Some dandy Halloween treats!

Candy is dandy for Halloween, but homemade snacks, cookies and real fruit drinks are even better for fueling small fry at parties or trick-or-treat calls.

Tuna Treasurers

Tuna treasures hide tuna salad in a pastry shell. They're good warm or cold. Cream ½ cup softened butter or margarine with ½ cup of cream cottage cheese in a medium sized bowl. Blend in 1 cup of unsifted all-purpose flour. If necessary, chill dough until soft enough to roll. In another bowl, mix 2 (6½ or 7-ounce) cans of tuna in vegetable oil, drained, with 2/3 cup each of chopped celery and pared, finely chopped carrot, 4 teaspoons lemon juice, ½ cup of mayonnaise and ½ teaspoon of salt. Roll dough and cut into 12 (6-inch) squares. Divide filling among squares, placing ¼ cup of it near the center of each one. Pull one corner of pastry over the filling to form a triangle and pinch edges to seal. Place on ungreased baking sheet and sprinkle each turnover with ½ teaspoon of sesame seeds. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven about 40 minutes, or until golden brown.

Halloween Brew

Halloween brew is a spicy fruit juice mixture that can be served warm or chilled. Heat 2 cups of cider with ¼ teaspoon each of ground nutmeg, ground cinnamon and ground allspice until mixture boils. Remove from heat, stir in ¼ cup sugar, if desired and 2 (6-ounce) cans of frozen reconstituted orange juice concentrate, then heat to serving temperature. Or, cool the spiced cider, mix with the orange juice and refrigerate. Serve with clove-studded orange slices. Makes 2 quarts, or 16 (half-cup) servings.

A punch bowl full of orange nog makes a delicious party table centerpiece. Have all the ingredients ice cold before mixing. Place 2 cups of milk, 1 quart of orange juice, 2 eggs and 1 quart orange, sherbet in a large mixing bowl, beat until thoroughly mixed—using either a rotary beater or an electric mixer. Refrigerate until serving time. Stir again with beater or wire whisk to reblend ingredients before bringing the punch bowl to the table Makes about 2½ quarts, or 20 (half-cup) servings.

Witches' Chips

Witches' chips and broomsticks are cookies.

For witches' chips, sift 2 cups of sifted all-purpose flour with 1 teaspoon of baking soda and ½ teaspoon of salt. Cream ½ cup of shortening. Gradually add 1½ cups sugar and beat until mixture is light. Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add sifted flour mixture alternately with 5 tablespoons of thawed undiluted frozen orange juice concentrate, beating after each addition and ending with flour mixture. Stir in 1 cup (a 6-ounce package) of semi-sweet chocolate pieces and 1 tablespoon of grated fresh orange rind. Drop by teaspoons about 2 inches apart on a greased baking sheet. Bake 10-12 minuttes in preheated 350-degree oven. Makes about 48 cookies.

Halloween decorations

Homes in England and Wales are decorated at Halloween not only with pumpkins but with corn, leaves, grain, fruits, nuts, potatoes and cabbages.

The custom goes back to ancient Druid harvest festivals, and even before that to the Roman autumn feast of Pomona, goddess of the orchard.

Spooky parties

The centuries-old festival of Halloween is second only to Christmas as an occasion for children's partes.

A sucessful Halloween party should have: everyone in costume, dim lighting, spooky decorations and the makings of games on hand — like apple bobbing and blind man's bluff. To save clean-up chores, use paper party table settings appropriate to the season.

Halloween horseshoes

The supersitition that horseshoes bring good luck is believed to have originated in Ireland as a Halloween custom.

Irish farmers who feared harm to their livestock from witches and spirits at Hallowqen would nail a horseshoe, prongs upright, above the stable door. By tradition, the horseshoe was supported by three nails, each hammered in with three blows to symbolize the Holy Trinity. Legend holds that, anyway.

WEEK'S FOOD ECONOMIES

Meat prices are attractive

Meats are always on the market list, but current meat prices are to be taken advantage of, says Georgia Stevens, Consummer and Food Economics Specialist, Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland.

Beef, pork, turkey and chicken prices are special features at most meat counters. Beef is there for the eating because of record production and continues to be the product most featured.

The greater supply of pork has led to more attractive pork prices, notably bacon which has gone down in price over the last few weeks. This pork supply should lead to a delay in beef price increases for a few more months. Consider beef chuck or rib roast, or pork loin chops. Do some buying for the freezer while prices remain this low.

Broiler-fryer chickens and frozen chicken livers are priced low. A large supply of chicken livers are on the market due to the increased sales of chickens without giblets to the school lunch program and to fast-food outlets. Chicken livers can be eaten economically in regualr meals as well as enjoyed as a gourmet treat.

Prices on turkey are down with production estimated to be about 10 per cent more than last year Shoppers might be wise to consider buying the Thanksgiving turkey now for freezing and later emjoyment.

Lettuce, broccoli, celery, carrots and tomatoes shipped from California will continue to be higher in price because of the Califorinia rains. Raisin growers in the nation's major grape growing area in Califorina are predicting a near total loss of their crop This could equal or exceed the crop losses and raisin shortage of 1972.

Abundant supplies of canned corn, green peas, tomatoes, tomato products, peaches, and pears are being specialed due to large carry-over holdings of these items from last year. It would be smart shopping to consider some purchasing of these canned items for winter meals. Retail prices will probably rise later this fall with increased processing and distribution costs for this year's crop.

Apples, potatoes, sweet potatoes and onions are available at reasonable prices and are plentiful in the markets. Enjoy the first of the new crop of grapefruit.

Chicken Livers and Mushrooms on Wild Rice

1 cup wild rice
4 tablespoons flour
4.cups water
2.cups chicken broth
1 pound mushrooms
½ teaspoon salt
1 pound chicken livers
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter
¼ cup sherry

In pot, combine rice and water. Boil for 30 to 40 minutes. Cook until fluffy. Drain water. In a frying pan combine mushrooms and chicken livers with butter. Cook until tender. Sprinkle with flour. Mix thoroughly. Add chicken broth; cook until sauce is thick. Add salt and pepper. Add sherry. Serve over wild rice.

Serves 6.

Apple Stuffing

¼ cup butter or bacon drippings
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
4 cups diced tart apples
½ teaspoon salt
One-third cup sugar
4 cups small bread cubes

Melt fat in large frypan. Add onion, celery and apples. Sprinkle with salt and sugar. Cook turning occasionally for 8-10 minutes or until apples are lightly browned. Add bread cubes and toss gently to blend ingredients.

How to use: pork shoulder with apple stuffing — sprinkle the inside of a 4 pound boned fresh pork shoulder with 1 teaspoon salt and pepper as desired. Spread stuffing. Fold meat over stuffing and skewer. Place on rack, skin side up in a shallow baking pan.

Bake at 325 degrees for about 2-2½ hours or until meat is tender and the juice is no longer pink.

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

During the active summer months we were more conscious of protecting our skin and body. Suntan lotions were used to screen damaging rays, moisturizers to aid dry skin, and creme rinses to condition sun-damaged hair.

WISK AIDS HALLOWEEN CLEANUP

October is one of my favorite months with its football games and crisp, cool weather and all of nature basking in a blaze of autumn hues.

I particularly look forward to the Halloween witches and goblins that ring my doorbell at the end of this month.

The fairy-tale costumes of past years no longer seem to entice our young ones. I recall that last Halloween I saw more goblins than ever before, colorfully costumed in dirt-covered overalls with grease-marked faces.

I know many mothers wondered how they would ever get their children's clothes clean again. I urged all of my friends and neighbors to use WISK for removing these problem stains.

WISK is the most effective heavy-duty detergent I've ever used. WISK not only removes dirt and grease stains, but it's great for the whole wash, too.

So try WISK and join its growing group of satisfied consumers.

MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S SPURS TOUCHDOWN PARADE

Football is a great American pastime. Each year millions of people crowd the sidelines as spectators of this exciting sport, and I am no exception.

This year my nephew Rickey is the star quarterback for one of our local high school teams. He suggested to his mother that he would like to have a Sunday breakfast for his teammates.

After much preparation, she decided on a menu of orange juice, sausages and pancakes. I brought the syrup—MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S, of course—and lent my moral support.

MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S rich, maple flavor was a really big success with the young players. Many of them said they had never tasted a syrup as thick and "great tasting" as MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S and that they could really taste the butter.

Well, after serving up five pounds of sausage and at least fifty pancakes, we were really tired, but very pleased. MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S had helped to make the breakfast a big hit with the team.

Treat your family to the good taste of MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S and score your own touchdown with them.

A PEPSODENT SMILE

I really love the outdoors, but sometimes it's not easy. Like one recent Saturday when I attended a football game under overcast skies and chilling winds.

I tried to find some warmth under an old Navy blanket I was sharing with my husband Richard. Well, just as I got comfortable Richard decided he would try his hand at photography.

So there I was shivering, but smiling none the less.

My friend Gussia said, "Inez, how do you keep your teeth so white? I've tried everything but without much success."

"Have you tried PEPSODENT?" I asked.

"No," she replied.

"Then you haven't tried everything," I said. "PEPSODENT makes face-to-face situations with people a real pleasure. Its new, improved formula has more whitening power and it is low in abrasion, too.

"I have been using PEPSODENT toothpaste for years and it's never failed me yet," I said.

If personal appearance is important to you, then having clean, white teeth has to be very important.

You need not be afraid to smile if you use PEPSODENT toothpaste. In fact, that's what a PEPSODENT smile is all about.
