BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS AT
WASHINGTON COLLEGE; W. C.
VICTORIOUS—OTHER
NOTES

The basketball season opened at Washington College Wednesday evening and W. C. won a clean-cut victory over the American Legion team, of Chestertown, who defeated them last year in two out of three games. The two teams will play a five-game series.

The Legion team was the first to tally when Kibler hurled a long one into the basket. The Legion maintained this lead but a few minutes, however, and Washington soon took this lead, and, for a few minutes it appeared like they would make a run-away of it. But the Legion team showed tremendous fighting spirit and toward the close of the first half were outplaying the Collegians. The half ended 20 to 10 in favor of W. C. The second half became a whirlwind affair, with Kibler and Usilton keeping their team in the running by making several phenomenal shots, while Carroll and Gordy continued to keep their outfit in the running with some mighty fine shots. The game ended with the score standing 36 to 19 in favor of W. C.

The work of H. Usilton, Kibler and

C. Usilton, at guard, was perhaps the best for the Legion team, while Gordy, Carroll and Duffy starred for the College team.

The two teams were as follows: W. C.: Gordy, c; Lohran and Johnson, guards; Carroll, Duffy and Russell, forwards. Legion: H. Usilton, c; Kibler, Rouse and Blackway, guards; C. Usilton and Bartley, guards.

Preliminary to this game, a College team defeated the Chestertown High School 38 to 7. The town team had little team work, while the College boys unloosened an attack that the local team was unable to fathom.

Using the game of Wednesday evening as a criterion, Carroll, the new basketball star of Washington College, who hails from Waterbury, Conn., lives up to his reputation as being one of the best basketball men who ever played the game at Washington College and there have been a galaxy of stars at the old institution during the past decade that have been hard to surpass on any floor of the country. Carroll is a floor man of unusual ability; he handles the ball cleanly and his passes are swift and sure. He knows what to do at all times and is a mighty hard man to trap. In Wednesday evening's setto he did not show quite the ability with his shots under the basket that we believe him capable of and he did not seem to be exerting himself at but few stages of the contest; when he did, he accomplished something. He appears to us to be a player who carries an unusual amount of reserve force. At foul shooting he is better than any of the former stars of the college, with the possible exception of Pearson; time may establish the fact that he is better than Pearson. Viewed from every angle of basketball Carroll is a good man and Washington is lucky to have been able to get him.

Strangler Lewis lost two out of three falls to Zybsco, the champion wrestler of the world, Monday night in New York. Lewis secured the first fall.

Snow Hill is making a hard fight to secure a place in the Eastern Shore League and will take the matter to the courts, claiming that they have been unfairly treated. The Snow Hill fans have raised $2700 to use for an independent team, in case they are unable to get into the league.

The Chestertown H. S. football team is claiming the championship of the Eastern Shore among the High School teams and their claim is a just one.

Penn State and the University of Washington will clash today at Seattle, Washington.

For once this year, anyhow, the Navy defeated the Army 7 to 0 at New York Saturday.

The Chestertown Soccer team, having been declared by the State Athletic Association the champions of Kent Co., there will be an interesting contest between them and Chesapeake City, the champions of Cecil, in the near future.

The American Legion Basketball team and the W. C. quint will play another game here on Saturday evening, Dec. 10. Harry Derringer and Carey Jarman will probably play in this contest.

While the hunting season has been under way but three weeks, the covers in the vicinity of Chestertown have been depleted of game long since. This would seem a natural sequence, these covers being in the vicinity of Chestertown. But in past years this has not been true. In the nearby covers game has become so scarce that, if hunters continue to search every nook and briar bush for the few that remain there is danger of their complete annihilation. The secret of this lies in the fact that it takes too much game to satisfy the "hunger" of some of our gunners, and the fact that too much box trapping is being done, some of which lasts far into the winter. This is one of the best ways to annihilate our rabbits. It would be a good thing if our gunners would refrain from killing the few rabbits that remain in the vicinity of Chestertown and leave them for breeders for next year.

The Baltimore Sun of last Sunday contained an excellent picture of the Chestertown High School football outfit. This team, under the coaching of Rev. Charles Atwater, has won the championship of the Eastern Shore.
