THE Maryland Legislature adjourneded early in the week owing to the illness of Governor Ritchie. The Governor was too sick to be consulted on matters of legislation.

THE ROADS MEETING TODAY

The meeting called for today, Saturday, Jan. 14, to consider the gravel roads proposition should be well attended. Since automobile travel has become so general it seems to us that some other way than the present method of mending or building our dirt roads will have to be devised in order to make automobile travel possible during the winter months. In order to accomplish desired results, looking to the betterment of our roads, it is necessary to have co-operation between our citizens and those in charge of our roads, and the meeting today is called in a large measure to consider such a proposition. What can be done by co-operation has been practically demonstrated by the piece of gravel road from Bonwell's Corner to Coleman's. This piece of road has for years been almost impassible during the winter months. During the past fall a co-operative plan was agreed upon between the citizens of that section and Mr. Applegarth, our county roads engineer, whereby that piece of road has been put in splendid condition for vehicles as well as automobiles to travel over. What has been accomplished on that piece of road could be done in many other sections of the county. Let every citizen of the county who is interested in good roads attend this meeting and express his ideas of how our roads should be worked. There is a bill, or will be a bill, introduced in our present session of the Legislature to put all county roads in the hands of the State Roads Commission. This question, we think, should be well considered by our representatives before they vote for it. Why not get an expression of opinion from those attending todays meeting? We are quite sure our representatives would welcome it.

At a meeting of officials of Christ M. P. N. O. Gibson, pastor of the church, Charles L. Dodd, Charles N. Satterfield, Fred G. Usilton and T. D. Bowers. A committee was also appointed to superintend extensive improvements to the interior of the church prior to the assembling of the Conference.

There will be few changes of pastorates in the Middletown District of the Wilmington M. E. Conference in the opinion of those who have a good line on the situation. Most of the churches, it is said, have already invited their pastors to return. Dr. Watt said the appointment of four district superintendents would not be known until the last meeting of the bishop's cabinet at the next session of the conference, to be held at Cambridge, beginning on March 29. It has been learned that the present plan is to return all of the present incumbents.

Dr. George T. Alderson, of Elkton M. E. Church, former pastor of Chestertown M. E. Church, has been invited to return to that charge for another year.

Report of the Kent County Public Health Nurse for Nov. and Dec., 1921

Number of patients: old, 21; new, 2; discharged, 8; died, 0. Number of visits made to patients' homes, 56. Patients sent to the hospital, 2; number of co-operative visits, 62; number of visits to the schools, 35; number of schools in which the children were weighed and measured, 17. Selected children were examined. Number of children weighed and measured, 812; number of visits to homes of school children, 46; pre-school child welfare visits, 16. A nutrition class with an enrollment of 25 was begun the first of November and is held at the Chestertown Elementary School every week. The children are weighed and measured and every means is used to interest them in improving their weight and keeping well.

The correction of physical defects existing among school children is progressing. This work is necessarily slow, due to the distance from a hospital and because all parents do not realize the importance of keeping their children physically fit.

Respectfully submitted,
MARGARET R. MASSEY.

Terrapin "King" Dies In Almshouse

Hiram Williams, the terrapin "king" of lower Delaware, is dead at the county almshouse, near Georgetown. His death occurred at that institution Monday, he being 79 years of age and had lived practically all his life at Seaford. During his life he probably caught more terrapins than any man on the Maryland-Delaware Peninsula. He was an expert in catching this toothsome delicacy of the swamp lands and he had among his customers some of the wealthiest people on the peninsula. The great majority of terrapins caught by him were taken from the waters of the Nanticoke river, a few miles below Seaford.
