R.S.V.P. With Marie

By Marie Phillips-Cooke

Les Grandes Dames

Our phone has been ringing this week with folks talking about the truly elegant gathering on Friday evening at the Overlea Hall where members of Les Grandes Dames marked their first anniversary with a dinner dance.

They say it was a beautiful affair, beginning with refreshments and gourmet cheese board, followed by dinner (with guests having a choice of imperial crab or roast beef), and the main dishes, as well as the rest of the meal, attractively arranged and tasty, too.

Music was by Lionel Jiggetts' Infinite Experience. Special delight was the guest appearance by Damita Jo, who was present, along with her hubby, Biddy Wood, as guests of Arnetta and George Lottier.

Other out-of-towners here were the Alexander Coxes of Princeton, N.J., guests of Barbara and Willie Mitchell and Sarah Davis of Philly, guest of Marguerite and Ed Wilkins.

Other club members are: Palestine Anderson, Phyllis Eley, Catherine Howard, Lillie Myers, Nathalia Roberts and Bernice S. White, president. Another member, Mary Robinson, was in Kentucky for her sister-in-law's funeral (Ruth Milliken). Also unable to attend was member, Mildred Williams.

Moles at Watergate

Baltimore members of Moles report their sisters in the Washington chapter truly put things together on Sunday afternoon when they held their 25th anniversary party at the Watergate.

Bea Smith, who is president of the chapter, arranged for her brother, Joe Walston to provide the music. He imported his seven-piece group from Philly, and Baltimore members say they were "really together."

Baltimore Moles and their mates, who are called Mules, in attendance were Emma and Glenford Dudley, Annabel and Marsden Rawlings, Helena and Alonzo Halraston, Blanche and Paul Beckham, Bernice and Eddie McDaniels, Bea and David Wright and Mole Louise Lockerman and Robert White. Mole Rose Hall and her husband, Robert of Columbia, now members of the Baltimore chapter, were also there.

Speaking of Washingtonians reminds me to mention that Ruth B. Shelton and Sherman M. Jackson of that town were married a Monday ago. Both are retired government employees.

Her sister, Otyce Froe of Baltimore, stood with her, and his brother, Newt Jackson, was best man.

Weekend Calendar

On the weekend calendar: On Saturday, April 29, beginning at 10 p.m., members of the auxiliary of the National Alliance of Postal and Federal Employees entertain at a post-Easter Ball, La Fountaine Rouge out Belair Road. There will be over 500 Pinochle Bugs and their male counterparts, called Pests this weekend at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. Today, members began arriving in town for what the host chapter is calling a "Charm City Weekend."

Town and Country Club members and guests will have cocktails on Sunday afternoon, 2 p.m., April 30 at the Belvedere. Queenie Lane is president.

URBAN LEAGUE EXECUS — Travis Vaughn, executive director of the Baltimore Urban League, is shown chatting with Donald H. McGannon, Chairman of the Board of the National Urban League, Inc. and Chairman of the Board and president of Group W (Westinghouse Broadcasting). Mr. McGannon was guest speaker at the 53rd Annual Dinner Meeting of the Baltimore Urban League last Sunday evening at the downtown Baltimore Hilton Hotel.

Also on Sunday at 4 p.m. at the International YWCA, 128 W. Franklin St., room 208, there'll be a Mother's Day shopping tour. There'll be a variety of crystal, French cookery, plants and jewelry to select from, plus door prizes.

We had a chance to talk with three of the town's black female lawyers — beautiful and brilliant! They were former assistant U.S. attorney Virginia Draper, who is now in private practice; M. Bernadine Myles, on staff with Charles Josey and the Baltimore City solicitor's office and Eileen Carpenter, who's associated with the William Murphy firm.

We saw the threesome Tuesday on Morgan's campus where they had just completed a radio taping.

Informed us of Law Day, Monday, May 1 and told us of the joys and sorrows of the legal profession, especially as it pertains to black women, i.e. acceptance-rejection in the legal profession, limited job market for black females in white firms and alternatives to the traditional legal positions.

Business is open!

A call this week from a good friend reported that George Taylor, the gifted florist, is back in business! His new shop, called Arts and Flowers, is located at 107 Park Ave. and features his one-of-a-kind floral arrangements as well as works by local artisans.

There will be an open house at Arts and Flowers, May 7 from 4 to 8 p.m. Drop in!

Mending at home: Marion Patterson is out of University Hospital and is doing well after major surgery. Also progress at home are Dr. Cyril Kelly and Charlotte Jackson.

Looking trim (down 6 pounds) after a three-week stint in the hospital and at home, is David Sloan, the attorney.

Have a marvelous week!

Catonsville Notes

By Liz Williams

The Golden Age Club of Catonsville has lost two of its members within the last several weeks. Mrs. Lattie Smith (Hawthorne St.) and this week Mrs. Marie Johnson (Ernest), whose funeral services were held from Grace AME Church on Monday night. The Hawthorne Smiths and the Ernest Johnsons were among the first active couples in the group which as you know was organized by Mr. Smith. Among its first leaders was Dr. Ernest Johnson, a retired pharmacist.

Mrs. Hattie and Mrs. Marie were working with their husbands to try to increase the membership of the group. The group started with less than 10 members and the membership is now high for our small community.

The Catonsville Community would like to pay tribute to our good friend and neighbor, Marie Louise Day Johnson. Marie was born in Philadelphia, July 30, 1900. She married Ernest Johnson in 1933 at St. Peter Claver Church. She was a graduate of the Derrick Business School. The Johnsons moved to Catonsville from Baltimore in 1949.

"Miss Marie" as she was fondly known to many young people was a dedicated employee, having worked as a rental agent for the Melvin Park Apts. for 20 years. Her cheerfulness and friendliness made her many friends in the community.

Marie was a member of Grace AME Church where she worked with the Stewardess Board No. 2. Throughout the years, she was a devoted mother to her daughter Diane and a devoted wife to her husband, Ernest. This pretty little lady will be greatly missed by her family and friends and especially by the members of the Golden Age Club.

We sure will miss her good cakes and her willingness to pitch in whenever she was needed, I forgot to tell you that she had also been a volunteer worker at Provident Hospital for many years. I remember often seeing her flitting around the hospital as a volunteer, even before I knew her.

Her husband, Ernest, said to me at the wake, "She looks as beautiful tonight, as she did when I was courting her."

One of the ladies in the Golden Age Club said to me — "Isn't that a beautiful way to remember her."

One who will miss Marie Johnson will be Esther W. Nixon (Warren). Esther's mother and Marie Johnson were just like sisters and naturally, Esther became her non-blood niece. This happens in many families. Our daughter has many non-blood aunts and uncles. But this is the way we were brought up. Our close friends have been like relatives to us. You do not want your children to call them Mr., Mrs. or Miss, so they end up being their "Aunt" or "Uncle." It does sound old fashioned but it certainly brings about a close lifelong friends - family relationship.

The Annual Women's Day, which was held at Grace Church on April 23, was a great success. Mrs. Hazel Boston, the wife of the pastor, the Rev. Reginald Boston, was the general chairperson and Mrs. Roberta McKinney was the chairperson. Many others were on the committee but space does not allow me to print it.

I received a letter from Sylvia Morris, telling that the Willing Workers will present a musical program to benefit the sick and shut - ins, on Sunday, April 30 at 4 p.m. at Grace AME Church.

Funeral services were held during the week for Charles (Lugger) Smith, a native of Catonsville and the son of Mary Harris. He was a neighbor of our good friend, the late Addison Joyce. Charles was known for his kindness and helpfulness, especially to the aged and the sick. He was known as "Lugger" to the people who knew him well and loved him.

Continue to remember the sick, the aged and the shut - ins. Have a good week and try to have a smile for everone whom you meet.

NAACP baby contest nets $11,101.42

Once again the annual NAACP Fund Raising Baby Contest, under the leadership of Mrs. Lorena L. Branch, chairperson, climaxed on April 16, at Douglas Memorial Community Church, Madison and Lafayette Avenues. The Rev. Marion C. Bascom, pastor.

The contest netted $11,101.42 this year.

Mrs. Branch contends that the success of April 16 Human Dolls on Parade for Freedom was challenging and was made a reality due to the excellent support and cooperation given by the working committee. Committee members were Mrs. Jessie Mitchell, Mrs. Ernestine Smith, Miss Pattie E. Holloway, the Rev. Mrs. Minnie B. Roberson, Mrs. Leola O'Neal, Mrs. Eva Sapp and Mrs. Eliza Coslin.

The contest was divided into two categories, Group Sponsored and Individually Sponsored, with prizes of equal denominations to the winners in each category.

Baltimorean to attend social workers' confab

Baltimoreans are scheduled to play a major role in the 10th Annual Conference of the National Association of Black Social Workers in San Francisco May 2 - 6.

More than 8,000 social workers, related professionals and other concerned blacks from 180 chapters throughout the United States are expected to attend.

Ms. Rosetta Jolley, president of the Baltimore chapter, NABSW, noted that the number of Baltimore - based participants in the conference program reflects the chapter's strong presence and involvement in the Baltimore community. (Baltimore hosted the national conference in 1976, bringing more than 7,000 delegates to the city).

Featured speakers include, Congressman Parren J. Mitchell (D. 7th - Md.) chairperson of the Congressional Black Caucus, who will deliver the keynote speech for the Friday, May 5, closing plenary session. Dr. Andrew Billingsley, president, Morgan State University, will keynote the opening plenary session on Tuesday, May 2.

Baltimoreans who will conduct workshops include, Delegate Walter R. Dean, Jr., who will lead a discussion on, "The Great Myths of Politics"; Delegate Kenneth Webster, "Black Elected Officials — Lions With Lamb's Tendencies";

Also, Ms. Ernestine Jones, MSW, assistant director of the Baltimore Department of Social Services, "The Black Executive — An Institutionally - Arranged Phenomenon"; Ms. Marion Graham, professional social workers, "Battered Women"; Ms. Margaret A. Reid, Morgan State University Instructor, "The Social Implications of Our Language."

Theme of the conference will be "Silhouettes of Past Promises, Definitions of Future Faces." Ms Jolley said the program and more than 40 workshops "will focus our attention on promises of 1968 and the present and future realities of 1978."

NABSW was founded in San Francisco in 1968, as part of a protest against the failure of conventional institutions and social welfare agencies to meet the needs of black people.

Mrs. Jolley said the annual conference has become a major forum on the quality of life for black Americans from a problem - solving perspective. She urged interested persons to attend.

"Anyone who has to deal with people with problems should benefit from participation in the conference — it's not just for social workers," she stated. Information on the conference may be obtained by calling Ms. Jolley at 664 - 6824.

Travel arrangements, including a plane chartered by the Baltimore and Washington, D.C. chapters, NABSW, are being handled by the Aristocrat Travel Service, 3330 Guilford Ave. in Baltimore, 664-7500.

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

The one appliance I really miss when I visit my son and his family in California is my automatic dishwasher.

DOVE PUTS MUSCLE IN YOUR DISHWATER

Fortunately, the younger Kaisers use DOVE LIQUID for washing dishes by hand. I actually found myself enjoying what usually seems to be a tedious job, thanks to this dishwashing detergent.

DOVE LIQUID's formula puts muscle in your dishwater. It contains a powerful grease cutter.

DOVE LIQUID really went to work for me during my visit. It cleaned the broiler with ease after we finished broiling some steaks for dinner, cutting through the grease with little difficulty.

It also made all the other dinner dishes, glassware and silverware sparkling clean. DOVE helped clean and cut all the grease off them, too.

The other thing I like about DOVE LIQUID is its fragrance, which smells so nice. Also, the long-lasting suds. These features make washing dishes by hand a more pleasant task. And DOVE is still kind to your hands.

It has been years since I had a baby, so the nicest way I could help my daughter-in-law Carolyn around the house was to wash the dishes. I am thankful they use DOVE LIQUID. It made it a lot easier for me.

LIFEBUOY KEEPS THE CLEAN SMELL GOIN'

Whenever we visit San Diego it is just like being at home. Sure enough, as soon as I went into the bathroom, I noticed several bars of LIFEBUOY soap.

It was good to see that Rickey's longtime habit of showering with LIFEBUOY has not changed.

Just like the rest of the Kaisers, Rickey likes LIFEBUOY because of its effective deodorant protection. It washes away sweat and odor, but at the same time it helps keep the clean smell goin' all day.

In his position as an assistant supervisor in the "Cadillac of hamburger" chains, Rickey is on the go all the time. So it's really important to him that once he has showered, all the odors from his working day are removed from his body.

I was really glad to learn that he was still aware of the importance of effective deodorant protection all day long.

Using LIFEBUOY soap was a habit he picked up from his dad as a young man, and he hasn't lost that special feeling for having LIFEBUOY to help keep his body smelling clean.

Carolyn is an excellent money manager and she takes advantage of all "cents off" sales, which includes buying LIFEBUOY when her supply at home runs out.

She really keeps the clean smell goin' all the time.

"CLOSE-UP OFFERS TWO-FOR-ONE BENEFIT

On my way out to San Diego, I attended the "Men's Wear Fashions for Summer" show in Las Vegas. My decision to go was made at the last minute, so I had to pack hurriedly.

In my haste I forgot my toothbrush and toothpaste. So immediately upon arriving, I went out to purchase a tube of CLOSE-UP toothpaste.

CLOSE-UP helped whiten my teeth and, at the same time, provided a mouthwash that made my breath smell nice and fresh as I viewed the fashions all day.

Instead of gambling, I put my money where my mouth was—well invested in a tube of CLOSE-UP toothpaste.

This super-whitening toothpaste and mouthwash in one offers consumers a real two-for-one benefit. It's certainly one sure way of putting your money where your mouth is.

You can always count on CLOSE-UP toothpaste to perform. Besides helping to provide you with white teeth and fresh breath, it gives you the assurance of looking and feeling fashionable, which is so important in "close-up" situations.

So do as I do. Use CLOSE-UP.

'all' GETS THE WHOLE WASH CLEAN

It was really good to renew friendships with the fashion editors, some of whom I've known since 1957. Then, on the last day of the show, off to San Diego I went.

My granddaughter Richlynn did not remember me. I couldn't get over how much she had grown since the last time I saw her.

Although my visit was a short one, there was still a lot of family laundry to take care of while I was there. CONCENTRATED "all" is Carolyn's favorite laundry detergent, which maintains another Kaiser tradition.

"all" is just what she needs to remove the difficult and stubborn stains that 13-month-old Richlynn gets on her clothes while feeding herself.

In fact, CONCENTRATED "all" gets the whole family wash clean because it also gets out the oil and grease spots and stains from Rickey's clothes.

Carolyn knows that CONCENTRATED "all" is effective in all water temperatures. She thinks it's the best detergent for just about everything you wash.

CONCENTRATED "all" concentrates on cleaning. That's all she needs.

On Saturday, May 6, Orval Bunton, Office of Research and Statistics, SSA, will fly to Denver, Colo. via Detroit and Chicago to accept a promotion to a GS - 14 Systems Branch Chief on the staff of the Denver Regional Commissioner.

Orval came to Baltimore in 1965 to work as a computer programmer in SSA. He previously worked in a Social Security District office in Detroit, Mich. In 1972, he was selected as a staff development associate.

In his new position, he will supervise a staff of approximately 12 professionals and clericals. He will also be responsible for all SSA computer operations in the Denver Region.

Orval's co - workers are planning a luncheon in his honor on Friday, May 5.

Congratulations to Mrs. Rosalie Wiggins, Senior Control Clerk in the Bureau of Disability Insurance. She recently received a cash award for outstanding work performance. This is the second award Rosalie has received since she started work at Social Security in 1970.

In 1974, she received a high quality increase in pay for outstanding work. Rosalie is the mother of two teenage daughters, Doreen, age 15 and Constance, age 13. The family attends Simmons Memorial Baptist Church.

This week we were happy to welcome the energetic Mrs. Loretta Watty back to work. Mrs. Watty suffered a fall on the ice this past winter and is still depending on a set of crutches to help her move around.

One of our favorite ministers, the Rev. Mrs. Minnie B. Robinson will be the 11 a.m. Mother's Day speaker at Southern Baptist Church on Sunday, May 14. Rev. Robinson is an associate minister at Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church.

Since the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission was recently designated as the agency responsible for the enforcement of fair employment opportunities in all federal agencies, we were pleased this past Saturday evening to hear Commissioner Eleanor Holmes Norton's positive response to our questions regarding EEOC's active participation in the monitoring of federal affirmative action plans.

The dynamic Mrs. Norton who was nominated by President Jimmy Carter in June of last year, assured us that the whole EO process would soon go through a noticeable change.

Persons working in the area of Equal Opportunity are looking to EEOC under the guidance of Ms. Norton to develop accountability guidelines to deal with agencies and - or agency representatives not in compliance with Federal Equal Employment Opportunity laws.

Ms. Norton was the keynote speaker at the State NAACP's Celebrity Ball held at the downtown Hilton Hotel last Saturday evening.
