The prices are the same but the big difference is some quality.

Anyone can produce a product of lower quality and offer it at a lower price. No-Name Generic Brand products admittedly offer you lower quality at so-called "economy prices". But are No-Name Generic Brands really economical? Are they your best value? Don't be fooled, it's not the plain packages or cans that cost less, its simply the quality of the product that goes in them that cost less.
At Acme/Super Saver Markets, we know cutting quality just to give you a lower price is not the way to give you better value. That is why Acme has priced many of its own quality brands at No-Name Generic Brand prices.
Look for shelf signs for dependable Acme Brand quality products at Generic Brand prices.
