Noted that a sign proclaiming "Wings and Things," had a small raise in price, $1.85, and the chief cook is known simply as "Bunchie." Just had to find out her real name, which turned out to be Gertrude Beadler.

Headed for home following this, making a quick stop in Rasaan's bar. Realized that daytime barmaids don't get too much play in nightclub columns so intended to do a little piece about Denise, who works days there, and Wednesday nights.

Can't — she huffily, emphatically refused to have her picture in the paper — wouldn't even give me her full name.

So be it.

Mostly for Music:

Left Bank Jazz Society — Herb Ellis is the featured attraction this Sunday. He'll be bringing in a quartet, the personnel of which is not firm at press time.

Herb's last appearance for LBJS was with Barney Kessel, with whom he made a national tour. This is mainstream guitar playing at its finest, which shows was guitars were about prior to the electronics boom.

Sportsman's Lounge — presents once again, Mickey Fields, Johnny Polite, Sonny Fowlkes, and Lady Rebecca for the Weekend sessions. The Saturday afternoon 3-7 p.m. jazz st. will have Marvin Cabell leading a group.

S.S.b.b.D: Social Club — The Eastside's newest jazz spot, is presenting the Ronnie Dawson quartet, which includes Ronnie on drums, Mickey Fields, tenor sax, Jimmy Wells, vibes, and Bill Nelson, bass.

The clubs is in the 1100 block of Rutland St., and surprisingly has an enormous room for music. The patrons seemed a bit amazed when we dropped in last week. Amazed that they could enjoy just sitting — sipping — and listening to some good sounds, without disceing.

'Tis a welceme and refreshing addition to the music scene, and hopefully, it'll be around for a while. It'll happens on Thursday nights.

The Closet is presenting the Jimmy Wells trio Friday through Sunday, with Jimmy on vibes, Hugh Walker, drums, and Bill Nelson, bass. And, for the following two weeks ends, March 16-18, and March 23-25, Mare Cohen and Friends will be on the podium.

The group will include Mare on acoustic piano, Dave Wundrow, bass, and Hugh Walker, drums.

The Bandstand over in Fells Pt., will have the Ray Bryant trio in residence through Sunday night. In addition to Pianist Bryant, there will be Steve Newsel, bass, and Dude Brown on drums.

Ray is no stranger to Baltimore, having played for LBJS many times. But this will be the first setting in an intimate club in town for him. Note that this is upholding the tradition of the Bandstand & name talent.
