Mrs. Ruth Kirk community leader paid tribute

Mrs. Ruth Kirk, chairperson of the East - West Advisory Council of the Urban Services Agency (USA) was queen for a night. More than 200 persons braved the sub - freezing temperature and gathered at the beautifully decorated Greater Model Community Recreation Center on West Saratoga Street.

The setting was befitting such an occasion for Cleveland Brister, director of USA Teen Centers who served as master of ceremonies, remarked, "This beautiful building is a shining example of commitment and dedication."

The tear - stained community leader was stunning in her white, chiffon and lace floor length cost dress, as she was escorted to the white covered throne perched beneath a series of roses. Her husband, Arthur, Jr. and children Gregory, George, Karen, Aline, Judith and Arthur, III were there to greet her.

The Kirk children and hostesses were attractively attired in red and white, complimenting the decor carried out on both levels of the Center.

The honoree was presented a gift in behalf of the Simmons - Kirk family by her sister, Ardenia Dixon.

Mrs. Ruth Kirk

In addition to Mrs. Dixon, the celebrant's husband and children, other members of the family joining in the celebration included Gladys Robinson, sister; Albert Simms Jr., brother; Albert Simms, Sr., father; Viola Miller, Foster mother and Ronnie Harris of N.C., nephew.

Several original poems were read and presented to Mrs. Kirk. Authors included Ruthe Sye, Greater Model Community Council; Elva J. Edwards, associate director, USA; Shirley Fisher, State Central Committee and Brenda Franklin, a YIEP representative.

Guest speaker who referred to Mrs. Kirk as the "Sweetheart of Baltimore," was Joseph Robinson of Philadelphia, president of the National Participation Council.

Climax of the evening came when Jesse Newsome of Southern Baptist Church, accompanied by Margaret Worthy of First Baptist Church, Field sang, "Take it One Day at a Time" and "May the Works I've Done Speak For Me." Amid the melodic strains of "Give Me My Flowers," Myrtle McCullers, Clarice Pitts and Melvin Smothers, all past chairmen of the advisory Board and Brenda Franklin presented Mrs. Kirk with roses and tulips.

The Rev. Darneal F. Johnson of Wayland Baptist Church gave the benediction.

A delicious dinner prepared by the celebrity's brother, Albert Simms and Barbara Faulkner.

Citations and gifts were presented by Marguerite Campbell of the mayor's office; Walter Orlinsky, president of the City Council; Lenwood Ivey, executive director, USA; Carol Brewer, director USA Center No. 30; Myrtle McCullers; James McCree, Grand Master, Masonic Order; Lester Dashe, deputy director, USA; Toni Buckson, coordinator USA volunteer services, LaVerne Harris, director of Poppleton Urban Renewal, Inc; Wendell Wright, chief, Neighborhood Services, USA; Dr. Jerome Williams, governor's office; Donald Faulkner, director of the Center and Del. Larry Young.

Josephine Tunstall, a member of the committee for the affair, presented a cash gift on behalf of the committee and friends.

Greetings were extended by Councilman Michael Mitchell; Clarence Mitchell and Kent Chapman, a USA counselor.

Spotted in the audience were Dr. John Maulpin, Commissioner of the USA, Gwendolyn Johnson; Alice Jude and Yolandal Fields, members of the Advisory Council; Atty Elijah J. Cummings; Betty Brinkley, Alvin Steele, Ken Waters, Jerry Bullock, USA counselors and Peggy Peacock, neighborhood development assistant, USA.

In addition to the aforementioned Del. Young, Mrs. McCullers, Mr. Brister, Mrs. Tunstall and Mrs. Pitts, committee members included Walter Stevenson, Mildred Bright, Williams Lewis, Susie Adams, Olive Bugarin, Elaine Bowen, Ora Walthers, William McCoukley and Lee Douglass, Jr.

Elmira Harris, the charming and dynamic mistress of ceremonies, captured the mood of the evening when she read the poem, "Anyway."

"People are unreasonable, illogical and self - centered. Love them anyway. If you do good, people will accuse you of selfish ulterior motives. Do good anyway.

"If you are successful you win false friends and true enemies. Succeed anyway. The good you do today will be forgotten tomorrow. Do good anyway.

"People favoriunderdogs buttfollow only top dogs. Fight some underdoogs anyway. What you spend years building may be destroyed overnight. Build anyway.

"People really need help but may attack you if you help them. Help people anyway. Give the world the best you have and you'll get kicked in the teeth. Give the world the best you've got anyway."

producer, New York.

Mrs. Ross will enter the District of Columbia with eight years of pageant experience. In 1973, she had a national winner, Miss Edna Hill of Columbia. In addition to being Maryland Director and producer, in 1974 she directed the Miss Black International Beauty Pageant, 1975 (Miss N.A.T.R.A.) National Association of Radio and Television Artists Pageant, and 1976 the Miss Urban Service Pageant.

Mrs. Ross explained that the Miss Talented Teen Maryland and D.C. pageants have high goals and standards for its contestants. They include: to create in the talented teenagers a conscious awareness of their individual and collective beauty and talent; to increase self - confidence in the individual appearance, poise, character and personality.

Interested teens must have a C plus average, and must be able to sing, dance, do a dramatic reading, act, be proficient with a musical instrument, or be a magician or acrobat. The Maryland state and Washington, D.C. winner will compete on the national level in Hollywood, California, July 14 - 21.

You may call 730 - 8679 or write to the headquarters at 10829 Green Mountain Circle, Columbia, Md., 21044.

Deadline for entry is March 31.

Miss Wilder, Mr. McClain

In recent wedding services, at the New Jerusalem FBH Church Soraya Wilder was united in marriage with Douglas McClain.

The reception honoring the couple was held in the church reception hall.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Wilder while the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edith McClain.

The couple honeymooned in Albany, Ga.

Woodlawn Highlights

More than 100 co-workers, friends and former co-workers of Mrs. Mildred "Millie" Smith, recently helped make her reirement dinner a very memorable occasion.

"I have enjoyed great satisfaction during the 32 years I have spent working with a system that has grown and helped so many people." These are Millie's parting remarks as she said farewell to her friends and joined the rapidly growing group of young government retirees.

She began her career in the Statistical Services Branch at SSA and later worked as a tabulator operator in the American Meter Building on Holiday and Saratoga Streets. At the time of her retirement, she was working in the Disability Sensitive Inquiries Division located in the Dickinson Building, Woodlawn.

Several former employees of the Social Security Administration attended the dinner held at Meadow's Hilltop Inn. Vincent Rini, retired chief of the Inquiries Division along with several current and former supervisors of Millie, gave remarks during the program.

Included on the special dinner guests list were: Robert Smith, Millie's husband, her son Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Evans from Delaware, Judge and Mrs. Theodore Hayes, Cina Francisco, Mrs. Sarah Smith, and Earl O'Hara, guest soloist.

In addition to numerous individual gifts from friends, the committee presented a cookie jar full of money and a birthstone necklace with matching earrings to the honoree.

Like most recent retirees, Mrs. Smith hopes to involve herself in some meaningful volunteer work.

Committee members who arranged the special tribute to Mrs. Smith were: Ms. Barbara Larrimore, Frank Pondolfino, Mrs. Edna Simmons, Mrs. Dorothy Cascio, Mrs. Betty Powell, Ms. Helena Lovelace and Mrs. Dorothy Goldstein.

It's always nice to hear about the things people do after they retire. Mr. and Mrs. Linzie Hopkins (Helen) braved the misgivings of family and friends and built a new home on five acres of family owned land in Grasonville, Md. Mrs. Hopkins retired from Social Security in 1975. Mr. Hopkins is a General Services Administration retiree. Their daughter, Jaunice Williams is currently employed as a supervisor at the Social Security Administration.

The family worships at St. Paul Baptist Church. The Rev. George A. Crawley is the pastor.
