrs. Harry rs. Harvey . W. Urie; Moore; Assis- R. Penning- Price; A. S. ton; Ceres, Mrs. Pomona, Miss Urie; Flora, M Turner; Gate Keeper, Mrs. B. F. Ras Lady Assistant Stewart, Miss Emma Shafer. The door was then thrown open to the public and the new officers were installed by worthy master Wm. G. Smyth. We were then delightfully entertained during the lecture hour conducted by Miss Shafer, substituting for Mrs. Williams.

The program consisted of instrumental and vocal solos, a duet, readings and discussions. All were beautifully rendered.

A paper read will be published by request of those present.

Still Po nge then extended an invitatio ers and friends to meet Still Pond Church giving ser vice on t. Let us all be th them. Galena Grange was given a rising vote of thanks for the splendid manner in which we were entertained. We felt it was indeed good to meet with Galena patrons.

Next meeting to be held at Kennedyville in January. Let all Grangers be present and get others to join us.

Resolutions Regarding Peace

The following resolutions were presented at a recent meeting of the Pomona Grange by Dr. S. S. Hepburn. They were carried unanimously by the Grange.

Whereas, In the minds of all proper thinking people for generations past, war is but the expression of an unreasonable, unjust and cruel desire and purpose, especially on the part of the nation that advocates and wages war for the advancement of its own selfish end. And

Whereas, In the present condition of the world, the interests of all peoples are so intertwined the ends of the world are brought so close together by the telephone and telegraph and that nations are so mutually dependent upon each other that no two nations can appeal to arms for the settlement of difficulties that may spring up between them, without the risk of disturbing the peace and happiness of the whole world, therefore be it

Resolved, That we the Kent County Pomona Grange, assembled in Galena on this 12th day of November, 1921, do declare ourselves as heartily in favor of the movement towards disarmament or the reduction of armament to as low a point as will be conducive to the welfare of the nation for its self defense.

Resolved, That we hail with delight that period when a conference of the leading nations of the world has been called and is now in session in our great capitol city for the purpose of discussing plans for disarmament. We felicitate our Administration, for the courage manifested in taking the leadership in so great and vital a move- nt. We hope and pray for the best ible sults.

We believe that for the complishment of this high ose, there must of nec- emn compact entered ns for the preserva- ll it League of Na- Nation

The Synod went on record endorsing the President's proposition and the nation's stand in regard to disarmament. A special committee was appointed to present the Armenian situation before the Disarmament Conference.

A resolution setting aside $4,500 for a secretary for schools and colleges was adopted. His duty will be to bring e thought of more and better educa- nal features before the communi- ts. A committee was named to ar- ge for the organization of more en's societies. Mr. Thomas W. ns, of Chestertown, is a member is committee.

Some of the finest birds in this section of the country are on exhibit, showing that the ones who reared them know well the fundamentals of the intricate, fascinating and, at the same time, the discouraging business. Besides these various breds of chickens, there are two capons, 11 ducks, 3 geese, 3 turkeys and 7 bantams, and so, it can be readily seen, that almost every kind of domestic bird life in the county is to be seen there.

Both the County Exhibit and the Poultry Show are a grand success and a full list of the prize winners will be published in a future issue.
