R.S.V.P. With Marie

By Marie Phillips-Cooke
Reflections Editor

By the time this column reaches the press, I'll be round out two days of screening applications for the 1976 Pulitzer Prizes in Journalism at Columbia University, New York City. A year ago, the AFRO received notice that I had been selected to join with some of other journalists from around the country to do the screening. More about the experience next week.

On last Sunday there were nearly 200 Howard University graduates, undergraduates and their guests at a dinner and awards ceremony at the Baltimore Sheraton Inn. It was a beautiful program and a lovely way to spend a Sunday evening. You'll get the full report next Friday!

And on tonight, Friday, the local chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, their female counterparts and supporters will be doing their Las Vegas thing at Meadow West. The AFRO's Photo-Journalist Benjamin L. Phillips will be there with his camera and notebook. Thanks to Polemarch Howard Tutman for the "invite." The affair will be highlighted by the drawing of the winning raffle ticket for a 1977 Monte Carlo.

Retirement Dinner
(Special to AFRO)

Warmth, love and friendship filled Meushaw's Hilltop Inn, Friday, Feb. 25, when 100 persons assembled to pay tribute to Mrs. Geraldine R. Baker.

Mrs. Baker is retiring after teaching in the East Baltimore area for 31 years. She was chosen "Outstanding Teacher of the Year" by her peer group in 1975.

The theme for the evening was "A Tribute to a Lady Teacher." James McDonald, former principal of School No. 102 and John Rawlings, former teacher at School No. 102, were the toastmasters.

The evening was filled with joy and smiles as principals, teachers, former students, parents and friends gathered to honor Mrs. Baker.

The honoree taught at School No. 101 for the past two years. The rest of her teaching career was spent at the old and new Thomas G. Hayes School No. 102.

The evening was a homecoming, in a sense, as teachers from far and near who had taught at 102 with Mrs. Baker came to honor her.

A former principal, Anne Carson Payne, gave a "dynamic" speech entitled, "Times To Remember." Thomas Miller, art teacher, presented a portrait of the honoree.

Mrs. Baker responded to the tributes and gifts with a tribute to her mother, Mrs. Estelle B. Ridout; her husband, Thomas Baker; and a former faculty member, Delores Stokes, who is ill.

The honoree reminisced about her 31 years of teaching. She compared the classroom with a stage and said that teachers and pupils are super stars in the different roles they played in the theater of education.

Cook in a realistic likeness.

"I try to get a very realistic portrait on paper." This is Miss Evans' motivation.

In the short span of three years, Miss Evans has done some 15 to 20 portraits of friends and relatives. Basically, she studies a picture of her subject for awhile before trying to draw it.

"I try to bring out the character of the person from his or her facial expression. There is no set pattern of how I begin. Sometimes it is with the eyes; other times it is the face.

"You have to have good motor coordination to put exactly what you see on paper. I start a portrait and things just come."

"I'm intrigued by the product myself. I sit back and wonder how I did that."

While studying the picture of the subject, Miss Evans might concentrate on lines of the face or a person's bone structure. Sometimes it might be a person's piercing eyes which first strikes her interest.

So far, she has personally known all of her subjects. "In essence, I draw what I see on paper, and then speculate how that person might be and hope it's true."

What makes her happy is when the portrait meets the subject's satisfaction by capturing them in their true light. Portrait drawing is a hobby for Sharon Evans.

By day, she is a school teacher at Edgemere Elementary School. She teaches the third grade.

She likes working with children because they are "honest" and feels she has a good report with kids.

In addition, she is taking graduate courses in counseling to help further her education career.

Miss Evans likes teaching and for the time being does not plan on leaving education to go into art full-time but would like to make a name for herself in portrait drawing and painting.

An attractive single, Sharon Evans wants both a successful career and home-life of husband and kids. However, the man she settles down with should not try to curtail her interests in art, tennis and plays.

Miss Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Evans (Thelma). She grew up in Turner's Station where her family attends St. Matthews Methodist Church. She is the youngest of three children.

Sharon Evans does not use a lot of words to explain her knack for capturing a person in a portrait. Maybe she sums it up best when she states:

"I was brought up in a church where the preacher said, 'God gave everyone talent.' I finally found out what my talent is, capturing black people in portraits."

In May or June, Miss Evans hopes to be one of the artists exhibiting work at Morgan State University. She would like to do a collection of black figures — past and present — in the near future.

She recently went and saw Alex Haley. She recalled that one thing he said was, "Whatever you want to do, you have to have discipline." "I'm discovering this now. You have to produce."

Local club notes

Baltimore and Columbia chapters of National Epicureans, Inc., celebrated their annual Founders' Day at St. James Church on Sunday, Feb. 19.

We were welomed by the Rev. Donald O. Wilson, rector, with a warm and provocative message. Later, the Baltimore chapter entertained the Columbia chapter at a luncheon held at Bluecrest North. This was keeping with the club motto: Eat, Drink, and be merry.

(NOTE: AFRO columnist, Pinnie Ross, reported on this event in her article "Columbia Capers" last week.)

Delta Sigma Theta

The Baltimore alumnae chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., a public service sorority, invites the public to an evening of elegance and entertainment at "A Night In Monte Carlo."

This event will take place on March 25, at the Blue Crest North, 401 Reisterstown Rd., from 10 p.m. 'til 2 a.m.

Guests can participate in games of chance and dancing. Food and an open bar will be provided.

This year's event will be new and different in many ways: Several members of the state Legislative Black Caucus will be croupiers for the evening. The affair will benefit the sorority's mental health projects and other charities such as the NAACP, Provident Hospital, Teen Lift, and the Madison Avenue YWCA.

For tickets call 383-0798.

Aloha McCullough is president of the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter, and Carol Talley is chairperson.

Yeta Phi Beta

Alpha Zeta Chapter, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., will hold its Annual Finner Womanhood Week Tea on Sunday, March 6, at Lewin United Methodist Church, 4820 Reisterstown Rd., at 4:00 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Bettye C. Thomas, noted historian, author, lecturer, former professor of history, UMBC.

Immediate past basileus Mary E. Fields will be cited "Zeta of the Year." Mrs. Camille W. Sherrard, Chairman of the Board of the Arena Players, has been designated "Woman of The Year."

Mrs. June Thorne Garrett will receive the "Community Service Citation." Misses Joyce Coleman, Marguerite Johnson, and Rosalind Jones will receive "Girl of the Year" Awards, this award being given for excellence in scholarship and community service.

Music will be rendered by the Zeta Ensemble under the direction of Soror Hazel Phillips.

Committee members, Bernice S. White, chairman; Anita H. Williams, co-chairwoman; Nathalia M. East Roberts, Basileus.

United Fund

A special Women's Committee group, of the United Fund of Central Maryland, headed by Mrs. Nelson Davis Barnes, is considering nominations for the recipient of this year's Clementine Peterson Award.

This award was established and endowed in 1971 by Mrs. Duane L. Peterson to recognize the contributions made by women in community service. It specifically honors a member of the United Fund Women's Committee who has performed outstanding service on behalf of the United Fund.

This year the award will be presented at the annual Meeting of the Fund on March 22 at Center Stage. Nominations may be forwarded to Mrs. Barnes, 825-5651.

"What I do for my Leo, Coffee-mate does for his coffee."

"My Joe is really something else. A true Leo from the heart. He doesn't just want things his way, he gets things his way.

"And when it comes to coffee, my big strong Leo likes a big strong cup. But mellowed-out first with Coffee-mate non-dairy creamer. He says that Coffee-mate makes his coffee as mellow as I make him.

And believe me, that's pretty mellow."

Woodlawn Highlights

... by Marjorie Green

By Marjorie R. Green

During his Feb. 18, visit to the Social Security Administration building in Woodlawn, HEW Secretary, Joseph Califano, assured SSA employees that Commissioner Cardwell would remain with SSA at least until the end of this year.

The new secretary rekindled a spark of hope in the area of equal opportunity for minorities and women when he spoke of his strong personal commitment "to see that every American in this society has the same opportunity that every other American has."

He spoke of his dissatisfaction with the limited progress that has been made in eliminating discrimination since the enactment of Equal Opportunity laws.

In addition to equal opportunity concerns, Secretary Califano discussed three areas of concerns of the new administration. Those concerns are: Welfare Reform, National Health Insurance, and the Impact of Federal Programs on the family.

"Are We Prepared for The Homecoming?" was the title of the speech that won first place for Ms. Julia Caraway in the Woodlawn Toast-mistress Club's speech contest held last week at the Belmont Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Thelma MacArthur won second place with "Homemade Musical Instrument" as the title of her presentation. Mrs. Margaret Blue's speech titled "Without Legs" won her third place in the contest.

The Social Security Administration's Ecology Group has scheduled four exciting programs for their March and April meetings to be held at noon in room 334, Altmeyer building. Wednesday, March 9, Mr. Vernon Lentz, assistant Bureau Chief with the Maryland State Highway Administration, will discuss national and state highway systems. A question and answer session will follow his presentation.

On Wednesday, March 23, Donald Klein, director of Port Promotion, Maryland Port Administration, will give an overview of the administration and programs initiated to protect the natural habitat in and around the port.

Klein will also present some of the plans for developing port facilities.

And on April 6, Robert Mongomery, manager of the Aviation Noise Programs Maryland Aviation Administration, will meet with the group to describe the state's efforts to control the noise emitted by aircraft.

Wednesday, April 20, Mrs. Honora M. Freeman, coordinator of the Baltimore County Bikeways Task Force, will give an update on bike paths and safety measures for paths and roadways. Visitors are welcome to participate in the discussions.

Hints For Homemakers

by INEZ KAISER

No matter what the time of year, there's one household product that's always appropriate to write about.

WISK REALLY DOES THE JOB

I'm referring to WISK, the heavy-duty liquid laundry detergent that has earned such a great reputation for removing rings from around the collar.

Home laundering is an important subject for all women—new brides and seasoned housewives as well as single women. Ring-around the collar has always been one of the toughest of all washday problems—and WISK provides the ideal solution.

Besides removing these problem soils from collar areas, WISK does an especially fine job of removing other difficult soils or stains from your laundry. In fact, WISK is great for your whole wash.

The directions on the bottle tell you how to pretreat stubborn soils or stains on garments prior to laundering them. Just try WISK and you'll be convinced how good it really is.

MOVE UP TO IMPERIAL

It's easy to figure out that a table spread offering good flavor and great taste is also going to make everything you cook with it taste a whole lot better.

That's why I strongly recommend people to use IMPERIAL. It's a great-tasting margarine, whether used as a spread or as a cooking ingredient.

IMPERIAL tastes so much like butter that most consumers can't tell the difference. That's why we call IMPERIAL "the butter of margarines."

IMPERIAL is ideal for everyday home use and for special entertaining and elegant dining. Over 200 recipes and hundreds of great ideas for home entertaining are featured in "The Elegant and Easy Cookbook" now being offered by IMPERIAL free of charge for just five weight designations from any package of IMPERIAL. The cookbook has a retail value of $1.95.

All you have to do is mail the weight designations to Imperial Cookbook Offer, P.O. Box 9668, St. Paul, Minnesota 55196. The offer expires September 30, 1977.

PEPSODENT FOR WHITER TEETH

We all like to use the most effective product available for any particular need. In the case of toothpaste we want to select the one that will get our teeth their whitest without being too abrasive.

My recommendation is to use PEPSODENT toothpaste. Its new improved formula makes it just about the best whitening toothpaste on the market. It's also lower in abrasion than any leading toothpaste.

PEPSODENT toothpaste brightens your teeth and adds luster to them at the same time. That's why we say that PEPSODENT gets your teeth their whitest. It is important to care for your teeth properly, and yet be able to smile with confidence. PEPSODENT is the toothpaste to use if you want whiter teeth to go with that confident smile. After all, seeing is believing.

LUX LIQUID FOR SOFT, SMOOTH HANDS

The longer you live, the more you learn about your friends. I never realized until recently that many of my close friends use rubber gloves when washing dishes.

Last week I suggested to one of them to take off her gloves and use LUX LIQUID to wash her dishes without gloves. She was a bit reluctant at first, but I insisted and she finally agreed to try it for just one week.

I told her that LUX LIQUID would leave her hands smooth and soft looking, without any need to wear gloves.

Like all of us, she has concerns about the appearance of her hands. And she also takes pride in having shiny, clean dishes.

After just one week my friend learned by her own personal experience that LUX left her hands soft and smooth and her dishes shining clean.

So now most of my friends use LUX and have discarded the rubber gloves, which gives them a better chance to appreciate the soft and smooth look of their hands.
